

BARGAINS

HIGH'S

BARGAINS

HUSBANDS, SEE THAT YOUR WIVES READ THIS PAGE!

WIVES, PROFIT BY THE OPPORTUNITY OFFERED YOU!

J. M. HIGH & CO.

OFFER FOR THIS WEEK

BARGAINS WHICH ARE UNSURPASSED AND UNSURPASSABLE!

Bargains of Genuine Merit. Bargains in Goods of Every Day Use. Bargains of Practical Necessity. Bargains of Absolute Merit and Commercial Value, THE DISCOUNTS WE OFFER ON FORMER PRICES ARE POSITIVELY PHENOMENAL.

On tomorrow morning there will be a "Marked Reduction"

in our woolen Dress Goods stock that will guarantee us rapid sales of the goods offered. They are all seasonable goods, and are offered at these "Terribly Low Prices" simply to reduce stock.

48 inch Henriettas that were $1, now 73c.
46 inch Henriettas that were 85c, now 65c.
40 inch Henriettas that were 65c, now 48c.
46 inch Serges that were 85c, now 63c.
40 inch Serges that were 65c, now 48c.
42 inch Mohairs that were 75c, now 49c.

"60 French Novelty suits left. Your own price, if at all reasonable, will be accepted."

Handsome line of plaid and striped Dress Fabrics, lately received. The stock is too large for this now advanced season. We intend to reduce the stock by lowering the price. Plaids that all season have sold for 60 and 65c, will be offered tomorrow at 42c. Similar reductions in the higher priced fabrics.

Magnificent assortment of French all wool Challies. Handsomest patterns ever shown, reduced to 54c. Goods have been re-tailing all season at 65 to 75c yard.

Extraordinary.

37 pieces China Silks opened on yesterday, in light and dark and black grounds, with lovely bright figures. The handsomest collection we have shown this season. Confined styles. Latest effects.

$1 IS OUR SPECIAL PRICE. $1 To Close Monday.

100 pieces colored Drapery Silks, 33 inches wide, in beautiful patterns. We offer these silks at 75c, while the prices range usually at $1 to $1.50.

A Big Drive.

1,000 yards colored Surah Silks at 32c, sold everywhere at 60c.

Special. Special. Special.

In Drapery Nets
We are doing the trade of any three houses in Atlanta. Styles newest, designs most lovely, added to prices most interesting has made this department a grand success from the beginning of the season.

We cater to the popular purse of an intelligent public, and bespeak for this line of our silk department continued, and meritorious success.

100 pieces Black Drapery Nets in-stock, all fresh from the metropolis of trade and cheaper by 25 per cent than elsewhere.

25 pieces Black Drapery Nets, ranging in price from 95c to $2.85 per yard, which we offer as this week's drive, fully 50 per cent cheaper than importers' spring prices.

WE ARE THE LEADERS IN DRAPERY NETS.

A Black Silk Sacrifice.

213 Dress Lengths of elegant black silks will be on sale tomorrow. Such an exposition of foreign makes and styles has never been shown south. The entire line of importers' samples bought at one-half cost and sold accordingly.

213 Black Silk Dresses

Containing from 15 1/2 to 19 1/4 yards. These Silks are cuts from the most celebrated brands of the world. Every yard warranted to wear and guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction.

On Center Tables

We place these black silk suits, and solicit a most critical examination by those "who know a good thing when they see it."

BLACK AND MOURNING GOODS.

We make a specialty of this line of goods and our stock is known to be superior to that of any house in the state. Nothing but the most reliable brands, such as Priestley's Lupin's and Wyson's are admitted in this department and if a lady buys a dress from us she knows it will be found just as represented, and from 15 to 35 per cent cheaper than in any other house the city. The best lot of bargains and some special jobs on hand for this week.

Notice our prices. "Honor to whom honor belongs." Priestley's head the list.

75c for Priestley's Tamise 40-inch wide, light weight and worth $1.
82 1/2c for Priestley's silk warp Convent Cloth. This is a lovely fabric and cannot be duplicated under $1.25.

98c for Priestley's silk warp Clairette, nothing nicer for a cool summer dress. We never sold this number before for less than $1.25, others ask $1.35 for it.

77c for Priestley's hemstitched Veilings, bordered hemstitched Challis and Batistes. This is a big job and there is not a piece in the lot worth less than $1. Some of them are cheap for $1.25.

Priestley's celebrated silk warp Henriettas. The grandest line of these goods ever shown south. Everything from 85c to $3 a yard, and all of them 20 per cent cheaper than others will ask you.

Two specials this week. $1.25 for Priestley's silk warp Henrietta, regular $1.75 number.

$1.57 for Priestley's silk warp Henrietta, regular $2.25 number. These two prices will only hold good for this week.

60c. Here is the grandest value Atlanta has ever seen. 25 pieces Challies, Batistes and Tamises, elegant goods, worth from 85c to $1 a yard. We close the lot at the uniform price of 60c yard.

75c for a 50-inch Mohair Brilliantine, beautiful silk finish, best black, and worth $1.15.

55c will buy a fine Surah Twill, pure wool; same goods sold elsewhere for 70c.

65c for a 48-inch Foulle Cloth, double twill, worth 85c of anybody's money.

98c. The 48-inch silk finished Henrietta, considered by judges of fine black goods to be worth $1.35, is still to go at 98c.

$1.25. Everybody who has ever seen this superb silk finished Henrietta says: "Oh! it's the prettiest I ever saw." We will make it not only the prettiest, but also the cheapest. The fabric is 48-inch wide and worth $1.75. We have the inside on black goods. To go one more week for $1.25.

75c to $2.50. A full line of bordered Veilings for dresses, and Veils in all wool and silk warp, all numbers, from 75c to $2.50.

If you want to see how people appreciate a good thing, step into High's Monday morning about 10

a. m. It is a sight worth seeing, and you will not regret the visit.

Wash Dress Goods:

Complete and varied assortment of all the season's requirements at bottom prices.

200 pieces choice Dress Gingham and Chambrays at 7 1/2c yard; considered good value at 10c.
2 cases new plaid and striped Gingham, finest American makes, called cheap everywhere at 12 1/2c, to go at 10c yard.

50 pieces French Zephyr Gingham, paired stripes and plaids, to be sold at 12 1/2c yard; worth 20c yd.

Complete assortment of all the novelty French Gingham and Zephyrs, at High's popular prices.

French Satines.

50 pieces finest French Satines, made by Koechlin, Frerer & Schenker, Rott & Cie, taken from our shelves Saturday at 35c yard; to go this week, your choice at 75c yd.

American Satines.

150 pieces finest American Satines at 10c yard; choice patterns, sold elsewhere at 15c yard, and by the closest competition at 12 1/2c yd.

India Pongees.

The new and popular light weight Dress Fabric, 200 pieces, choice designs at 12 1/2c yard. We advertised this same goods last week at 20c yard. This price will close the lot the first three days of this week.

5,000 yards India printed Challis, light and dark colors, at 4 1/2c yard, worth 10c.

2 cases Pontial Gingham, stripes and plaids, to go at 5c yard. Same goods are sold all over Atlanta at 8 1/2c.

White Goods.

200 pieces extra checked Nainsook, worth 7 1/2c, at 5c yard.

5,000 yards India Linen, as sold all over Atlanta at 7 1/2c yard, for only 3 1/2c yard.

50 pieces sheer plaid Lawns, lovely goods, and worth 15c yard anywhere, this week's price at High's 8 1/2c yard.

The very best goods ever offered in America at 10c yard. Large and small plaids, stripes and checks.

160 pieces 42-inch India Linen at 12 1/2c yard, worth 20c.

Closing sale of Linen Lawns. 40 pieces, worth 20c, to go at 12 1/2c yard.

Colored Piques, lovely goods and elegant quality, only 15c yard.

Embroideries.
The past week's business has thoroughly tested the strength of this department and demonstrated its superiority over any and all competition.

Better values for this week than ever before.

For bargain counters we have selected a line which we will place on sale at 10c yard, worth all the way from 10c to 35c yard.

Don't fail to see these—on third counter from main entrance.

45 and 60-inch Skirtings at the uniform price of $1.25 yard.

We place on sale a lot of Skirtings that would bring $2 to $2.50 in any market in this country.

Specials in Embroideries for every day the coming week. Come to see them.

White Spreads at 99c.
Full 11-4 extra heavy and close texture, fully up to the standard of the best $1.25 Spreads in the market. Only two cases to be sold at the price.

Linens.

We have the most complete line of Linens to be found in the south, comprising everything that could be sought for. If interested see us on Table Linens.

Silk Gloves.

50 doz. pairs in colors, only 5c pair.
Elegant silk Mitts at 25c pair.
Better silk Mitts at 50c pair.
Silk Mitts and Gloves, all styles at lowest prices.

CHINA SILKS.

Don't fail to see our new lot of figured Chinas. 40 pieces to be opened Monday. Patterns never seen in Atlanta before. Uniform price $1 yard.

Men's Furnishings.

We can supply your every want in this department. The simplest to the most fastidious tastes considered in every detail.

100 dozen Shirts, made of New York mills cotton, 2100 linen bosoms and bands, patent facings and stays, reinforced back and front, 50c each, worth 75c.

"High's Puritan"—Unquestionably the finest Shirt ever sold in America for 73c; fully equal to any $1 Shirt on the market. See it. Compare it.

Boys' undauntdried Shirts, extra values, at 25c each.

50 dozen Men's Pepperell Jeans

Drawers, at 25c pair.

25 dozen Men's outing Flannel

Shirts, at 49c each.

Complete line of outing Flannel

Shirts for Men and Boys, also flannel waists of all grades, latest styles at lowest prices.

2,000 dozen Men's Collars, all styles, 4-ply linen, at 9c each. They have been imitated, but never matched.

100 dozen Men's fine silk Teck

Scarfs and Four-in-Hand, latest shapes and styles, 25c each. Just as good a scarf as sold by clothiers

at 50c each.

Elegant line of fine Scarfs in a perfect selection of styles, at lowest prices.

Windsor Ties in latest styles, worth 50c, at 25c each.

Special lot Windsor Ties, nice styles, at 5c each.

Ladies' Summer Vests.

Ribbed Silk, all colors, low neck and sleeveless, at 50c each.

200 dozen ladies' Ribbed Vests, low neck, sleeveless, at 9c each.

100 dozen same style, finer goods,

at 15c each.

2 cases extra fine Swiss Ribbed

Vests, silk draw strings, at 25c each; worth 50c.

Second Floor Bargains.

Our new department has taken the town by storm. Keep your eye on the second floor.

5,000 yards fine Lace Scrim at 5c yard.

200 pairs Lace Curtains, taped borders, at 75c pair.

SPECIAL.

To the north side ladies: The Peachtree cars will on and after Monday morning bring you straight through and stop just in front of J. M. High & Co.'s doors. Take Peachtree cars at your home and come direct to High's.

Parasols.

The leader for Monday. 200 Gloria, Tuxedo mounts, worth $1.50 at 98c each.

Fancy Parasols in unlimited quantities, styles and prices, all shades to match suits, $1.

Children's Parasols, lovely goods, at $1 each.

Umbrellas.

Closing sale of fine Silk Umbrellas, everything included.

Silk Umbrellas that were $5, $6, $7.50 to $10, made of best Puritan Umbria Silks, oxidized, natural, sterling silver and English mounts, to go at one nominal price, $3.75 each. A rare chance.

ANOTHER LOT, including goods worth from $4 to $6, to be closed at $2.50.

Come quick, for they won't last all the week.

200 Gloria Silk, oxidized handle Umbrellas, for this week's sale at $1.25 each, worth $2.

Corsets.

Special bargain counter sale. Remnant lots, odds and ends and broken lines, including the very choicest styles and makes.

Thompson's, Warner's R. & G. and French woven Corsets, worth from $1.35 to $2.50, all to be closed at 75c each.

10,000 yards Seersuckers, worth 10c to 12 1/2c, to be sold at 5c yard. See them.

Keep Your Eye on High's Shoe department. High-class goods, honest workmanship and honest prices tell the story.

High's prices have created a revolution in the shoe business of Atlanta.

Ladies' Strictly Hand-Made Shoes.

Ladies' French dongola hand-turn button boot, worth $3.50, at $2.50.

Ladies' extra fine dongola button boot, patent leather tip, hand sewed, regular price $4.50, will go for ten days at $3.50.

Ladies' French dongola button boot, hand made, common sense heel with opera cheap at $4.50, will go at $3.50.

Ladies' patent leather dress boot, with black undressed kid top, the prettiest shoe in Atlanta, only $5.

Full Line of Paris Shoes.

Made of the finest French kid, and the workmanship is simply superb. No such goods ever offered to the trade of Atlanta. A fit from these goods for ten days for $4.50; cheap at $6.

Ladies' Oxford Ties.

Ladies' dongola Oxfords, patent leather tip, $1.50, worth $2.

Ladies' French dongola Oxfords, any style heel or toe, regular price $2.50, to go at $2.

The finest French kid Oxford tie in Atlanta, sold elsewhere for $3.50, our price $2.50.

If you want Oxford Ties, or, in fact, anything in low shoes or slippers, you can find them in our stock. Save yourself the worry of looking through half a dozen stores before you are suited.

We can suit and fit anybody and everybody.

Gent's Fine Custom Made Shoes.

When we say gent's fine shoes we don't mean that it is the class of stuff usually found in dry goods shoe departments, but instead, we keep the finest line of gent's shoes that can be had in America.

Gent's French Calf Shoes, French calf lined, nothing finer made, for ten days at $6.50. Can't be duplicated for less than $8.

Gent's Kangaroo Congress and Lace Shoes, strictly hand made, guaranteed to be the best Kangaroo, sold everywhere for $7; our price $5.

Our Leader.

Gent's finest American Calf, strictly hand made, every pair warranted, at $4.50; a regular $6 shoe.

The best $3 Gent's Shoe in America, made of genuine calf, warranted solid, and to wear equal to a $5 shoe.

Boys' Shoes.

Our stock of boys' Shoes embraces any kind of shoe wanted for boys, from the solid, stout school shoe to the very best for dress.

Children's Shoes.

Our line of children's Shoes are generally conceded to be the best in Atlanta, and our infants' the prettiest.

The best Misses' School Shoe in Georgia for $1.50.

HOSIERY.

250 dozen ladies' light weight, 40 gauge fast black hose, full regular make, double heel and toes, guaranteed stainless or money refunded, 25c, real value 40c.

175 dozen ladies' medium weight fast black cotton hose, Louis Hermsdorf dye, warranted stainless, 33c.

125 dozen ladies' improved onyx ingrain fast black cotton hose, medium weight, reinforced toe, high spliced heel, wear and color guaranteed, 50c.

100 dozen ladies' onyx died, fast black cotton hose, double heel and toe and spliced sole, real Egyptian yarn. We guarantee them to withstand the effects of repeated washings as well as perspiration, 60c.

110 dozen ladies' improved onyx ingrain black lisle thread hose, plain and Richelieu ribbed, 60c.

Ladies' Royal stainless black silk hose, French ribbed, $1.

Ladies' improved onyx ingrain black silk hose $1.25.

200 dozen misses' plain and ribbed fast black cotton hose, Louis Hermsdorf dye, guaranteed stainless or money refunded, all sizes, 25c.

100 dozen gent's full regular ballbrigan half hose, 15c.

100 dozen gent's onyx dyed fast black half hose, 25c.

100 dozen gent's tans and slates, fine quality half hose 25c, worth 40c.

100 dozen gent's medium weight pin and Roman stripe half hose 25c.

50 dozen gent's black lisle thread half hose, warranted stainless 40c.

50 dozen gent's tans, slates and fast black silk half hose, 50c.

Notions.

Baby's Royal Shoe Dressing, per bottle, 9c. Purse, ladies' double silver clasp, Russian leather, 25c.

Wax head Necklaces, all colors, patent clasp, 10c.

Small lot good quality Skirt Braids to be closed at 3c each.

English Pins, full count, 400 in paper, 3c.

Ladies' Needle Companions, assorted styles and sizes, 5c.

Pearl Buttons, beautiful quality, worth 10c, 5c.

Good Ivory handle Tooth Brushes, all bristles, 7c.

Dolls, bisque heads, kid bodies, only a few left, 25c.

Steel Crochet Needles, all sizes, 2c.

Fast black D

TONSorial ARTISTS.

A TRAVELER'S TALES OF BARBERSHOPS AND PEOPLE IN OTHER PLACES.

Shaved by a Woman—A Hair-Breadth Escape in Calcutta—in a Scrape With a Jap Barber.

"There are many inconveniences endured by travelers and globe-trotters, I suppose," said THE CONSTITUTION reporter as he settled back in his chair and puffed at the cigar "the well-known traveler" had given him.

"On that depends," replied the interviewee, "whether you are what Americans term 'well-fixed.' In the latter case a man may surround himself with all the comforts he has at home and his barber for instance, may be his valet."

"Then you consider a clean shave as one of the necessities of life?"

"It is to a man, who, like myself, has a strong beard and a tender skin—two things, by the way, that generally go together. I assure you that one of the chief discomforts of travel to me is the tonsorial treatment to which I subject myself in my travels. You needn't say 'why don't you let your beard grow,' because I should reply 'I don't like it.' But a man doesn't have to travel in foreign lands only to experience tonsorial wretchedness. Scattered through the length and breadth of this glorious republic are some of the most blood-thirsty barbers to be found in the world."

"I shall never forget my experience with a female tonsorialist. A few years ago I was peddling in the scenic portions of New York state. In the hotel at Bath I met some genial commercial tourists, with whom I soon became very sociable. Drummers, you know, are men who manage to get the best of everything that goes, and the most experienced traveler can get many a 'tipster' from them. Well, this particular coterie told me that, among other objects of interest in that vicinity, there was a 'lady barber' whose establishment was quite near one of the famous glens, and whose attractions vied with those of the much-visited ravine."

"Of course I did not visit her—simply to be shaved by a lady, I am free to confess, that it had something to do with it. The next morning I took a saddle ride of a few miles for H—, As I rode along I found myself speculating on the novelty of being lathered and shaved by a sweet little woman whose tender hands would gracefully rub in the soap on my hirsute epidermis, whose polished steel fly over my alabaster lineaments, and who, perhaps, after the application of the powder puff would end all by imprinting a sisterly kiss on my brow."

"Cheered by such thoughts I rode into the picturesque village and not without a half-suppressed nervous feeling told my equine companion to the fence next door to the one-story frame cottage which bore the legend:

MISS JANE STUBBS,

BARBERESS.

BLOOD-LETTING, TEETH PULLED.

"I couldn't help thinking that term 'blood-letting' sounded ominously in connection with a 'barberess,' but dismissing the suspicion as unchivalrous I entered the shop."

"It was an every-day, ordinary-looking sort of a barber-shop, such as you may see in hundreds of villages in any part of the union. The chair of state was a very common one with a high seat and an inclined back. In fact, the general outlook was by no means prepossessing."

"The room was vacant, but the ringing of the spring bell as I entered brought somebody into an adjoining room, who said: 'Take the chair—' in a minute."

"It was just a sweet voice, no doubt her mother's, for no syph-like creature could have such a harsh nasal twang. So, removing my coat and neck-gear, I perched on the high-backed chair."

"In a minute or two there entered a woman who must have weighed 250, perhaps 300 pounds avoirdupois! She was not only fat, she was as homely as a woman can be. I think I ever saw with a face knobby—I especially remarked a large pimple on one side of her nose, which held a bouquet of hairs, a miniature jardiniere—looking as if a good application of soap and water would do her much good."

"As she tucked a greasy apron around my neck, 'I'm shy,' the syph-like creature added, 'shave or hair-cut?'"

"I replied 'shave,' and resigned myself to my fate, breathing maledictions meanwhile on those drummers who, in the name of the 'blood-letting' was a 'true bill,' and I wore four pieces of diachylon on my face for several days. It only cost ten cents, but considering that it was a surgical operation it would have been cheap at a dollar."

"Did I ever see those drummers again? I'm sorry to say I did. I had determined not to return to Bath, but to send for my baggage and sneak off in another direction. But as I rode up the village street and stopped at the H— house, there on the veranda were my commercial friends. The villager rushed to meet me. One of the spots of blood from my face, another tenderly inquired how 'Miss Jane' was. In the end it cost me $10 to console me. I have no doubt they still tell the story with gusto."

"The reporter tendered his sympathy, and as a prompter, said:

"You've BEEN IN INDIA, I believe?"

"Yes," replied the traveler, "and that reminds me of a hair-breadth 'escape,' or at least a close shave, I had once upon a time in Calcutta."

"You may know that one of the show places in the capital of Hindustan is the old china bazar, a place well worth going to India to see. Here you can see natives of every oriental country, Parsees in their long flowing white robes and queer rimless 'plug hats; fierce looking sikhs in black looking Chinese robes; the little Bengali, of course predominating, but every nation of the east and of the west, too, for that matter, well represented. All day long the narrow lanes and aisles of the bazar are thronged with a bustling, shouting, gesticulating procession, speaking in every language and swearing strange oaths by the names of every deity found in the dictionary."

"But the barber shop? Well, it isn't a barber shop. You see, it is a Hindoo, a chair, a brass basin and a razor. That is all. This combination is the result of course, and will move to any place in any one of the miles of crowded aisles of the bazar to suit customers."

"My companion, one morning on a visit to the old china bazar, was a genial Armenian gentleman, who challenged me to be shaved 'a la Hindu.' It would be a novel experience," he urged, "to talk about and remember as a sunny spot in my reminiscences."

"His arguments prevailed. He was certainly correct about the remembrance. I shall forget a good many things before I forget that shave, 'a la Hindu.' I sat down in the chair and held the brass basin up to my chin. There was no towel and no soap. The Hindu, a tall, turbaned fellow, who labored at me in Bengalee, which I didn't understand, drenched my face and neck with water from a bottle in his pocket. The liquid seemed to cling to my face as if it were fat, and had half as much odor as roses, but it didn't sting. It was a grip before the razor that the been invented, don't you know. I heard afterwards that the barber used a very instrument of torture on the feet of his compatriots, which accounted for his saw-like edge."

"But the dangerousness of the experiment consisted in being shaved in the midst of a pushing, swaying crowd. The whole operation—which included tweaking my nose, making it as sinuous as a towel, and a good deal of prodding, and twisting my ears into odd shapes, and combing my hair, eyebrows and eyelashes the savage offered to clean my teeth and curl them, I suppose, but I wouldn't have it—I say all this cost only twopence, about one and a half cents 'American, but I solemnly assure you I would rather pay five dollars than try a second shave 'a la Hindu.'"

"THE JAPANESE BARBER. If he only had a sharp razor, would be a first-rate artist. He is good enough even with the inch-long Chinese weapon he uses, and I dare say by this time for I haven't been in Japan for several years, he vies with the best American professional."

"The shampooer is a notable operator in Japan. He is blind and goes about the streets with a whistle, which sounds something like that used by the Atlanta letter-carriers. For a few cents this old fellow comes into your room, and for half an hour manipulates your muscles, tendons and joints in the most skillful manner. I assure you it is the most delightful sensation to be experienced by a weary traveler. No, it isn't rubbing. It is kneading. You see you are weary and need him and he kneads you."

"This was too much for THE CONSTITUTION man, and with an unuttered 'good night' he fled."

WILKIE COLLINS.

Olive Logan.

"I met him after he achieved his renown; so long after that his fame might have been said to be on the decline. He had published all his great novels, and was now 'turning out' in rapid succession, stories which almost any of the clever contemporaneous romance spinners of the second class in London could easily have equaled. But Wilkie Collins could have written 'The Romance in White'." Who that is an acknowledged fictionist could not have written 'The Guilty River'?" Yet, as with the partibility of the mother for her plain children, Mr. Collins evidently felt a distinct favoritism for his later books. For instance, he led the conversation away from 'No Name' and 'The Moonstone' to speak fervently of 'The Black Robe'.

"The Catholic clergy are attacking me for it," said he, "but I meant it to be complimentary to them. I respect the Roman Catholic religion and those of its followers who I know."

"I asked him to give me some hints about fiction writing, and the leading points of his advice were as follows: 1. Keep the story moving. 2. Pay great attention to the literary style. 3. Delicately characters as they are traditionally pictured in fiction. 4. Never go back on your tracks in the old-fashioned way, which says, 'we will now return to so and so,' but go on with the story right straight ahead. 5. Don't tell people's back histories, but pick them out from where you meet them, and go on with them from that out, just as we do in life."

"A friend of mine who had read all Wilkie Collins' novels, tells me that he has visited every one of these injunctions, not one, but several times."

SERVES TRUTH AT HIS PEN.

The author of a great reputation is almost always unpopular in his own age. He generally passes his life in disquiet and danger. It is, therefore, for the interest of the human race that the memory of such men should be held in reverence, and that they should be supported against the scorn and hatred of their contemporaries by the hope of leaving a great and imperishable name. To go on the fortune of a single service of peril. Who will undertake it if he is not also a service of honor? It is easy enough, after the ramparts are carried, to find men to plant the flag on the highest tower. The difficulty is to find men who are ready to go first into the breach."

HIS MARKED PERSONALITY.

From the Chicago Times.

"Has your friend a strong individuality?"

"Very, you'd never take him for anybody but himself."

Ask for Dr. Bull's Worm Destroyers. Don't let your druggist sell you some other kind of worm medicine. None other are so safe and yet so sure.

I took Cold, I took Sick. I TOOK

SCOTT'S EMULSION

RESULT: I take My Meals, I take My Rest,

AND I AM VIGOROUS ENOUGH TO TAKE ANYTHING I CAN LAY MY HANDS ON; getting fat too, for Scott's Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda NOT ONLY CURED MY Incurable Consumption BUT BUILT ME UP, AND IS NOW PUTTING FLESH ON MY BONES AT THE RATE OF A POUND A DAY. I TAKE IT JUST AS EASILY AS I DO MILK. SUCH TESTIMONY IS NOTHING NEW. SCOTT'S EMULSION IS DOING WONDERS DAILY. TAKE NO OTHER.

For Sale by Dohls, Wey & Co., Atlanta, Ga.

THE GLORY OF MAN STRENGTH VITALITY!

How Lost! How Regained.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

KNOW THYSELF.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

EXHAUSTED VITALITY UNTOLD MISERIES

Resulting from Folly, Vice, Ignorance, Excess or Overwork, Exhaustion, and suffering the victim of Work, Business, the Married or Single, and Avoiding the GOLD AND JEWELLED MEDALS from the National Medical Association for PRIZE ESSAYS ON NERVOUS AND PHYSICAL DEBILITY. Patients and a copy of Assistant Physician may be consulted, confidentially, by mail or in person, at the office of THE PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, 62 Bulfinch St., Boston, Mass., to whom all orders for books or letters for advice should be directed as above.

July 25—dly sun fri wkyly a m

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LIVER PILLS.

These Pills Cure These Liver Pains. They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Biliousness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER, &c. They regulate the Bowels and prevent Constipation and Piles. The smallest and easiest to take. Only one pill a dose. Purely vegetable. Price 25 cents only.

CARTER MEDICINE CO., PROPY, NEW YORK.

March 21—dly sun tue wkyly a m

This Proves Merit The Druggists Say They Sell More of

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Than of all other Sarsaparillas and Blood Purifiers

For enterprise, reliability, careful attention to business, and honesty, no class of tradesmen in the country stand higher than the Druggists. And from the very nature of their business none are as well able to judge of the value and merit of any medicine for which public patronage may be solicited. They are in constant contact with the public, and hear every word of praise or condemnation which may be uttered regarding medicines. When, therefore, the Druggists, as with one voice pronounce Hood's Sarsaparilla the leading medicine of its kind, it is conclusive, and proves that this preparation does possess

Positive Merit. We take special pride in the "good name at home" which Hood's Sarsaparilla has always enjoyed. In our own city of Lowell there is now and has been for years, many times more of Hood's Sarsaparilla sold than of all other sarsaparillas and blood purifiers combined. We have space to quote but briefly from written statements of

Dr. J. W. Druggist. "We consider Hood's Sarsaparilla one of the best and most reliable medicines. Its sale increases every year and it is wonderfully efficacious as a blood purifier." F. & E. BAILEY & CO.

Sales of Hood's Sarsaparilla. "Sales of Hood's Sarsaparilla continually increase and customers all speak well of it." CARLTON & HOVEY.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla has for years held first place as a blood purifier, and sells more of it than of all others." F. C. GOODALE.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla sells, two to one, ahead of any other." F. P. MOODY.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla is the leading blood purifier, and the leading point of his advice were as follows: 1. Keep the story moving. 2. Pay great attention to the literary style. 3. Delicately characters as they are traditionally pictured in fiction. 4. Never go back on your tracks in the old-fashioned way, which says, 'we will now return to so and so,' but go on with the story right straight ahead. 5. Don't tell people's back histories, but pick them out from where you meet them, and go on with them from that out, just as we do in life."

"Hood's Sarsaparilla is unquestionably the leader." JOSEPH PICKETT.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla is unquestionably the leader." JOSEPH PICKETT.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla is unquestionably the leader." JOSEPH PICKETT.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla is unquestionably the leader." JOSEPH PICKETT.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla is unquestionably the leader." JOSEPH PICKETT.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla is unquestionably the leader." JOSEPH PICKETT.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla is unquestionably the leader." JOSEPH PICKETT.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla is unquestionably the leader." JOSEPH PICKETT.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla is unquestionably the leader." JOSEPH PICKETT.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla is unquestionably the leader." JOSEPH PICKETT.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla is unquestionably the leader." JOSEPH PICKETT.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla is unquestionably the leader." JOSEPH PICKETT.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla is unquestionably the leader." JOSEPH PICKETT.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla is unquestionably the leader." JOSEPH PICKETT.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla is unquestionably the leader." JOSEPH PICKETT.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla is unquestionably the leader." JOSEPH PICKETT.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla is unquestionably the leader." JOSEPH PICKETT.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla is unquestionably the leader." JOSEPH PICKETT.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla is unquestionably the leader." JOSEPH PICKETT.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla is unquestionably the leader." JOSEPH PICKETT.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla is unquestionably the leader." JOSEPH PICKETT.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla is unquestionably the leader." JOSEPH PICKETT.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla is unquestionably the leader." JOSEPH PICKETT.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla is unquestionably the leader." JOSEPH PICKETT.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla is unquestionably the leader." JOSEPH PICKETT.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla is unquestionably the leader." JOSEPH PICKETT.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla is unquestionably the leader." JOSEPH PICKETT.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla is unquestionably the leader." JOSEPH PICKETT.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla is unquestionably the leader." JOSEPH PICKETT.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla is unquestionably the leader." JOSEPH PICKETT.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla is unquestionably the leader." JOSEPH PICKETT.

FROM GEORGIA.

Serofula, Impure Blood.

"Seeing the trunk of a representative of Hood's Sarsaparilla at this hotel, the Central, Atlanta, reminds me that I would like to give my testimony in regard to the merits of Hood's Sarsaparilla for it may concern. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla for some time, and it cured me of all my troubles. I am now well and healthy, and I can recommend it to all who are afflicted with impure blood."

JOHN P. CARTWRIGHT, Augusta, Ga.

Chills and Fever.

"It gives me great pleasure to endorse Hood's Sarsaparilla. For the last year I have been constantly afflicted with chills and fever all the time. I was reduced to a mere skeleton. Two months ago (in July, 1889) I commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. The chills have left me, I have no chills and fever, and have gained thirty pounds in weight. I actually accomplish all that is claimed for it. I will use no other." M. L. WOODS, Funny Louis, Louisiana.

It Sells Itself.

"We are well pleased with Hood's Sarsaparilla. We never have to recommend it, it sells itself. We sell more of Hood's Sarsaparilla than of any other blood purifier together. We hear no complaints from this preparation and people will complain very quickly if goods do not satisfy. It is a pleasure to sell Hood's Sarsaparilla, its best recommendation being in the satisfaction it gives."

STEVENS & CO., Druggists, 83 and 85 Taylor avenue, Tampa Springs, Florida.

Opinions Agree.

"My opinion and the general opinion of my customers, who use Hood's Sarsaparilla, is favorable. My sales of Hood's Sarsaparilla surpass any other, and the medicine is frequently commended by consumers. I never hesitate to order liberally."

WILLIAM WENDELL, Murfreesboro, Tennessee.

All Speak Favorably.

"The sale of Hood's Sarsaparilla is on the increase. I never heard one unfavorable word spoken about it, but, on the contrary, all who have taken it speak of benefit. One man said it was 'sure shot' for the cure of boils."

W. T. MATH, Cross Timbers, Texas.

Refuse to Take Any Other.

"I have kept Hood's Sarsaparilla in stock for some time past, and its sales increase every day. Several of my customers have called for it and refused to take any other." E. E. BURGESS, Drugist, Osceola, Texas.

A Point for You.

If you want a blood purifier or strengthening medicine, you should get the best. Ask for Hood's Sarsaparilla and insist upon using nothing but it. Do not let any argument or persuasion influence you to buy what you do not want. Be sure to get the ideal medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla.

ESTABLISHED IN 1878 BY THE NATIONAL GOVERNMENT.

LOTTERY

OF THE PUBLIC CHARITY.

Grand Monthly Drawings held in the Mexican Pavilion in the Alameda Park, City of Mexico, and publicly conducted by government officials appointed for the purpose by the Secretary of the Interior and the Treasury.

LOTTERY OF THE BENEFICENCIA PUBLICA.

THE NEXT MONTHLY DRAWING will be held in the CITY OF MEXICO, MAY 5, 1890.

Which is the Grand Semi-Annual Extraordinary Drawing, the CAPITAL PRIZE being One Hundred and Twenty Thousand Dollars, $120,000.

PRICE OF TICKETS—American Money. Wholes: $8; Halves $4; Quarters $2; Eighths $1. Club Rates: $20 worth of tickets for $50.

LISE OF PRIZES.

1 Capital Prize of $120,000.....$120,000
1 Capital Prize of 40,000.....40,000
1 Capital Prize of 20,000.....20,000
1 Grand Prize of 5,000.....5,000
2 Prizes of 2,000.....4,000
5 Prizes of 1,000.....5,000
20 Prizes of 500.....10,000
100 Prizes of 200.....20,000
300 Prizes of 100.....30,000
500 Prizes of 40.....20,000

APPROXIMATE PRIZES.
150 Prizes of $120 approximating $18,000
150 Prizes of $100 approximating $15,000
150 Prizes of $80 approximating $12,000
150 Prizes of $60 approximating $9,000
750 Prizes of $40 decided by $120,000 prize.
2,250 Prizes.....Amounting to.....$37,120
All Prizes sold in the United States fully paid in U. S. Currency.

AGENTS WANTED.

For CLUB RATES, or any further information desired, write legibly to the undersigned, clearly stating your residence, with state, county, street and number. More rapid return mail delivery will be assured by your enclosing an envelope bearing your full address.

IMPORTANT.

By ordinary letter, containing MONEY ORDER issued by all Express Companies. New York Exchange, Draft or Postal Note.

SPECIAL FEATURES.

By terms of contract the company must deposit the sum of all prizes included in the scheme before selling a single ticket, and receive the following official permit:

CERTIFICATE—I hereby certify that the Bank of London and Mexico has on deposit the necessary funds to guarantee the payment of all prizes awarded by the Loteria de la Beneficencia Publica.

Further, the company is required to distribute fifty-six per cent of the value of all the tickets in prizes, a larger portion than is given by any other lottery.

Finally, the number of tickets is limited to 80,000, 200,000 less than are sold by other lotteries using the same scheme.

For full particulars, apply to the undersigned, or to any of the agents named below.

General Agent, R. A. WILLIAMS, 33 Wall St., New York.

General Agent, R. A. WILLIAMS, 33 Wall St., New York.

RAILROAD TIME TABLE

Showing Arrivals and Departures of All Trains from This City—Central Time.

CENTRAL RAILROAD OF GEORGIA.

ARRIVE. DEPART.

No. 3, from Savannah, 7:00 am. No. 2, to Savannah, 7:00 am.

No. 11, from Savannah, 8:00 am. No. 10, to Savannah, 8:00 am.

No. 13, from Savannah, 1:50 pm. No. 12, to Savannah, 1:50 pm.

No. 14, from Savannah, 5:40 pm. No. 13, to Savannah, 5:40 pm.

No. 15, from Savannah, 10:10 pm. No. 14, to Savannah, 10:10 pm.

WESTERN AND ATLANTIC RAILROAD.

From Chattanooga, 6:30 am. To Chattanooga, 7:00 am.

From Marietta, 8:30 am. To Marietta, 11:30 am.

From Rome, 11:30 am. To Rome, 1:30 pm.

From Chattanooga, 1:45 pm. To Chattanooga, 3:45 pm.

From Marietta, 2:45 pm. To Marietta, 4:45 pm.

From Chattanooga, 4:45 pm. To Chattanooga, 6:45 pm.

From Marietta, 10:30 am. To Marietta, 1:30 pm.

ATLANTA AND WEST-POINT RAILROAD.

From Montgomery, 6:00 am. To Montgomery, 6:30 am.

From West-Point, 10:30 am. To West-Point, 11:00 am.

CHAMBERLIN, JOHNSON & CO.

CARPETS AND FURNITURE.

The city of Atlanta now contains one of the choicest stocks of furniture ever shown south of New York. Added to this, is the advantage of every piece so arranged that a customer can easily see and select, finding the goods not only new but in perfect order. We pay special attention to the following class of goods:

OFFICE FURNITURE.

This is a complete business with us. Our stock represents the best modern office furniture. Embodying a complete assortment in woods, sizes and styles.

UPHOLSTERED FURNITURE.

Reproductions of old French, English and Italian pieces will be on exhibition. We shall also exhibit in Parlor furniture many specialties of this house, exclusively. Styles of Louis Quatorze, Louis Seize and Louis XV; designs after Chippendale, Sheraton, Stockbridge and Richwood. Choice gold pieces, odd and new designs in upholstery. We also have a very complete assortment of Leather furniture in large Turkish Rockers, Sleepy-hollow Chairs, Couches and Library suites.

HALL FURNITURE—Quartered oak settees, odd-carved seats, English hall chairs and tables, and hall stands. This is in every respect the largest and best stock in this part of the country. Prices are exceptionally low in this line for the class of goods shown. Our styles are new this season and many of them are controlled by us for exclusive sale in the south.

DINING ROOM FURNITURE—Sideboards, dining tables, China closets, dining chairs, buffets, side tables, etc., etc. In Dutch, Flemish, Scotch, Baronial, early English and American Colonial styles. Also a very large number of the best modern designs.

RATTAN, WILLOW AND CANE WORK—Everything in Willow furniture—arm chairs, divans, fancy odd chairs, white and gold chairs, rockers, afternoon tea's, fancy wood tables. Decorated baskets, etc., etc. A full line of lawn and piazza goods, made for extra hand service, with prices as low as the lowest.

BED-ROOM FURNITURE—In San Domingo mahogany, quartered oak, selected cherry, curly maple and California birch. Art-stained color suites in golden oak finish, sixteenth century finish. Irish bog oak and Pollard oak. Finest cabinet work, dust-proof interior, best casters and locks. Carefully selected and exclusive styles. We also show some exquisite designs in parlor cabinets, genuine Japanese ware, odd couches, cheval glasses, parlor and library tables, music cabinets, ladies' writing desks, whist tables with chairs combined, etc., etc.

FOLDING FURNITURE—We make a specialty in this class of furniture, which the small size of rooms in many houses necessitates. Combination and folding beds are now extremely popular. They should be carefully selected. We handle exclusively a folding bed that works entirely without weights, and has the advantage of combining some other or several desirable pieces of furniture; that takes up no more room and can be used at all time. This style is so made that it is ventilated all day and when arranged at night makes a perfect bed. The mechanism is so simple it cannot get out of order. We also have a sofa that changes into a bed, and a standard rocker that makes a perfect crib. Great pains will be taken to insure promptness in delivering goods. Correspondence with parties residing out of town as to prices, estimates, etc., for interior furnishing solicited.

CHAMBERLIN, JOHNSON & CO.

THEIR LATE HONEYMOON.

MAUDE ANDREWS.

When Isadore Taine married, she held out the tips of her long, slim fingers to the man who was to share her future life, and said:

"If you want me you can have me. I don't love you in the least. It is best to be honest at the beginning. I am a poor orphan, dependent upon a wealthy uncle. I want everything that money can buy—an establishment on Fifth avenue, jewels, gowns—all that can go to the pleasing and adornment of a beautiful woman. You can give me this, but remember you are to expect nothing. I make no promises to you, no matter what I shall say from the prayer-book."

"What sort of a man," the reader is saying to himself, "was it that accepted this proposition? Certainly a fool." But he was anything but a fool. He was a brilliant lawyer, who had made a fortune by his profession at thirty-five. He was handsome, distinguished in appearance, a man with a reserved high-bred face, whose white forehead was turned to a marble purity by the black hair above, and whose blue-gray eyes shone out like brilliant stars from beneath the night of his black lashes and brows.

Even his wife used whimsically to express her admiration of his appearance. "Really," she said, quite seriously to a friend, "I believe Donald Taine is about the best looking man I ever saw. I think sometime that I might have fallen in love with him if I'd met him now instead of at seventeen. Maybe my not loving him was a notion, and women never get notions out of their heads."

He knew little of women, and she was the first one who had ever attracted his attention. He saw her and his fate was sealed, and he married her with the fond and foolish belief that he could win her affection. At the end of a seven years' trial he came to the conclusion that marrying a woman with the idea of winning her love was like marrying a man to reform him. He had long ago given up trying to win even her slight consideration. She had repulsed and trampled his love under her feet until it was dead. There was not the slightest spark left to burn in the ashes of his heart. Yet they were very good friends these days, this strangely met man and woman. When he had been willing to worship her, to kiss the very hem of her garments and lay his heart down for her footstep, she had heaped every insult upon him. She spoke to him as she never addressed a servant. She ignored his every wish. Her whole life seemed set against him as if he were her bitterest enemy. She was one of New York's married belles and acknowledged to be the most beautiful woman in the city. She had scores of admirers. She was always thinking herself in love with somebody, but they never amounted to anything, these thrilling affairs of the heart.

They came to an end by the man avowing his love, and being sent away hopeless. Once she was sure she had met her fate, and imagined a wild elopement and a country life in sunny France as the result. When the young fellow declared himself, she experienced a total revulsion of feeling. She hadn't the slightest desire to elope, and told him so in plain, practical terms.

"But you," the poor lover protested. "Yes," she said, sweeping his words aside with her long, white hand, "I know all you would say. I have encouraged you. My eyes have spoken love to you. My eyes have spoken love eternal. I have heard it all many times. They all say I encourage them, and I do. I know I'm to blame, but they'll excuse me if they understand. You see it all I live for—that sort of thing—love and admiration. I have to have it. I try to think it's something else. I try to think I'm giving out feeling instead of drawing it to me. But I'm not. I wish I was. I'd like to know how it feels to love anybody. I'm always feeling myself into believing I do and then finding out it is only myself I care for after all."

The young fellow protested and said a great many little cynical things we have often heard concerning the treachery of women, but he found it all no use, that divorce courts and elopements must not form a part of his present life, and so he went away disconsolate.

She told her husband of this interview a few months before my story opens. She had fallen into a friendly way of telling him things, for a woman must talk, and she'd chat with her worst rival if the two had to live alone in the same house. She had dropped into the habit of going to his room for a few minutes when she returned at midnight from an evening's gaiety. She always found him awake and reading, and there was a cheery, cozy look of habit that pleased her artistic sense. On this particular evening she grew more confidential than ever before. He was accustomed to note the goings and comings of her admirers with an amused shrug. His love being dead, he had no jealousy and he regarded men as one of her necessities.

After she finished telling this story she paused expecting some sort of reply from him.

He yawned wearily and asked if she didn't feel chilly and want to go to bed.

She felt somewhat exasperated.

"I think," she said flushing hotly, "you might take an interest in things when I confide in you. Not many women would confide such stories to their husbands."

"Not many husbands would feel interested in such stories."

"I should think they would if they felt a mere friendly indifference for their wives. Still, even feeling that way most men would have taken interest enough to get mad."

"Mad with whom?"

"Why, with the lover, or both."

"Well," smiling calmly, "I am not in the least mad with the lover, or both. Why should I be?" speaking as if he had reasoned it out a thousand years ago.

"I married you knowing you didn't love me. I haven't succeeded in making you. I don't suppose it is either's fault. You love the world and its homage. You make men adore you. I can't kill the men for it, when you lead them on."

"But most men would distrust their wives."

"Most men would have cause to, but I have not. You're an honest, honorable woman when I married you. You will always be that."

Their eyes met, and hers fell beneath the calm, earnest solemnity of his own.

She burst out impetuously. "I think you do me more than justice," she said, blushing deeply. "I have often thought wicked things. I have even thought it possible for me to love some other man, and if I should, I wouldn't say what I might not do."

"I would," he said, coolly. "You'd act honestly whatever happened. Do you think," and here his face darkened until she trembled beneath the somber fire of his eyes, "do you think that you would be my wife this minute if I hadn't trusted you wholly all these years. But don't let us talk any more of this nonsense," he said wearily, "it is time all honest folks were asleep, and now good night."

He arose and opened his door and she went to her boudoir across the hallway. Standing there alone before her mirror she regarded herself with an expression of pitying, half scornful admiration.

She ought to have been a happy woman, for fairer never looked upon her own reflection. She was tall and slenderly built as to hips and bust, but her shoulders and arms were plump and dimpled, most exquisitely made and dazlingly white. The masses of wavy hair showed reddish-brown tones, the eyes were amber with great black pupils, and the clear-cut features were exquisitely refined and chaste. She seemed a woman who would always have the look of a girl about her—a woman who would never look married. Tonight she wore a gown of dead white crepe de chine, the draperies of white lisse, embroidered in silver lilies. A diamond necklace flashed about the fair throat and the same jewels glistened in the wealth of her hair and in the small pink ears, looking like dew drops on a rose leaf.

She clasped the necklace and held it up before her. "I wonder why I love these things?" she said thoughtfully. "I wonder why I love any of these things I do. What good are they and what good am I? High ho! it's a curious, worthless old world."

The next morning she awoke with a heavy, nurse couldn't account for, "and now tell me who has been here during all these weeks?" she demanded.

"That I could not tell, but there have been cards and flowers every day, and here are the cards."

She took them and looked at the bowl of roses by her bed. "Who sent these flowers?"

"Mr. Taine. He brought the Marchal Niel roses every day."

Another "oh!" that the nurse did not comprehend.

As the long fingers put aside card after card the tired brain was thinking how many years had gone by since her husband had sent her flowers. "Of course," she thought, "it was humanity to watch over me, but plenty of other people sent flowers. I wonder why he thought of it too?"

That evening he came in pose charity, but you are not strong enough to go slumming, and hospital-visiting might occasion a relapse."

"I don't see that my death would make much difference," she said dejectedly.

"Don't talk that way," he said, with a pained tone in his fine strong voice; then—"I do wish I could think of somebody to amuse you."

"How do you amuse yourself in the evenings?"

"Oh, I read."

"Dry law books, I suppose?"

"No, light novels. My mind requires a rest from my profession."

"What are you reading now?"

"One of Mrs. Burnett's stories."

"Why can't you read it to me? I love reading aloud."

He looked at her uneasily, as if he thought the figure of its owner, sitting in his quiet, cozy room with a book and cigar, and she would recall his eyes as they looked up when she entered at midnight. They were such beautiful eyes, always for her filled with kind, impersonal friendliness.

One night she came in, a brilliant vision in her ball gown of amber gauze. She stood in the doorway, and his kind look made her heart ache. She came up to him impetuously.

"I want to tell you something," she said breathlessly. "If I don't say it now I shall die, and yet it's a very hard thing for a woman to say voluntarily even to her husband. Can't you help me?"

He looked at her uncomprehendingly and shook his head.

"Then I will say it all myself. I don't want to go to any of these balls and parties any more, or to anything, unless you go with me."

"Why?" rising in a passionate haste. "Has anything happened? Has any one died?"

"Oh, nothing, nothing like that. I am tired of it and the poor pie. Oh, Donald! I want you. Can't you understand? I love you."

He looked at her strangely, as if she stood in a dream that was reaching fulfillment; then a sudden realization of her words came upon him, and his white brow turned to scarlet and the veins stood out upon it like strained chords. She came up to him and put her hand upon his shoulder. He reached up and took it in his own, and holding it, stood apart from her.

His voice was heavy and slow with emotion. "Look me in the face child, and swear before God that you are speaking the truth. Remember how I have suffered, and remember that just as I have accepted your indifference I will accept your love. It must be something I cannot doubt; something eternal. In giving your heart to me remember that you resign the things you deemed the greatest pleasures in your former life. Remember I shall be the exacting lover, and now be honest in this as you have always been." Her eyes met his again, with a truth he could not doubt, and she said solemnly. "I do swear before God that I love you with all my heart, soul and strength." His face filled with luminous rapture and he folded her to his heart. The next week they went abroad.

As she had said to her friends, when the steamer was about to start, she said, laughing, but with a face full of new light and seriousness:

"We are going on our late honeymoon; we think it the kindest thing to leave and not inflict our friends with spongy scenes after seven years of marriage."

Dr. John Bull's Sarsaparilla.

Our druggists tell us that they are selling a great deal of Dr. John Bull's Sarsaparilla. It has not been advertised much in this vicinity, and we take it that the large demand for it is attributed merely to its extraordinary merits as a blood purifier and strengthening alternative. We know of several instances where it has put sick men and women on their feet after physicians had exhausted their skill. It is a medicine that certainly goes right to the spot, the very first dose seeming to do good. The blood is the life and we believe there is no other medicine made so powerful as a blood purifier as this remedy. And it does look as if when the blood is made pure a person naturally gets well. We advise any of our subscribers who are ailing and feel sick from any cause whatever, to give Dr. Bull's Sarsaparilla an immediate trial.—Covington Express.

There would be no indignation in the world if Ancon's Bitters were used by all. Dr. J. G. B. Siegest & Sons, manufacturers. At all druggists.

SENT FREE. Samples Wall Paper, with prices and look on how to apply it. M. H. MAGON, ADVERTISER.

THE HATCHET NOT BURIED.

VETERAN IN BLUE.—"Surely I can't be mistaken; ain't your name Smith, and weren't you at Gaines's snuff-in hand to hand conflict—and wasn't you shot through the ear?"

VETERAN IN GRAY.—"Yes."

hot feeling about her head and her eyes burned like fire. In the evening she grew worse, and the doctor was sent for. "I think," said that worthy man to her husband "that the symptoms are serious. It is some sort of fever. I can't tell exactly what until a week."

It proved at the end of that time to be a very serious case of typhoid fever, and the poor patient was delirious for many weeks. During that time she had a confused consciousness of a nurse in a white cap and a man who sat by her bedside always, and whose eyes would never stir from her face; then these were flowers and roses always, and they seemed to come in the morning and to go away during the hot, wild night. Then there was a time of utter forgetfulness of everything save the man's eyes, and then a slow coming back to the world—the world where she seemed to have grown the ghost of herself, and regarded her long, transparent hands as if they were something weird with which she had nothing to do.

The man's figure was by her side no more now. She asked the nurse vaguely who it was.

"Why, who but your husband," said the good dame, virtuously shocked.

"Oh!" she exclaimed, with a surprise she

VETERAN IN BLUE.—"Well, I'm the man that did it!"

VETERAN IN GRAY.—"You are, you gold-dam bizzard; you; I've been looking for you for twenty-seven years."—Judge.

as usual to ask how she was, and when she had replied, she said, hesitating a little: "The nurse tells me you send me those Marchal Niel, and I want to say how I remembered them all while I was ill and crazy and how happy they have made me."

"They are not worth mentioning," he said. I remembered you were fond of them. By the way, have you anything to read? It must be pretty lonely for you without some amusement in the evenings. As soon as you are a little stronger you will have to give some bonfire receptions."

"I don't want to think about receptions," she said, petulantly, "and I don't want to read because my eyes are not strong enough, and I don't want the nurse because she isn't gay."

"Why don't you get some of your women friends to come and spend a few days with you?"

"What does my gay world want to spend an evening in a sick-room for? Besides, I'm not sure that I have any women friends. I never tried to have any, they have generally said nasty things about me in consequence."

"Well," with a sort of amused despair, "I know not what else to suggest. If you were well and tired of the world of fashion, I'd propose charity, but you are not strong enough to go slumming, and hospital-visiting might occasion a relapse."

"I don't see that my death would make much difference," she said dejectedly.

"Don't talk that way," he said, with a pained tone in his fine strong voice; then—"I do wish I could think of somebody to amuse you."

"How do you amuse yourself in the evenings?"

"Oh, I read."

"Dry law books, I suppose?"

"No, light novels. My mind requires a rest from my profession."

"What are you reading now?"

"One of Mrs. Burnett's stories."

"Why can't you read it to me? I love reading aloud."

He looked at her uneasily, as if he thought the figure of its owner, sitting in his quiet, cozy room with a book and cigar, and she would recall his eyes as they looked up when she entered at midnight. They were such beautiful eyes, always for her filled with kind, impersonal friendliness.

One night she came in, a brilliant vision in her ball gown of amber gauze. She stood in the doorway, and his kind look made her heart ache. She came up to him impetuously.

"I want to tell you something," she said breathlessly. "If I don't say it now I shall die, and yet it's a very hard thing for a woman to say voluntarily even to her husband. Can't you help me?"

He looked at her uncomprehendingly and shook his head.

"Then I will say it all myself. I don't want to go to any of these balls and parties any more, or to anything, unless you go with me."

"Why?" rising in a passionate haste. "Has anything happened? Has any one died?"

"Oh, nothing, nothing like that. I am tired of it and the poor pie. Oh, Donald! I want you. Can't you understand? I love you."

He looked at her strangely, as if she stood in a dream that was reaching fulfillment; then a sudden realization of her words came upon him, and his white brow turned to scarlet and the veins stood out upon it like strained chords. She came up to him and put her hand upon his shoulder. He reached up and took it in his own, and holding it, stood apart from her.

His voice was heavy and slow with emotion. "Look me in the face child, and swear before God that you are speaking the truth. Remember how I have suffered, and remember that just as I have accepted your indifference I will accept your love. It must be something I cannot doubt; something eternal. In giving your heart to me remember that you resign the things you deemed the greatest pleasures in your former life. Remember I shall be the exacting lover, and now be honest in this as you have always been." Her eyes met his again, with a truth he could not doubt, and she said solemnly. "I do swear before God that I love you with all my heart, soul and strength." His face filled with luminous rapture and he folded her to his heart. The next week they went abroad.

As she had said to her friends, when the steamer was about to start, she said, laughing, but with a face full of new light and seriousness:

"We are going on our late honeymoon; we think it the kindest thing to leave and not inflict our friends with spongy scenes after seven years of marriage."

Dr. John Bull's Sarsaparilla.

Our druggists tell us that they are selling a great deal of Dr. John Bull's Sarsaparilla. It has not been advertised much in this vicinity, and we take it that the large demand for it is attributed merely to its extraordinary merits as a blood purifier and strengthening alternative. We know of several instances where it has put sick men and women on their feet after physicians had exhausted their skill. It is a medicine that certainly goes right to the spot, the very first dose seeming to do good. The blood is the life and we believe there is no other medicine made so powerful as a blood purifier as this remedy. And it does look as if when the blood is made pure a person naturally gets well. We advise any of our subscribers who are ailing and feel sick from any cause whatever, to give Dr. Bull's Sarsaparilla an immediate trial.—Covington Express.

There would be no indignation in the world if Ancon's Bitters were used by all. Dr. J. G. B. Siegest & Sons, manufacturers. At all druggists.

SENT FREE. Samples Wall Paper, with prices and look on how to apply it. M. H. MAGON, ADVERTISER.

ZEB CARTER'S GRIT.

F. L. STANTON.

The term "Zeb-klu" was familiar to the people of the rural districts in, at least two southern states at the close of the war; but in the wiregrass region of Georgia the organization was known as "The Bag Company"—and the mystery that shrouded its movements; the unknown men who composed it, riding with masked faces through the country on stormy nights, surrounding the dwellings of men who perhaps had committed crime, or were obnoxious to the community in which they lived, and in voiceless silence, binding their victim and taking him to the thick woods where, after the lash was applied, he was given warning to leave the county and return no more—made people shudder when its name was mentioned. The disorganized condition of the country at that time made something of the kind necessary in many localities. Things were in a state of chaos; the law was but a mockery; men went tramping through the country, pillaging the farmhouses and often burning them; others settled down in communities and preyed upon the people like wolves, and general disorder reigned everywhere.

It was at this time that Zeb Carter and his wife rented a little farm near the old Albany and Gulf road, in the wiregrass region of Georgia, and set to work to mend their broken fortunes. They had lost their all by the war, in which Zeb had served as a private in the Confederate ranks from the beginning to the end. "Their all" did not mean much, compared with the losses sustained by others, and yet, it was much to them—though it only represented a little house in Savannah, which Zeb had built himself with the money he had saved from his hard labor.

But he went bravely to work again. And Zeb was a hard worker. While he plowed the fields to fence in his farm, he also furnished the railroad with wood, which the engines took from the rack at station "101," and left there for the checks which brought him bread. Zeb had only been in the country a month when, coming home one day with his ax on his shoulder, he was met by his wife and three men, who seemed to have business with him. His wife was the first to speak.

"I'm so glad you've come, Zeb," she said. "These men have been waiting to see you; and they've asked me so many curious questions that I didn't know how to answer 'em. I'm afraid they don't mean us any good."

"What's the matter?" Zeb asked, looking at the men who stood before him, one of whom he recognized as the man who had been with him when he was first taken to the woods.

"Well, go ahead," said Zeb, "we're private now. You needn't be afraid of my wife. She ain't no one."

"I'd rather you'd step aside with me a moment," said the man. "I can't say what I am instructed to say to you in the presence of your wife."

"All right," said Zeb, shouldering his ax again. "I'm 'greable. Anything to say to me. I'm in a powerful big hurry."

They stepped apart from the rest and conversed in low tones.

"It's no use talking," said Zeb, as the man remonstrated with him. "I know my business. I'm a peaceable an' law abidin' man, whether there's any law in the country or not, an' I ain't a goin' to jine your society. I respect the law, but God didn't make me to deal it out to people—I ain't got brains enough for that."

"But every respectable man in the country belongs to us," said the man.

"Well, here's one that don't b'long to you," said Zeb, bringing the pole of his ax down to the ground again, "an' what's more, he ain't a goin' to b'long to you. I don't b'leve in your kind o' business."

"I'll give you a week to consider the matter before I make my report," said the man, as he beckoned to his companions and moved away. "And I'll advise you to give the right kind of answer when we see you again. It might be better for you in the end."

"I've done spoke my mind," replied Zeb, "an' you heard it. You know my sentiments."

A week rolled by—a week of hard work to Zeb, and he had almost forgotten the little episode recorded above, when the committee of three called on him again. The men had come to see if his mind had undergone any change with reference to his joining their "organization."

"It had not," Zeb told them so very plainly. So they left him to report his case unfavorably at headquarters.

"I can't see what they want with me," remarked Zeb to his wife, as they sat together by their cabin fire one rainy winter night. "They've got me enough to do all the mischief they want without me. An' to my mind they do more mischief than good, from what I can hear."

"Sigh," cried his wife, putting her hand to her ear in a listening attitude, "what's that?"

"Sounds like horses," said Zeb, getting up and going toward the door.

But his wife restrained him. "Don't open that door," she cried, catching hold of Zeb's arm. "Maybe they've come for you!"

In a moment it was plain to them that the house was surrounded. They could hear voices speaking in low tones outside. Then there was a loud knock at the door.

Zeb got his rifle, and standing in front of his wife, facing the door, asked:

"Who's there?"

"Only a few friends," replied a gruff voice. "Will you open the door an' let us in, or shall we bust it in?"

"What do you want?" cried Zeb, "a-comin' to a man's house an' talkin' about breakin' his door down?"

"We want you," replied the voice. "We've got a little matter to settle with you."

"How many of you out there?" asked Zeb.

"There's enough of us," replied the voice. "If you don't want your door broke down, you'd better open it quick. We jes' want to talk with you a bit."

rushed to the side of the house that Mollie guarded.

"Zeb and his wife had crouched low after the first fire; the room was filled with smoke, but through it all Zeb could see that the door was unguarded from without.

"Come, Mollie!" he whispered, hoarsely, "now's our chance!"

And, while the men were crowding round their wounded captain, they slid through the opening and fled towards the woods.

They fled just as three horsemen wheeled around the house and fired a volley into the door.

The report of the guns drowned the echo of their flying feet, but Zeb and Mollie heard a voice exclaim:

"There's a woman in the house. Don't kill the woman!"

Then there was a loud yell, and the galloping of horses in different directions.

Their escape had been discovered. On they went, Zeb and Mollie; on through the dark and rain.

Two men, riding furiously, passed so close to them that they might have touched them with their whips; but they crouched low on the ground, and were not seen.

On they went; the only sounds they heard now were those of their own hurrying feet; the chase had either been abandoned, or had taken a different direction from that in which they were going.

Mollie's strength was failing, and Zeb himself was exhausted.

Soaked through by the rain, and shivering with the cold of their winter's night, they reached at last a little cabin in the woods. The flicker of a fire within was seen through the chinks.

The negro who lived there was well known to Zeb, and there, by his hospitable hearth, Zeb and his wife spent the night, while the old man, terrified by the story Zeb told him, watched and listened by the fire, lest their pursuers should come upon them unawares.

When the morning dawned, clear and beautiful, Zeb and Mollie retraced their steps to their deserted home.

Tacked in a conspicuous place on the front of the house was a piece of brown paper, on which these words were written:

We give you twenty-four hours to leave the county.
By order of CAPTAIN JACK.

"Oh, Zeb!" cried Mollie, "let's go back to Savannah. They'll come back tonight and kill us both!"

"No," cried Zeb, with a look of determination, and grinding his teeth as he spoke, "I'll die first. I ain't done nuthin' to run away for, an' I've got as much right to this country as they have. They ain't a-comin' to bother us anymore, Mollie; we give 'em warnin' last night."

And Zeb was right. That very day he shouldered his rifle and walked to the village distant three miles from his house. He told his story fearlessly—told it to the very men who had driven him from his home the night before—though now, in broad daylight, they were all innocents. He told them that he had come to that county to stay, and that he was not going to be driven from it like a dog.

He made an impression on them. There was a funeral in town that day, and the silent verdict of all was that it was Zeb's funeral—at least, that Zeb was in some way connected with it.

He didn't attend it, however, but returned to Mollie, repaired the damages on his house, and went about his work as usual. And though the "Bag Company" flourished in that county for months afterwards, Zeb and never molested. In fact, he was looked upon as being the best man in that section, and Mollie deserved the distinction of being called "the best woman."

At least, Zeb thought so.

WITH A LILY TO JULIE.
(From the French of Camille.)

A heavenly prize once declared
That, vainly contradictory,
Were pomp of kings with mine compared
To me would be the victory;

But if, according to my prayer,
I could but sit as in thy lap,
All glory else would I forego
For never could I truly

A comparable honor know
To crown'g thee, O Juliette.
—CHARLES J. BAYNE.

The cost of a lamp is chiefly in chimneys.

It need not be. There are chimneys that do not break.

Macbeth & Co., Pittsburgh; "pearl-top" of their chimneys thus: Of course their chimneys are made of the toughest glass.

For sale by Dobbs, Wey & Co., Atlanta, Ga.

CURE BILIOUSNESS, SICK HEADACHE,
HEARTBURN, LIVER COMPLAINT, DYSPEPSIA, COMPLAINT, JAUNDICE.

BLOOD
Purified,
BY USING THE GENUINE
DR. C. McLANE'S —CELEBRATED—LIVER PILLS!

PREPARED ONLY BY FLEMING BROS., Pittsburgh, Pa.
227 BROADWAY, NEW YORK, N. Y.

CHASE & SANBORN'S
SEAL BRAND
JAVA & MOCHA
COFFEE

BOSTON COFFEES
FREE
A PERFECT ART ALBUM CONTAINING 24 BEAUTIFUL PHOTOGRAPHS REPRESENTING TEA AND COFFEE CULTURE, WILL BE SENT ON RECEIPT OF YOUR ADDRESS.
CHASE & SANBORN,
124 BROAD ST., BOSTON.

WHITE-HOUSE AGENTS WANTED FOR THE SALE OF COOK-BOOK
Forty Years Experience.
Send for Free Catalogue.
Address: E. J. HARRIS, 100 N. 3rd St., Phila., Pa.

Ringling Words from Grateful Hearts

Cuticura Remedies

The Greatest Skin Cures, Blood Purifiers and Humor Remedies the World has Ever Known

Covered with Sores

I have used your Cuticura Remedies in two cases where it proved to be successful. The first was in the case of a boy a year and a half old. His face and body were in a terrible condition, the former being completely covered with sores. I took him to the Massena Sulphur Springs, but he did not improve any. I was then advised to try the Cuticura Remedies, which I did. He took one and one-half bottles of Cuticura Resolvent, when his skin was as smooth as could be, and is today. I used the Cuticura on his sores and the Cuticura Soap in washing him. He is now five years of age, and all right. The other case was a disease of the scalp which was cured by washing with the Cuticura Soap and rubbing in the Cuticura, one bottle of Cuticura Resolvent being used. They have proved successful in every case. It is surprising how rapidly a child will improve under their treatment.

JOHN R. BERO, Hogsburg, N. Y.

Awful Blood Humor

I contracted a terrible blood poisoning a year ago. I doctored with two good physicians, neither of whom did me any good. I suffered all a man could suffer and live. Hearing of your CUTICURA Remedies, I concluded to try them, knowing if they did me no good they could make me no worse. I have been using them about ten weeks and am most happy to say that I am almost rid of the awful sores that covered my face and body. My face was as bad, if not worse, than that of Miss Boynton, spoken of in your book, and I would say to any one in the same condition to use CUTICURA and they will surely be cured. You may use this letter in the interests of suffering humanity.

E. W. REYNOLDS, Ashland, Ohio.

A Grateful Mother

I thank you for your CUTICURA Remedies, and feel that in doing so I might be able to save some person from a heavy doctor's bill, which I know it has done for me. My baby was seven weeks old when I began to try the CUTICURA Remedies for a disease which had spread itself all over its head and face. I was nearly distracted; had been to the doctor's, but got no satisfaction. Before two days' use of the CUTICURA Remedies the sores began to loosen, and in three weeks I could hardly believe that it was the baby I used to dread people seeing. He is perfectly cured, and has a beautiful growth of hair coming. I am very grateful to you.

Mrs. GEO. MOREMAN,

Verdum, Lower Lachine, Montreal, P. Q.

Scrofula 7 Years

I have been troubled with scrofula seven years, which first started on the top of my head, giving me infinite trouble, and making it impossible to get out of dry scales, and a watery liquid oozing from under the scales. I treated it for seven years unsuccessfully, and was unable to check it until I found your CUTICURA Remedies, which completely cured me. My skin becoming perfectly clear and smooth.

S. J. DAVIS, Artesia, Los Angeles Co., Cal.

BABY'S Skin and Scalp purified and beautified by CUTICURA SOAP. Absolutely pure.

April 23rd—Wed. Sun. Weekly top col. nrm.

FREE RHODE ISLAND CLAM BAKE!

100 Bushels Long Clams!

50 Bushels Round Clams!

50 Bushels Oysters and

1,000 Pounds of Lobsters!

Will be Served With Other Refreshments During the

100 Bushels Long Clams!

50 Bushels Round Clams!

50 Bushels Oysters and

1,000 Pounds of Lobsters!

Will be Served With Other Refreshments During the

100 Bushels Long Clams!

50 Bushels Round Clams!

50 Bushels Oysters and

1,000 Pounds of Lobsters!

Will be Served With Other Refreshments During the

100 Bushels Long Clams!

50 Bushels Round Clams!

50 Bushels Oysters and

1,000 Pounds of Lobsters!

Will be Served With Other Refreshments During the

100 Bushels Long Clams!

50 Bushels Round Clams!

50 Bushels Oysters and

1,000 Pounds of Lobsters!

Will be Served With Other Refreshments During the

100 Bushels Long Clams!

50 Bushels Round Clams!

50 Bushels Oysters and

1,000 Pounds of Lobsters!

Will be Served With Other Refreshments During the

100 Bushels Long Clams!

50 Bushels Round Clams!

50 Bushels Oysters and

1,000 Pounds of Lobsters!

Will be Served With Other Refreshments During the

100 Bushels Long Clams!

50 Bushels Round Clams!

50 Bushels Oysters and

1,000 Pounds of Lobsters!

Will be Served With Other Refreshments During the

100 Bushels Long Clams!

50 Bushels Round Clams!

50 Bushels Oysters and

1,000 Pounds of Lobsters!

An Awful Sore Limb

For three years I was almost crippled with an awful sore leg from my knee down to my ankle; the skin was entirely gone, and the flesh was a mass of disease. Some physicians pronounced it incurable. I had diminished about one-third the size of the other, and I was in a hopeless condition. After trying all kinds of remedies and spending hundreds of dollars, from which I got no relief whatever, I was persuaded to try your CUTICURA Remedies, and the result was as follows: After three days I noticed a decided change for the better, and at the end of two months I was completely cured. My flesh was purified, and the bone (which had been exposed for over a year) got sound. The flesh began to grow, and today, and for nearly two years past, my leg is as well as ever it was, sound in every respect, and not a sign of the disease to be seen. S. G. AHERN, Dubois, Dodge Co., Ga.

Head a Running Sore

I have been troubled with a skin and scalp disease for seventeen years. My head at times was one running sore, and my body was covered with sores as large as a half dollar. I tried a great many remedies without effect until I used the CUTICURA Remedies, and am thankful to state that after two months of their use I am entirely cured.

L. R. McDOWELL, Jamesburg, N. J.

Not a Pimple on Baby

I cannot say enough in praise of the CUTICURA Remedies. My boy, when one year of age, was so bad with eczema that he lost all of his hair. His scalp was covered with eruptions which the doctors said was scall-head, and that his hair would never grow again. Despairing of a cure from physicians, I began the use of the CUTICURA Remedies, and I am happy to say, with the most perfect success. His hair is now splendid, and there is not a pimple on him. I recommend the CUTICURA Remedies to mothers as the most speedy, economical, and sure cure for all skin diseases of infants and children, and feel that every mother who has an afflicted child will thank me for so doing.

Mrs. M. E. WOODSUM, Norway, Me.

Cuticura Remedies.

Ringling words from grateful hearts tell the story of great physical suffering, of mental anguish, of reason of humiliating disgraces, and of threatened dangers happily and speedily ended, by the CUTICURA Remedies, the greatest Skin Cures, Blood Purifiers and Humor Remedies the world has ever known.

CUTICURA, the great skin cure, instantly allays the most agonizing itching and inflammation, cleans the skin and scalp of every trace of disease, heals ulcers and sores, removes crusts and scales, and restores the hair. CUTICURA SOAP, the greatest of skin purifiers and beautifiers, is indispensable in treating skin diseases and baby humors. It produces the whitest, clearest skin and softest hands, free from pimples, spots or blemish. CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new blood and skin purifier, and PIMPLES, blackheads, red, rough, chapped, and oily skin prevented by CUTICURA SOAP.

BABY'S Skin and Scalp purified and beautified by CUTICURA SOAP. Absolutely pure.

April 23rd—Wed. Sun. Weekly top col. nrm.

A Fearful Psoriasis

My disease (psoriasis) first broke out on my left cheek, spreading across my nose, and almost covering my face. It ran into my eyes, and the physician was afraid I would lose my eyesight altogether. It spread all over my head, and my hair all fell out, until I was entirely bald-headed; it then broke out on my arms and shoulders, until my arms were just one sore. It covered my entire body, my face, head and shoulders, being the worst. The white scales fell constantly from my head, shoulders, and arms; the skin would thicken and be red and very itchy, and would crack and bleed if scratched. After spending many hundreds of dollars, I was pronounced incurable. I heard of the CUTICURA Remedies, and after using two bottles CUTICURA RESOLVENT, I could see a change; and after I had taken four bottles, I was almost cured; and when I had used six bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT and one box of CUTICURA, and one cake of CUTICURA SOAP, I was cured of the dreadful disease from which I had suffered for five years. I thought the disease would leave a very deep scar, but the CUTICURA Remedies cured it without any scars. I cannot express with a pen what I suffered before using the CUTICURA Remedies. They saved my life, and I feel it my duty to recommend them to every sufferer as good as ever, and so is my eyesight. I know of others who have received great benefit from their use.

Mrs. ROSA KELLY, Rockwell City, Iowa.

Almost a Solid Scab

I used two bottles of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT, three boxes of CUTICURA, and one cake of CUTICURA SOAP, and am cured of a terrible skin and scalp disease known as psoriasis. I had it for eight years. It would get better and worse at times. Sometimes my head would be a solid scab, and was at the time I began the use of the CUTICURA Remedies. My arms were covered with scales from my elbows to shoulders, my breast was almost one solid scab, and my back covered with sores. I heard of the CUTICURA Remedies, and after using them in size from a penny to a dollar. I had doctored with all the best doctors with no relief, and used many different medicines without effect. My case was hereditary, and I began to think, incurable, but it began to heal from the first application.

ARCHER RUSSELL, Deshler, Ohio.

Cuticura Remedies.

greatest of humor remedies, cleanses the blood of all impurities and poisonous elements, and thus removes the cause. Hence the CUTICURA Remedies cure every species of agonizing, humiliating, itching, burning, scaly, and pimply diseases of the skin, scalp, and blood, with loss of hair, and all humors, blotches, eruptions, sores, scales, and crusts, whether simple, scrofulous or contagious, when the best physicians and all other remedies fail.

Sold everywhere. Price, CUTICURA, 50c.; SOAP, 25c.; RESOLVENT, $1. Prepared by the PORTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CORPORATION, Boston.

Send for "How to Cure Skin Diseases," 64 pages, 50 illustrations, and 100 testimonials.

BABY'S Skin and Scalp purified and beautified by CUTICURA SOAP. Absolutely pure.

April 23rd—Wed. Sun. Weekly top col. nrm.

$4,000 Worth of Gas Fixtures

Sold by us this month. We expect to make it $6,000 before May 1st.

Buying Ten Times as Many

Gas Fixtures as any other House in the city. We can sell them cheaper Than Any Other House.

Our Prices and Goods speak for themselves. Call and see us.

Hunnicut & Bellingrath.

sun tras thir

sun tras thir

sun tras thir

sun tras thir

sun tras thir

sun tras thir

sun tras thir

sun tras thir

sun tras thir

sun tras thir

sun tras thir

sun tras thir

sun tras thir

sun tras thir

sun tras thir

sun tras thir

sun tras thir

sun tras thir

sun tras thir

sun tras thir

sun tras thir

sun tras thir

sun tras thir

sun tras thir

sun tras thir

sun tras thir

sun tras thir

sun tras thir

sun tras thir

sun tras thir

THE SUMMER OF '64.

From the Philadelphia News.
 Summer of 1864! But though the skies were blue and cloudless and the earth radiant in her robes of green, with flowers beautiful and fragrant on her bosom, the hearts of men and women were heavy and sorrowful, for the roll of smoke of cannon hid the verdant heights and stains redder than the field poppies dyed the grass, while the rattle of musketry and the tread of marching men drowned the songs of the birds, and the sound of weeping startled them into silence. The fair hills of Virginia looked down on carnage and sights too pitiful to name, and her green pastures were stained with the blood of many a gallant soldier for whom a gray-haired mother or a tender wife and little children wept in their northern home or mourned beneath the many skies of Dixie.

But nestled close to the rugged side of the mountain, like a sparrow's nest under the grim battlements of some old castle, the little village of Cloverdale heard only from afar these dreadful sounds that told of death and horror. Sometimes a newly-raised regiment, marching down to join the forces about Richmond, would go by in uniform and flustering dress—alas, alas! how soon to have their heavy torn by shot and dimmed with bloody dew.

These splendid cavaliers went by, watched with frantic envy from two big eyes like twin wood violets from the window of a pretty white house that stood half way up the mountain, and was the home of one fair, gentle lady to whom Manassas had meant widowhood. These pretty, wistful eyes were the lady's, whose heart swelled at the martial music until it grew too much for a four-year-old to stand, and so he declared his fixed and desperate resolution to become "a soldier too." Mamma caught the tiny form with the eager face to her breast, thinking of innocent little children, too, and who now, perhaps, lay on some battlefield with their faces turned upward to the sky, and a bullet in the quiet heath. And her own eyes were dimming for a soldier who marched away one bright spring day to return no more to that loving household on the mountain.

But the baby was firm, so mamma fashioned a marvelous uniform for her warrior, with glittering buttons and a colonel's star, and grandmamma, on condition that it be not removed from the scabbard, left a "real" sword, which had been to Mexico with grandpa when he went long ago with General Taylor. A drum of Aunt Dickey's own loving manufacture, presented with her black face gleaming with satisfaction, and a big hat contributed by Sister Lizzie, who cheerfully turned her own and only Gainesborough, which, with its curling feather, had been the pride of her heart, into a cavalier's flashing plume, completed the equipment of the bold soldier.

He was not a very terrifying object though, his eyes were blue and innocent and his hair curling in long, bright strands from under his big hat, while his mouth was like a rosebud trying to frown fiercely and his chubby hands were only just able to grasp the heavy sword in a very unimpressive fashion after him. So in the long, bright summer the baby played at war and drilled the maple trees on the lawn with great severity and diligence until if they were not ready to march away and strike a blow for their country it was certainly not the fault of their gallant little commander. He patrolled the premises like a faithful sentinel and gave his military orders with his frequent and solemn promise to stand by and protect them should occasion arise.

And sure enough, dark and gloomy on the pages of the future was written the coming of an hour when Cloverdale was to be the scene of the meeting of two hostile forces. Not very large ones to be sure, only two skirmishing parties, but—led by brave men and composed of others sworn to vengeance for personal wrongs suffered at former hands. This hour came just as the summer lay a dying, beautiful being, and the baby, for nature crowned the passing season's brow with her choicest glories to hide, as it were, its fading.

The baby's maple squad had put off its dress of ribbon's green and stood bright and rusty in the armor of battle, while banners of many hues and vines swung lightly from the mountain's side. Close to the pretty singing brook that wound silver ribbon down the foot of the grim old mountain were planted one day dreadful wide-mouthed cannon—with a shrill threat in each dark throat—blots in the peaceful scene and a hundred or more of stern, gloomy-eyed men stood behind them waiting for the foe, who was coming presently down the road. The sun rose higher and higher, veiling its face from what was to come in a purple haze, when tramp, tramp came the advancing enemy, marching down to what each man knew would in all probability be a battle unto death, for, in order to pass, it was necessary to take the battery that held the narrow road.

Each party reserved its fire by order, and only the tread of feet, the gleam of fixed bayonets and a low growling of commands from an officer here and there betrayed the crowd of these invaders of that quiet spot. But as the two lines of set, defiant faces glared into each other something happened. Out from the ranks on the side of the road marched a tiny figure, bravely dragging after it through the dust a sword. The big hat with its flaunting feather had fallen over one blue eye, but the other glanced bravely from one body of soldiers to the other. He marched with great dignity down between the two lines and paused about to speak, when forward ran every man from both sides and closed upon him.

But oh! no harm was meant, for the baby and little face had awakened tender memories of such another at home, as of one's own happy childhood in every breast, and with a common impulse to shield them from his perilous place, each bounded forward, fearful lest the other side open fire and a shot pierce that tiny soldier's uniform. But the crowd of mingled blue and gray-clad men gave back quickly, when a flying figure with gay turban all aflutter and checked dress, sailing in its self-dreathed breeze, dashed in its midst.

"Gimme that child here," cried Aunt Dickey hysterically. "T'n' run here, my angel pettiniks, an' let yo' mammy see if dese here stamps done hurt 'n' sugar lump!" She examined the child, carefully and then, holding him while that valiant warrior wept loudly and bitterly, harangued the soldiers.

"You're a pretty lot, ain't yer now? Com'n' here gittin' up a fuss right 'n' spect-able people, till I declare dis yer baby had ter come ter shame you. Its low-browed, tells you so, right 'n' its 'n' me, Aunt Dickey, w't' out of here now, and jist de dis 'n' me—'t'woudn't a been his fight no mo'. You'd a had me to settle with, an' I tell yer, men, I'd a tore de las' one of 'em fairly in two, and dat's de tree vid de bark on it. Now I'm gwine take dis chile home weppin' an' go 'n' let 'em test 'n' yo' business. Gimme dat sword here!" And off went the heroic old woman with her struggling, shrieking charge, followed by shouts of ungodly laughter, which, however, now no notice from the disdainful Aunt Dickey.

The soldiers then stood looking wistfully at each other, and glancing with eyes filled with awe that took nothing from their manhood at the big hat which had fallen off and been forth during the owner's late unfair contest with his dusky conqueror, and now lay in the raised it up and held it as if it were a relic in place. The two bands then side for battle, marched away in opposite directions, but ere the orders to move were given a white-haired colonel stepped forward and raised his shabby cap. He only said, with one hand pointing to leave, while the others listened with drooping heads.

"Boys, something comes back to me to-day that I heard long years ago at my own good mother's knee, something that ends with 'And a child shall lead them.'"

WILLIE LLOYD JACKSON.

STILSON, JEWELER.

55 WHITEHALL ST.
 Reliable Goods.
 Fair Dealing.
 Bottom Prices.

GET YOUR Blank Books, Ledgers, PRINTING, Journals, Cash Books, Binding, Electrotyping, etc., etc., of

JAS. P. HARRISON & CO.,
 (The Franklin Publishing House.)
 209 Cornhill Street, Boston, Mass.

DR. BOWES & CO

Southern Medical Dispensary.
 21-2 MARIEETTA ST., ATLANTA, GA.
 (Over Jacobs' Pharmacy)

Chronic, Nervous, Blood and Skin Diseases.

NERVOUS debility, seminal losses, impotency, loss of memory, effect of bad habits, confusion of ideas, safety and permanently cured.

BLOOD AND SKIN diseases, syphilis, results totally eradicated. Ulcers, blotches, eruptions, itching, and all other skin diseases permanently cured when others have failed.

URINARY kidney and bladder troubles, gonorrhea, gleet, urinary sediments, cystitis, etc., quickly cured.

URETHRAL STRICTURE permanently cured without cutting or caustics, or dilatation or interruption of business or occupation.

CURES GUARANTEED.
 A SURE CURE to young and middle-aged men who have foolishly wasted their energies.

Dr. Bowes is a graduate of the University of Michigan, of twenty years' experience, and is strictly reliable. Send six cents in stamps for "Perfect Question List" and book on diseases of men. Enclose stamps for reply to your letter. Call on or address DR. BOWES & CO., 21-2 Marietta St., Atlanta, Ga.

References: Constitution, Jacobs' Pharmacy Co., 209 Cornhill St., Boston, Mass.

HUMPHREYS' DRUGS

Dr. HUMPHREYS' SPECIFICS are scientifically and carefully prepared prescriptions; used for many years in private practice with success, and for over thirty years used by the people. Every single SPECIFIC cures the disease named.

These SPECIFICS cure without dragging, purging or reducing the system, and are in fact and deed the most certain remedies of the world.

LIST OF PRINCIPAL DISEASES CURED.
 1. Fever, Congestion, Inflammation...
 2. Worms, Worm Fever, Worm Colic...
 3. Croup, Whooping Cough, Sore Throat...
 4. Diarrhea, of Children or Adults...
 5. Dysentery, Bilious Colic, Bilious Cough...
 6. Cholera Morbus, Vomiting...
 7. Cholera, Bilious Colic, Bilious Cough...
 8. Neuralgia, Toothache, Faceache...
 9. Rheumatism, Stiff Joints, Stiff Neck...
 10. Dropsy, Stiff Joints, Stiff Neck...
 11. Suppressed or Painful Periods...
 12. Piles, Hemorrhoids, Stiff Joints...
 13. Croup, Cough, Difficult Breathing...
 14. Whooping Cough, Violent Cough...
 15. Rheumatism, Rheumatic Pains...
 16. Fever and Ague, Chills, Malaria...
 17. Dropsy, Stiff Joints, Stiff Neck...
 18. Catarrh, Influenza, Cold in the Head...
 19. Whooping Cough, Violent Cough...
 20. General Debility, Physical Weakness...
 21. Nervous Debility...
 22. Primary Syphilis...
 23. Diseases of the Heart, Palpitation...
 24. Diseases of the Lungs, Phthisis...
 25. Diseases of the Kidneys, Gravel...
 26. Diseases of the Bladder, Stricture...
 27. Diseases of the Prostate, Gleet...
 28. Diseases of the Uterus, Leucorrhoea...
 29. Diseases of the Vagina, Catarrh...
 30. Diseases of the Cervix, Erosion...
 31. Diseases of the Ovaries, Cystitis...
 32. Diseases of the Fallopian Tubes, Salpingitis...
 33. Diseases of the Uterus, Fibroid...
 34. Diseases of the Vagina, Prolapse...
 35. Diseases of the Cervix, Prolapse...
 36. Diseases of the Ovaries, Prolapse...
 37. Diseases of the Fallopian Tubes, Prolapse...
 38. Diseases of the Uterus, Prolapse...
 39. Diseases of the Vagina, Prolapse...
 40. Diseases of the Cervix, Prolapse...
 41. Diseases of the Ovaries, Prolapse...
 42. Diseases of the Fallopian Tubes, Prolapse...
 43. Diseases of the Uterus, Prolapse...
 44. Diseases of the Vagina, Prolapse...
 45. Diseases of the Cervix, Prolapse...
 46. Diseases of the Ovaries, Prolapse...
 47. Diseases of the Fallopian Tubes, Prolapse...
 48. Diseases of the Uterus, Prolapse...
 49. Diseases of the Vagina, Prolapse...
 50. Diseases of the Cervix, Prolapse...

H. L. WILSON, AUCTIONEER

For Sale Tuesday, May 6.

Henry Seltzer's Estate.

Worth Over $100,000.

THIS VALUABLE, BEAUTIFUL AND CHOICE property is upon the market for the purpose of paying debts and distribution, otherwise you can not obtain the inch of it. This large level lot on Peachtree has no equals in the city. Look at the grand old original forest trees stretching out their graceful limbs to shade and protect the deep green grass, and you cannot help wanting one of these, the best on the street.

The valuable home on Houston street, No. 46, is close in and convenient. Such large lots are very scarce near the center of the city. Now, where can you find any central real estate for sale? Know of none but this on the corner of Broad and Walton streets. On Marietta street, just a jump from these broad streets, we all concede that the vacant ground is well worth

$1,000 PER FRONT FOOT.

This is almost as valuable, and yet such property is enhancing all the time. Why? Because of great increase in population and in money increase the demand. There is no boom in Atlanta. Just a natural progressive increase. This and nothing more. Capitalists and investors will place call at my office for plans and information. The Peachtree and Juniper street property will be sold first at the court house. Then I will sell the elegant home, No. 46 Houston street, saving the best seat—the central property right in the heart of the city—for the last.

ANTON L. KONTZ, Administrator de bonis non of the estate of Henry Seltzer.

Real estate agent, 3 Kimball house, Pryor st., apt 21-dit 80p

You will Save CATARRH

Money, Time, Pain, Trouble, AND WILL CURE CATARRH

By Using ELY'S CREAM BALM

Kempton & Cunningham

REAL ESTATE AGENTS

No. 6 East Alabama St.

$1,500 only for a choice Houston street corner lot; Electric line; at this figure only if taken at once. Cheap at $2,000. A rare chance for those looking for bargains. Call early if you want it.

$1,000—Georgia ave. corner lot, 40x150; dummy line.

$500—Martin st. corner lot 50x125.

$1,500—Pulliam st. lot, 48x150 build your home here.

$4,500 will buy a very pretty 7 room W. Peachtree residence.

$2,000 for the prettiest site for a home; 100x170. South Atlanta.

$3,250—Forest ave. lot, 53x150; another bargain.

$3,500—7 r h, Hunter st., close in; gas and water.

$4,500—7 r h on the Boulevard; new and cheap, large lot.

$1,200—6 r h, near Wheat st.; close in. Rents for $14 a month.

$3,000—Young st. lot, 115x150.

$1,250—Capitol ave. lot, 50x200; paved street; sidewalk.

$2,000 only for a choice Pryor st. lot; very cheap.

$1,500—3 r h, Linden av., lot 44x125.

$3,500—7 r h, Ivy st.; gas and water; lot 42x170.

$5,000 for a 9 room residence on Smith st.

$1,000 will buy about an acre near Confederate home; two minutes' walk from dummy.

ACREAGE PROPERTY.

$30,000 for the finest tract of Edgewood property. Divide into building lots and you can make this way.

If you want choice Inman Park lots or best Copenhill lots cheaper than you can buy anywhere else, Call and see us. We have them for sale.

We have also farm lands in all directions; we have mineral and phosphate lands; we have large tracts of Florida lands in fruit-growing sections. Call and we will be pleased to give all information desired.

FAST BLACK STOCKINGS.

F. P. Robinson Dye.

TRADE MARK

"CLEANFAST"

We guarantee an absolutely clean, fast color which will improve by washing. The wearing quality is unsurpassed. None genuine without our trade mark on each pair. We have also Darning Cotton of the same dye. Send for price list. Order by mail. Sold only in Atlanta by Chamberlin, Johnson & Co.

TO WEAK MEN

Suffering from the effects of youthful errors, early decay, wasting weakness, lost manhood, etc., I will send a valuable treatise (sealed) containing full particulars for home cure, FREE of charge. A splendid medical work! Should be read by every man who is nervous and debilitated. Address: Prof. F. C. FOWLER, Woodbury, Conn. 15-1d 4kly 1

FINE SHOW CASES.

TERRY MFG CO., NASHVILLE, TENN.

For Sale!

A LOT OF SKELETON CHAIRS, 12 1/2 x 12 1/2 inches, inside; also a lot of book chairs, various sizes, with cross-hairs, all complete, and in various conditions. Address: CONSTITUTION JOB OFFICE, Atlanta, Ga. apr 27th 1890

H. L. WILSON, AUCTIONEER.

WASHINGTON HEIGHTS.

For Sale April 29.

Call and get a plat of those beautiful lots on Washington Heights to be sold at auction Tuesday, April 29, at 2:30 o'clock. You may ride over the entire city of Atlanta and examine the various streets and points of value and attraction, but nowhere will you find a location superior to this grand hill. The views from these heights are magnificent. Pure and sparkling water is in every well. The air is pure, fresh and delightful. Elegant, expensive houses will be erected after this sale, furnishing homes for the cultured, refined and wealthy. Here is a safe place for your family. Here is a safe place for your money, because it will enhance in value each succeeding year. The choice lots on our best thoroughfares and avenues are being bought up so rapidly that thinking men of means are securing the lots now to build permanent houses upon. Then drive out Washington street by the capitol of Georgia and pass those grand churches and schools, examine the palatial residences on either side and look with admiration and true pleasure at the beautiful lawns and yards, with their carpets of grass and rare flowers, and an occasional wide-spreading shade-tree—stop right here upon Washington Heights and examine your plat—be sure to select your lot before leaving, for now is the most opportune time you will ever have to secure such property under such favorable circumstances, with such liberal terms. No man ever made a mistake in buying such prominent real estate as this is in Atlanta. Stop a moment and think what it was worth one, three, five, ten years ago—then figure what it necessarily will be worth five years from now. Nothing on earth will pay such profits as these very lots will yield you. As soon as the cars are extended out Washington you can leave the heights after breakfast and be in the Kimball house or your office in ten minutes. Terms unusually easy. Will furnish cheap money to build if you desire it. H. L. WILSON, Real Estate Ag't, 3 Kimball house, Pryor street. april 25—dit 7p

JETER & CAMP

WILL TODAY INAUGURATE A

Great Basket Sale

PICNIC BASKETS!

This will be the mammoth basket sale of the year, and those who are in need of goods of this character had better call at once and get choice. This is no cost sale, gotten up just to sell baskets. We are closing out our baskets to make room for other goods. We have lately contracted for a large lot of

Stoves and Ranges

Crockery, Glass and Woodenware

DESKS,

Bed-Room Suits,

PARLOR SUITS!

A little out of the way, but prices are exactly in the right

SPOT.

Come and see what you can save.

H. W. THOMAS,

70 and 81 South Broad Street.

PRINTING PRESSES,

TYPE CASES, STANDS, INK, ETC.

Perfect Goods, Bottom Prices

LIBERAL TERMS!

SOUTHERN PRINTERS' SUPPLY CO.

34 W. Alabama St., Atlanta, Ga.

We sell the Constitution, and refer to them.

Bank Office

AND STORE FIXTURES

THE TERRY MFG CO.

NASHVILLE TENN.

TO PRINTERS!

For Sale!

A LOT OF SKELETON CHAIRS, 12 1/2 x 12 1/2 inches, inside; also a lot of book chairs, various sizes, with cross-hairs, all complete, and in various conditions. Address: CONSTITUTION JOB OFFICE, Atlanta, Ga. apr 27th 1890

ONE CARLOAD JUST RECEIVED.

Trade Supplied at Factory Prices.

A. P. TRIFOD,

66 Decker Street, Atlanta.

Church's Improved

Abastatine,

FOR WALLS AND CEILINGS.

ONE CARLOAD JUST RECEIVED.

Trade Supplied at Factory Prices.

A. P. TRIFOD,

A RATTLER!

This certainly is the correct word to use in describing my stock this season. Everything you would expect to find in a first-class clothing store for men, boys and children is here in great variety. The prices are as low as it is possible to sell goods consistent with honest material and workmanship.

GEORGE MUSE,

38 Whitehall St.

MAYVILLE!

Get a plat at the Atlanta Real Estate Exchange Office, No. 5 South Pryor street, and go out and take a look at this beautiful little suburb. Don't say in a month or two "Why didn't you let me know?" They will all go within that time, from present indications. Calhoun street is being graded, and will have electric car lines within four months, or be paved with asphaltum, which will more than double the value of the property. We are assured of this, and also that it will have water and gas within that time. It will be as high-toned as Peachtree at one-third of the price. It will be just outside of the city, yet possessing all of its advantages. Consult your home, social and business interests, and then do like Mahomet—go to the Mountain (J. H.)—at No. 5 Pryor street, and consult him.

ADMINISTRATORS' SALE

Osborn, Shelton & Co.

WILL SELL ON THE FIRST TUESDAY

May 1890, before the courthouse door in the city of Atlanta, between the usual hours of sale, in pursuance of court decree for administrators of the estate of William Lawrie, deceased, 15 lots situated on Morgan and Randolph streets, about 200 yards east of Boulevard, Morgan street leaving Boulevard, running east north of W. S. Thompson's handsome residence.

Lot No. 1 has on it a comparatively new 4-room house, lot No. 12 a 2-room house. This block of more than four acres is in the vicinity of gilt-edge property, and ought to command a good price, surrounded by property that is daily enhancing in value. Call at our office, get plats, go out and examine this property, so as to be the more competent to bid on day of sale.

Terms cash; sale absolute; titles perfect. We have some of the most beautiful lots in grove fronting east on Jackson street, with Belgian block, sewerage, water and gas, to be placed this summer, that are in the city. We say this liberally, with a clear conscience. These lots are only offered to those who contemplate building. We have two beautiful lots on Angier avenue, 60 feet front, 210 feet deep, to the Boulevard, at the low price of $1,250. These will do to buy and hold for six months, with an assurance of a profit.

OSBORN, SHELTON & CO.,

12 South Pryor Street.

Mar 30 d 1 m

A. J. WEST,

H. F. WEST

A. J. WEST & CO.,

REAL ESTATE.

7 PRYOR ST., KIMBALL HOUSE.

A very desirable lot near in, on Spring street, 60x150, $4,000.

Lot corner Hunter and Gullatt streets, 40x105, $500. Beautiful lot on Ponce de Leon circle, running back 492 feet to North ave. and fronting 182 feet on the circle, $11,000.

New store and dwelling on Marietta street, corner Mayson and Turner's ferry road; bargain; $2,500. House and lot, Pryor street, corner 4th street, 7-8 house, lot 60x70, $1,500.

Lot 52x120 on Spring st., near Baltimore block, $2,100.

12 acre improved place, 3 1/2 miles out, $5,000. House and lot near corner Courtland and Houston renting for $18 per month, $2,100.

115x150 feet on east side of Young st., between Chambers and Gullatt, $3,000.

House and lot, Pryor street, corner Wheat and Jackson, lot 53x137, $4,500.

6 1/2 acres near Belt line, $2,500.

Lot 118x150 Ponce de Leon circle, $3,500.

Lot 147x95 on Peachtree, fronting Mr. Henry Leonard's home, $11,000.

Lot on Juniper st. 53x250, near new residences of Colonel Avery, Professor Barili, Dr. Brockett and others, $5,500.

We have the property of the Peters Land Co., and can sell you a lot at reasonable figures and on easy terms.

Old, improved, and acreage property in all directions. Give us a call if you wish to buy or sell.

Loney to loan on real estate.

A. J. WEST & CO.

Church's Improved

Abastatine,

FOR WALLS AND CEILINGS.

THE WEEK IN SOCIETY.

THE BRILLIANT WEDDINGS THE PRINCIPAL EVENTS.

What This Week Will Bring to the People of Atlanta and Their Friends—Points About People You Know.

The wedding of the week has been quite the most brilliant feature of society, and from their happy as well as the social prominence of the young people will be long remembered by the best of friends who were fortunate enough to witness them. St. Philip's Episcopal church was transformed into a perfect lower of beauty Wednesday, the occasion of the Johnson-Clark wedding, and in its superb decorations, artistic groupings of the bride and groom, and the brilliant assemblage of guests, was a picture long to be remembered. The Hickey-Sanders wedding, occurring the next evening at the spacious home of the bride, was perfect in its details of elegant simplicity, and brought together many guests to the young couple's home.

But the spring season of gaiety exists more on paper than in reality; for who cares for the formal dinner or German when the waltzes are full of beautiful flowers, waiting to be gathered, and the lengthening days, growing more and more balmy, bring with them innumerable drives and walks, to give place later on to delicious, lazy afternoon of alternate reading and sleeping?

A few informal affairs have been given by the past which are spoken of with enthusiasm by the guests. These have been chiefly in the nature of parties, and similar outings. On Friday, Master Astell Thornton gave an evening to his school-mates and a number of friends, at his father's country place near Vinings Station, which was a delightful affair, of that nature which most children prefer. After a long romp in the woods a delicious collation was served in the uniquely beautiful house. Young Master Thornton, by his engaging manners and savoir faire as host, shows most plainly that he is the true son of his father, and as one must, in addition to this, in this case, of his mother also.

In addition to the children, Mr. and Mrs. Thornton entertained Mrs. Porter, Mrs. Elett, Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Stovall and Mr. Frank O'Brien. The Authors' club meeting on Friday evening was a thoroughly enjoyable affair to the many members and guests who were present. The interesting programme, which was given in detail in yesterday's paper, was admirably rendered, and enthusiastically received.

Little Miss Lucy Peel, one of Mrs. Hall's most excellent pupils, has recently done some very good work in drawing. Particularly good are her crayonings of classic heads and copies of casts, while some work in still life is also well executed.

One of the English customs which has for the moment become popular in New York, is the wedding breakfast. A very pretty idea is to have a number of little tables, and have a bridesmaid and an usher at each. Each of the tables should be decorated in the flower and color of the bride-maid who presides over it. An exquisite one was in rose color, the flowers being Catherine Meunier roses, pink shades on the candles, pink ices. Near by was one in pale green, whose flowers were orchids.

A merry picnic party of girls from the Ballard school went to the reservoir on Friday, where a most delightful afternoon was spent in gathering wild flowers. This was followed by the usual luncheon.

A fashionable country-house the candlesticks on the hall table, waiting for you to take with you to your bedroom in veritable English fashion, are many in number and kind, a hostess being best satisfied when the varieties are numerous and represent her visits all over the world. A Queen Anne candlestick of polished metal may be one, another is entirely of crystal, another is blue delft, another is Dresden china, another is a quaint one in silver, and another one is of brass polished until it is almost like gold. It bears the stamp of antiquity, and each should have its history—that is, the how and why where the hostess became possessed of it.

A napkin for every kind of food that is to be served hot seems to be a requirement of the day, and to decorate these napkins in a suitable fashion seems to be a pleasant pastime for needle-loving women. The fish napkin, made somewhat longer than the length of the plate, is plain in the center, and embroidered at the ends in tiny shells, seaweeds, or branching coral. The ends may in addition be fringed or only hemmed.

An egg napkin is pretty, embroidered with chickens in different shades of yellow silk, and a corn napkin with ears of corn, partly opened, so that the grain and silk appear. As there is not so much poetry in a realistic potato, a nonsense rhyme, or the flower and vine of the potato are wrought across the potato napkin, and the squares of linen laid on the butter dish may be embroidered with grasses or stalks representing butter balls in white or gold. A napkin for hot biscuits, which is really more of a necessity than any of these pretty fancies, may be decked with flowers or a line from the poets or "prospects" in regard to bread.

"Hammock" dresses designed for elegant wear on sultry, lazy afternoons, are announced. They are made with long, flowing Greek lines. They are steely, cushionless, half-fitting, but graceful, having no look of untidy looseness, and are made of all the latest, pretty crepe, chalis, carnies, and also of China silk, foulard and surah.

The marriage of Miss Jennie Davis to Mr. William W. Reid will take place at the home of the bride's mother, on Capitol avenue, Tuesday evening, April 29th.

The choir of St. Philip's church will sing the following selection of music at today's services:

MOORING PRAYER.
Introit—"Wait on the Lord," Reynolds.
Venite, in B flat, Woodworth.
Te Deum, in G, Thomas.
Offertory, in F, Aldrich.
Jubilate—"Come, Holy Spirit," Warren.
Nunc Dimittis, in G, Novello.
Hymns 52 and 53.

EVENING PRAYER.
Introit—"O Thou Whose Power," Whitaker.
Gloria Patri, in A flat, Puccini.
Cantate Domino, in A, and D.
Benedictus, in A flat, Danks.
Hymn 50.
Nunc Dimittis, in G, Novello.

Organist and Choirmaster.
W. DAWSON.

I know of a man who was cured of a forty year old sore on his leg by Bull's Sarsaparilla, and a lady who had been cured of erysipelas which doctors failed to benefit.—Joseph D. Andrews, Mitchell county, Ga.

PROGRAMME
Of the Annual Sunday Services as Arranged by the Veterans' Association of Fulton County for April 27th, Next.

1. Hymn—"Come Thou Fount of every Blessing."
2. Prayer—By Rev. A. G. Thomas, M. D.
3. Song—"An I Soldier of the Cross."
4. Reading of the Scriptures and remarks by General C. A. Evans, D. D.
5. Song—"There is a Fountain Filled with Blood."
6. Remarks by Rev. J. N. Craig, D. D.
7. Song—"Stand up! Stand up for Jesus."
8. Remarks by Rev. John W. Jones, D. D.
9. Song—"Shall We Meet Beyond the River."
10. Benediction by Chaplain Rev. T. F. Cleveland.

All of the pastors are requested to announce this service in their churches Sabbath morning. All army chaplains, all clergymen and every body are cordially invited to come out with us. It is desired to make the service as much as possible like the services held in camp during the war.

Accountant and commercial examiner. Particulars books and public officers' accounts examined and settled. Office 27½ Whitehall street, day.

A Novelty.
Irish linen note paper sold by the pound with envelopes to match at John M. Miller's, 241 Marietta street.

Money to Loan.
Southern Home Building and Loan Association for 15½ S. Broad Street. Call for pamphlet. 38-17.

Bradycene cured Headaches for J. E. Clarke, Wilson, N. C.

AKRON is the county seat of Washington county and the end of the division of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad, one hundred and twelve miles east of Denver. The offices of the railroad officials, round-house and shops and eating-house are here. Akron is the leading city and the great railroad center of eastern Colorado. The population is increasing more rapidly than any other town in the west. We have here gold, silver, lead, iron, coal, lime, cement, mines; elegant building stone; the best of fire clay, natural gas and mineral springs; a soil unsurpassed for fertility; a rolling country, free of pure water and abundant rains.

Resolutions. The following resolutions were adopted at a recent meeting of the board of trade: Whereas, the property owners of Akron having placed a large number of lots in the hands of the secretary of the board of trade, one-third of which are to be given free of charge, to persons in all parts of the United States. Resolved, that the secretary be authorized to extend sufficient agency in newspaper advertising, circulars and such printed matter as may be required to bring before the people of the United States the advantages Akron offers for investment, business and residences, and that the property placed in his hands for free distribution shall be distributed as he may deem proper.

By JOHN R. CALDER, Secretary. Pres't of Board of Trade, Akron, Col.

We want and are going to have men of enterprise to work our gold, silver and coal mines. We want parties to enlarge our hotel facilities. We want masons and carpenters to erect residences and business blocks. We want laborers in our lime, cement and brick works. We want capitalists to increase our manufacturing. We want business men, active, wide-awake, to take charge of our stores and business houses, to buy and sell goods. We want 25,000 active, energetic farmers—no dukes need apply—to occupy the thousands of acres of Government land lying tributary to Akron.

What we want is to get people here. Come and see Akron for yourself. We insist that every one going west shall stop at Akron. Our board of trade will make us welcome. We have big-hearted people here, generous and noble. The board of trade is amply supplied with money to entertain strangers.

THE BOARD OF TRADE of Akron are determined our town shall grow and property increase in value rapidly, and they feel the only way to accomplish this will be to give strangers an interest in the prosperity of our city, and further bring all who will come to Akron, that they may see for themselves the great future prosperity in store for them, and in addition, interest them as well in the city and country. Get these strangers to invest in the business and trade and manufacturing; locate them on improved farms or on government land, as they may wish. To this end we are arranging FIVE GRAND EXCURSIONS from all parts of the country, in the next five months, commencing with April 22d, then May 20th, September 9th and 23d, October 14th, thirty days' limit from day of sale with privilege of stop off west of Mouse river, to Akron and Denver, and in order that the incoming visitors shall have a decided monetary interest in the town, the board has placed at the disposal of the secretary a number of valuable building lots, with instructions to send a deed for one of these lots to each reader of this advertisement, who may send his or her name to the secretary with 25 cents to pay notary fees and postage. These lots are a free gift, and entirely unencumbered, each deed containing an abstract of title from the government; the taxes paid for 1890. Many of these lots are worth now $100 each. On December 11th, 1889, an excursion was run from Denver to Akron, when lots in the same ward sold at auction from $15 to $250.

The giving of these lots free is no scheme or trick, but a straightforward, enterprising business effort by enterprising people to legitimately build up our city. There is no obligation on the part of the holder of this deed to visit Akron this summer, but we know that a large number will be induced to come. All we ask of those who stay at home is that they talk Akron and send their friends. With all this enterprise back of it, the city is sure to grow, and grow fast, and the lots that are now worth $100 cash, should by fall, when the street cars get to running, be worth from $500 to $1,500. These are facts, we mean business and want you to own a town lot and come to Akron.

The Denver, Col., Daily News, in its issue of Feb. 10th, says: "Real estate in Akron has advanced 25 per cent in the last 60 days, and advice from the East indicates a wonderful immigration of the class of people that will make Akron a great city. The Government land within the Akron land district will be taken up by actual settlers. Akron will put in a $25,000 water system this spring, and the business men of Akron have purchased for $100,000 in city lots as an advertisement to the city and its future. The Burlington railroad shipped the grain in free. This matter was taken hold of for the purpose of encouraging the farmers to plant a large acreage of diversified crops."

A very interesting article appears in this issue of our paper, striking and decidedly American in the characteristics of enterprise and push. The citizens of Akron, Col., through their Board of Trade, are determined to make their town prosperous through the only means that has ever made any place prosperous, and that is the gifts of property to settlers. Their method of giving strangers part and parcel with themselves in the shape of city lots that have been sold at auction from $15 to $250, and further providing transportation by special trains across the continent, with the privilege of stopping over at the Rocky Mountains for a nominal price, is certainly enterprising to the highest degree. We have heard of town lot schemes before. In nearly every case, we believe, they have turned out to be fraudulent in some respect, but this method of building a city and pushing it, is entirely different from any of these alleged "town lot free schemes." In this case the town lots are not the object, but the occasion of giving people to come and be citizens of the city.

The Board of Trade wisely recognize the fact that "where your treasure is, your heart will be also," and know if any one has a valuable piece of property in a growing, thriving Western town, at some time or other, he will find his way out there. The investments by gift of $100,000 or $150,000 in city lots as an advertisement to the city and its future, are certain to draw thousands of people to Akron, and make it at once a great thriving city. Farmers take up the government land, and make it a great thriving city. Trade and commerce will be attracted, and the few facts that are given to bring this about, will increase its value enormously, and at the same time increase the value of all other parts of the town to a corresponding degree.

The Board of Trade do not state in their advertisement how long this free distribution of lots will last, but we presume it will be on the plan—first come, first served—and we cannot wonder that the citizens of Akron, Col., and secure one of these lots while they may be had.—Toledo Blade.

CLUB TRIPS TO COLORADO. Interest twelve of your neighbors in Akron. We will send you plenty of information, so you can talk it up. Get their names, and send them to the secretary of the Board of Trade, with 25 cents for each deed to pay notary fees and postage, and name him that these people wish a town lot. Dates of excursion are named above. It is advisable that the clubs from each locality be as large as possible, as arrangements can be made by which (if there are 50 or 75 in one party) they can have an entire car to themselves. The United States government land office is located at Akron, and the Board of Trade will locate homesteads and pre-emptions when desired.

Do you want to know about AKRON? Write to the postmaster at Akron, to Wm. Traders' Bank, Akron; J. E. Phillips, President Washington County Bank, Akron, or to any of the banks or business men of Denver. Do not fail to send your address at once, with 25 cents to pay notary fees and postage, and obtain one of our city lots, which are rapidly increasing in value. Address, JOHN R. CALDER, Secretary of the Board of Trade, Akron, Col.

H. B. ELSTON,
No. 3 - East - Alabama - Street
Fine Tailoring!

Suits Cut, Made and Trimmed
Suits and Pants sold from Sample.
Cleaning, Pressing, Repairing and Altering done Promptly on Short Notice. Come and see me. I guarantee a Fit in every case.
Call in and I will save you money.

Constructing All Kinds of Machinery
WE ARE PREPARED TO CONSTRUCT AND put in operation all kinds of machinery and machinery buildings, including saw, grist, flour, planing, fertilizer, oil mills and all machinery of whatever kind may be wanted. Setting up and improving steam and water power. We are mechanics of twenty-five years experience, and make our money with our tools, and would be glad to come or send a man of such capacity at your job may require. All the way from a grindstone to a cotton factory. We have at our disposal some of the best and most varied mechanical skill in the south, and guarantee satisfaction. We are agents for no machinery and can give you impartial advice about which machine to buy. Plans and estimates or other information furnished on application. Write to what you want. R. F. Douglass & Co., 48 Mills St., Atlanta, Ga. Ap 6-2-90

ANY ONE CAN APPLY THE PAINT. PRICE 50c per gallon. Send for circulars, and send address for paint to our agents, Tidewater Oil Co., Atlanta, Ga., Savannah, Ga., Charleston, Ga., Casey Oil Co., Nashville, Tenn., J. D. Street & Co., Birmingham, Ala. April 24-25-26

Mrs. J. R. Gregory, ARTIST.
"HOME STUDIO," 155 Courtland St., Atlanta, Ga.
Board and instruction for young ladies from a distance at moderate prices. April 20 at sun.

CONFEDERATE VETERANS.
You and your friends are cordially invited to call at my studio and have your photograph taken. I guarantee as fine work as can be had anywhere in the city at prices in my reach of all.

J. J. FABER,
28 1-2 WHITEHALL STREET.
DEAFNESS CURED. Perfectly cured. One month's treatment. Guaranteed. One month's treatment. Guaranteed. One month's treatment. Guaranteed.

TYRE DAY. Best place for professional sealers. Horse races. Cavalry tournament. Fireman and hand contests. Magnificent trades display. Grand pyrotechnic exhibitions. Open house for the guests of the merchants of Savannah. No one should fail to attend this event. One cent per mile rate from all points. Open from April 26th to May 6th, inclusive. For further information, address the secretary, "Merchants' Week," Savannah, Ga. Ap 13 to 25-90

THE ABOVE BARGAINS CAN BE HAD ONLY AT
The Surprise Store
74, 76 and 78 Whitehall St. for Street.

A SALE FOR POPULARITY.

OUR BUSINESS IS

-- MARCHING ON GLORIOUSLY --

EVER ON THE INCREASE! We would double it at a bound. We would bring all Atlanta to our store. We shall do it if prices can! The fame of our lowest prices will be the attraction. Come and bring all your friends. We shall quote you prices for guaranteed values that are perfectly amazing. We mean what we say.

Never before nor ever again will such sterling values be offered at such slaughter prices, guaranteed in every instance less than half value!

MILLINERY PERFECTION

WE USE OUR BEST EFFORTS IN COVERING EVERY POINT OF PERFECTION IN THE MILLINERY ART.

A MARVEL

MILLINERY TRIUMPH!

We please everybody and do it easily, because our utmost attention is concentrated from the start to the finish of every Hat and Bonnet turned out of our workrooms. We employ only expert trimmers. USE BEST QUALITY OF TRIMMING and quote absolutely LOWEST PRICES. This combined with our exhibit of leading imported novelties, makes our showing the finest to be seen in Atlanta.

HATS!

6 Wonderful Bargains!

Ladies' large black Hats, also Rough and Ready Straw Sallies; any hat worth 35c.

Your Choice, 15c. each.

75 dozen of ladies' fine Straw Hats, all fashionable shapes, in all the new shades, worth from 35c to 45c.

At 18c. each.

65 dozen of ladies' Lace Straw Hats, in black only; about forty shapes to select from; worth 95c.

At 48c.

189 ladies' fine Milan and Lace Straw Hats, in twenty-five shapes; all the new shades worth $1.25.

At 53c.

150 dozen of misses' Straw Hats, in white, with fancy edges; also brown, navy and ecru, worth 25c, which we will slaughter

For 12c.

65 dozen of children's Straw Sallies, in navy, brown or red, with good ribbon band and streamers, worth 25c.

To go at 12c. each.

A full line of very fine black "Leghorns" that are so scarce they are worth $2.50; but we are going to sell

For $1.75.

FLOWERS!

A bewildering variety of Flowers, such as Forget-Me-Not, Roses, Hyacinths, Narcissus, Lilacs, Daisies, Buttercups, Chrysanthemums and innumerable others, in long and short sprays at prices that render competition impossible.

Be on hand early. It will be impossible to reach the department later in the day.

100 dozen Wreaths of Wild Roses, with fine long trailing foliage and rubber stems; all colors, worth $1.25, for 50c each.

600 bunches of large double Daisies, with brown or yellow hearts; twelve daisies to the bunch, or butternuts, 35c to the bunch, at 15c a bunch.

Only 100 left of those fine long Lilac Wreaths, with good foliage; white and pink only; these are French flowers; for 75c. They are worth $1.25.

A fine bouquet containing two roses and foliage, with rubber stems, worth 40c; our price 18c.

200 dozen bunches of full blown Roses, in bunches of six; colors, white, cream, yellow, cardinal and pink; worth 35c a bunch; at 12c.

80 dozen of extra fine Hyacinth Wreaths, in white, pink, green, yellow or cream; worth 60c; at 12c per bunch.

80 bunches of Violets, 35c to the bunch, worth 35c; at 12c per bunch.

40 dozen of large Buttercup Blossoms and Daisy Wreaths, with grasses; at 25c each.

CHILDREN'S HATS AND CAPS!

OUR ASSORTMENT!

The delight and surprise of the most critical. Children's fine white corded Caps, in all sizes; sold formerly by us at 25c; now only 12c.

Fine Lawn Hats, hand-woven, that are sold in other stores for $1.50; our price 75c.

Have you seen the "Little Bess" in white, blue, pink or black? Nothing prettier made under $2; our price $1.25.

RUCHINGS.

100 box of Ruchings, with six and twelve yards to the box; to be sold Monday at 15c per box.

700 remnants of Ruching; some are long enough for neck and sleeves, while others are only neck lengths; to be sold Monday, at 1c a remnant.

600 boxes of very fine Ruching, in white, cream or black, worth from 25c to 45c per yard. Our price 25c per yard.

5,000 Gents' and Boys' Straw Hats, to be sold next week at 25c.

2,000 Gents' Milan and Mackinaw Straws, all the new shapes; other houses are selling for $1.00; our price 75c.

THE ABOVE BARGAINS CAN BE HAD ONLY AT

The Surprise Store

74, 76 and 78 Whitehall St. for Street.

OUR PRICES!

45-inch Florencings, 45c yard; down from 75c.

50c yard; down from 85c.

60c yard; down from $1.

80c yard; down from $1.25.

1.12c yard; down from $2.50.

25c yard; down from 40c.

40c yard; worth 75c.

50c yard; worth 85c.

60c yard; worth $1.

Umbrellas and Parasols.

We are selling more than any other house in Atlanta, and we guarantee our prices to be lower than all others.

25-inch Gloria Silk, with natural sticks; the value and color of this umbrella is guaranteed at 95c.

EMBROIDERIES.

A Big Bargain Sale in this department. An immense purchase to go to you at 50-75 per cent off regular prices.

45-inch Florencings, 45c yard; down from 75c.

50c yard; down from 85c.

60c yard; down from $1.

80c yard; down from $1.25.

1.12c yard; down from $2.50.

25c yard; down from 40c.

40c yard; worth 75c.

50c yard; worth 85c.

60c yard; worth $1.

CHILDREN'S CLOAKS, in White and Colors.

These are the prettiest goods that have been in Atlanta; and we guarantee our prices to be lower than all others.

They are all marked down to astonishingly low prices—from 50c to $1.95. They are worth $2 to $6.

EMBROIDERIES.

A Big Bargain Sale in this department. An immense purchase to go to you at 50-75 per cent off regular prices.

45-inch Florencings, 45c yard; down from 75c.

50c yard; down from 85c.

60c yard; down from $1.

80c yard; down from $1.25.

1.12c yard; down from $2.50.

25c yard; down from 40c.

40c yard; worth 75c.

50c yard; worth 85c.

60c yard; worth $1.

CHILDREN'S CLOAKS, in White and Colors.

These are the prettiest goods that have been in Atlanta; and we guarantee our prices to be lower than all others.

They are all marked down to astonishingly low prices—from 50c to $1.95. They are worth $2 to $6.

EMBROIDERIES.

A Big Bargain Sale in this department. An immense purchase to go to you at 50-75 per cent off regular prices.

45-inch Florencings, 45c yard; down from 75c.

50c yard; down from 85c.

60c yard; down from $1.

80c yard; down from $1.25.

1.12c yard; down from $2.50.

25c yard; down from 40c.

40c yard; worth 75c.

50c yard; worth 85c.

60c yard; worth $1.

CHILDREN'S CLOAKS, in White and Colors.

These are the prettiest goods that have been in Atlanta; and we guarantee our prices to be lower than all others.

They are all marked down to astonishingly low prices—from 50c to $1.95. They are worth $2 to $6.

THEY LIKE EACH OTHER.

What Men Like in Women and What Women Like in Men.

There is a certain something, which, for want of a better name, is called womanliness, and it is this which makes women attractive to men, writes the Ladies' Home Journal. A great many virtues go to make up this one great possession and they are what men like in women.

Men like, in the first place, amiability in a woman.

They like a pleasant appearance.

They like the doing of little things that are pleasant to them.

They like the comeliness of the face.

They like women whose lives and faces are always full of the sunshine of a contented mind and a cheerful disposition.

They like an ability to talk well and a knowledge of the virtue of silence.

They like a motherliness big enough to understand the wants of the older, as well as the younger boys.

They like a disposition to speak good, rather than evil of every human being.

They like sympathy—which means a willing ear for the tale of sorrow or gladness.

They like knowledge of how to dress well, which, by-the-by, doesn't mean conspicuously.

Men are most attracted by good material, plain draperies and quiet colors; not by showy colors or designs.

They like intelligence, but they prefer that the heart should be stronger than the brain.

They like a companion—a woman who has sufficient knowledge of the world and its ways to talk well with them, who is interested in their lives and their plans and in their hopes; who knows how to give a cheering word, or to listen quietly and with a tender look express the grief which the heart is feeling.

They may sometimes say that children are a bore and a nuisance, but a man shrinks from a woman who openly declares her dislike of them. A man expects the maternal instinct in a woman and is disappointed if he does not find it.

They like women to be affectionate—there never was a man yet, no matter how stern, no matter how cold, no matter how repulsive as far as his own feelings were concerned, who did not like a loving squeeze of the hand, or a tender kiss from the woman nearest him.

These are some of the things that men like in women.

Then, to give the opposite, the same writer continues:

Women, I think, like manly, not lady-like men.

They like honesty of purpose and consideration.

They like men who believe in women.

They like their opinions to be thought of some value.

They like a man who can be strong as a lion when trouble comes, and yet, if one is nervous and tired, can button up a shoe and do it with an amount of consideration that is mental and an physical brace-up.

They like a man who can take hold of the baby, convince it of his power and get it to sleep after they have been worrying with it, and walking with it, until their eyes are tired and they feel as if they had no brains left.

They like a man who is interested in their new dresses, who can give an opinion on the fit, and who is properly indignant at any article written against women.

They like a man who knows their innocent weaknesses and caters to them; who will bring home a box of candy, the last new magazine, or the latest puzzle sold on the street, that will do more for its duty in entertaining everybody for the whole evening.

They like a man who is the master of the situation—that is, who has brain enough to help a woman to decide what is the best thing to do under the circumstances, and who has wit enough to realize, when one of the fairer sex is slightly stubborn, that persuasion is more powerful than all the arguments in the world.

They like a man who likes them—who doesn't scorn their opinions, who believes in their good tastes, who has confidence in their truth, and who best of all knows that the love promised, is given him.

That's the sort of a man a woman likes, and her every sigh of satisfaction, as his virtues are mentioned, is a little prayer that says: "God bless him!"

Scrofula, humors, salt rheum, and all diseases caused or promoted by impure blood or low state of the system, are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is sold by all druggists. Try it.

LECTURE NEXT THURSDAY NIGHT.

Rev. Dr. Barnett Will Describe Some of the Scenes of His Recent Trip.

Rev. Dr. E. H. Barnett, of the First Presbyterian church, was called upon a few days ago by a delegation of ladies of the Georgia Avenue Presbyterian church. They desired to have him lecture for the benefit of their church next Thursday night. The doctor consented. There will be a very interesting service of music conducted by the young men of the Central Sunday-school orchestra. Those who attend will be well repaid. A small admission fee will be charged.

If you are troubled with your liver or kidneys take B. W. D., the greatest of all blood purifiers and germ destroyers. A safe, pleasant and reliable medicine, and undying remedy for all diseases arising from an impure state of the blood, such as syphilis, rheumatism, scrofula, indigestion, torpid liver, jaundice, diabetes, Bright's disease, a safe, speedy and sure cure for loss of manhood. Manufactured by B. W. D. Co., Phoenix City, Ala. For sale by all druggists.

BAKER'S WONDERFUL DISCOVERY Co.—Gents: I had been suffering for eight months with what the doctors pronounced enlargement of the liver, during which time I decreased in weight thirty pounds. I had two of the best physicians in Columbus; but they did me but little good. I was induced by a friend to try a bottle of Baker's Wonderful Discovery. After taking one bottle I began to improve, and after taking the second bottle I found two steady cures. I can therefore cheerfully and truthfully recommend it to all who are suffering from this terrible disease.

Very truly,
Overseer E. & P. Mills,
Columbus, Ga., July 19, 1889. Nov 3 day sun

The Finest on Earth.

The Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton railroad is the only line running Pullman's Perfected Safety Vestibuled Trains, with Clean, Light, Airy and Dining Car service between Cincinnati, Indianapolis and Chicago, and is the only line running through Reclining Chair Cars between Cincinnati, Keokuk and Springfield, Ill., and Combination Chair and Sleeping Car Cincinnati to Peoria, Ill.

And the Only DIRECT LINE between Cincinnati, Dayton, Lima, Toledo, Detroit, the Lake Regions and Canada.

The road is one of the oldest in the state of Ohio, and the only line entering Cincinnati over twenty-five miles of double track, and from its past record can more than assure its patrons speed, safety and security. Tickets on sale everywhere, and see that they read C. H. & D., either in or out of Cincinnati, Indianapolis or Toledo. E. O. McCormick, General Passenger and Ticket Agent.

Feb 21 day

Scratch Plate Engraving.

We have made arrangements whereby we are able to do all kinds of scratch plate engraving at the lowest possible price. This kind of engraving is something new and shows up in a beautiful manner. We have employed special artists for this work, and are prepared to fill your order in a satisfactory manner on the shortest notice. Send for samples and prices. The Constitution, apr 18-19

How to Buy Cigars.

It is more profitable for a retail dealer in cigars to buy from the manufacturer than from the jobber. This is a vital question for every retailer to consider.

We have saved our customers the jobber's profit for the last six years. This accounts for our steady increase in the demand for our Havana cigars which equal in taste, flavor and Spanish workmanship the best imported from Cuba, and they give entire satisfaction, for Atlanta's prominent men have been our steady customers since we established our factory.

As to the retail trade at wholesale price in Atlanta, we are the only one who guarantee to ship them to any place in the country, and we are willing at any time to take the money if they do not represent them. The buyer at all.

Smokers who pay high prices to satisfy their taste. Let them get their money's worth.

A. L. CUESTA,
Edgewood Avenue,
Atlanta, Ga.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

The Best Blood Medicine

So say Leading Physicians and Druggists, and their opinion is endorsed by thousands cured by it of Scrofula, Eczema, Erysipelas, and other diseases of the blood.

"Ayer's Sarsaparilla has won its reputation by years of valuable service to the community. It is the best."—H. S. Lang, Druggist, 22 Merrimack st., Lowell, Mass.

Dr. W. P. Wright, Paw Paw Ford, Tenn., says: "In my practice, I invariably prescribe Ayer's Sarsaparilla for chronic diseases of the blood."

Dr. R. E. Boyle, Third and Oxford sts., Philadelphia, Pa., writes: "For two years I have prescribed Ayer's Sarsaparilla in numerous instances, and I find it highly efficacious in the treatment of all disorders of the blood."

L. M. Robinson, Pharmacist, Sabina, O., certifies: "Ayer's Sarsaparilla has always been a great seller. My customers think there is no blood-purifier equal to it."

"For many years I was afflicted with scrofulous running sores, which, at last became so bad the doctors advised amputating my leg to save my life. I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla and soon saw an improvement. After using about two dozen bottles the sores were healed. I continue to take a few bottles of this medicine each year, for my blood, and am no longer troubled with sores. I have tried other reputed blood-purifiers, but none does so much good as Ayer's Sarsaparilla."—D. A. Robinson, Neal, Kansas.

Don't fail to get

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

PREPARED BY

DR. J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass.

Sold by Druggists. $1, 50c, 25c. Worth $5 a bottle.

PETER LYNCH,

95 Whitehall and 7 Mitchell Sts.

DEALERS IN.

Cigars, Tobaccos, Snuff, Wines and Liquors.

CIDER, ALE, PORTER, BEER, DEMIJONS

JUGS, FLASKS, COOKS AND OTHER

GOODS BELONGING TO THE

WINE AND SPIRIT TRADE.

Fine Wines, Brandy, Rums and Whiskies made specialty of. Also Guns, Pistols, Cartridges,

Powder, Shot and other Ammunitions. Grass,

Clover, Millet, Corn and other Field Seeds. Irish

Potatoes, Onion Sets, English Peas, Bush and Cornfield Beans. Also nearly all such garden seeds as are sown in this section of country. Fresh and genuine. I yet keep up the name of keeping nearly everything. 100 empty wine and spirit barrels for sale. Prices reasonable. TERMS CASH.

RAILROAD COMMISSION

TARIFFS.

SEND IN COPIES TO THE CONSTITUTION JOB

Office and receive a copy of the classification of freight and passenger rates by the Georgia

Railroad Commission revised to March 1st. This pamphlet will tell you the rate per 100 pounds to be charged by the railroad on any commodity, and is of great value to merchants. ma-96dt

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

ATTORNEYS.

DANIEL W. ROUNTREE, COUNSELLOR AT LAW,

10 and 71 Gate City Bank Building, Atlanta, Ga.

Telephone 100. Georgia reports bought, sold and exchanged. 1-12

ERNEST C. KONTZ, ATTORNEY AT LAW,

Room 43, Gate City Bank Building, Atlanta, Ga. 10-19

J. E. VAN VALKENBURG, W. D. CARSWELL,

VAN VALKENBURG & CARSWELL, LAWYERS

99 Richardson building, Chattanooga, Tenn.

Practice in the courts of Tennessee and in the Cherokee circuit of Georgia. Telephone 428. jan18-49m

Wm. A. Haygood, Hamilton Douglas,

HAYGOOD & DOUGLAS, ATTORNEYS AT LAW,

Office 17 1/2 Peachtree, Atlanta, Ga. 10-19

DORSEY & HOWELL, ATTORNEYS AT LAW,

Offices 4 and 5, No. 27 1/2 Whitehall street. Telephone No. 520. 7-10-19

EDMUND W. MARTIN, ATTORNEY AND COUNSELLOR AT LAW,

No. 55 1/2 Whitehall street, Atlanta, Ga. Telephone 612.

THOMAS WILLINGHAM, ATTORNEY AT LAW,

22 1/2 South Broad street, Atlanta, Ga. Will practice in the state and federal courts. nov14-19

W. W. LAMBDIN, ATTORNEY AT LAW,

12 1/2 East Alabama street. Telephone 373. Professional Business Solicited.

BENJAMIN H. HILL, ATTORNEY AT LAW,

Will practice in state and United States courts. Office 24 1/2 Peachtree, rooms 1 and 2. Office telephone 149—Residence 1222—three calls. 10-19

R. C. JOHNSON, I. H. JOHNSON,

JOHNSON & JOHNSON, ATTORNEYS AT LAW,

(N. J. Hammond's old office) 21 1/2 East Alabama street. ATLANTA, GA.

J. T. & A. HAMMOND,

N. ATTORNEYS AND COUNSELLORS AT LAW,

Rooms Nos. 4 and 5, Gate City Bank building, 21 1/2 East Alabama street. Commissioner for taking Depositions in Fulton county.

ARCHITECTS.

WILLIAM W. GOODRICH & SON, ARCHITECTS,

Room 44, Traders' Bank building. ATLANTA, GA. Take Elevator. 9-17-19

EDMUND G. LIND, ARCHITECT,

63 1/2 Whitehall Street, corner of Hunter. feb 21 day

L. B. WHEELER, ARCHITECT, ATLANTA, GA.

Office fourth floor Chamberlin & Boynton building corner Whitehall and Hunter streets. Take elevator. 10-19

STAINED GLASS MANUFACTURERS.

DECORATORS IN PRESICO, FAUSE, SCHROETER & CO.,

6 North Broad street. Branch office 1453 Broadway, New York. 1921-19

CIVIL ENGINEERS.

R. M. Hall, James R. Hall, Max Hall,

HALL BROTHERS,

Room No. 63, Gate City National Bank building, Atlanta, Ga. General surveying, city works, mines, quaries, water powers, water works. Construction superintendence. apr 13-19

SURGERY.

TO THE MEDICAL PROFESSION: SPECIAL SURGERY

And the medical and surgical treatment of Hemorrhoidal and rectal diseases.

nov 12-19

C. C. DIVINE, M.D., 10 1/2 Whitehall street.

OPIMUM HABIT CURED OR NO PAY.

nov 12-19

Address John W. Nelson, 24 1/2 Broad street, Atlanta, Ga., or Dr. J. A. Nelson, Smyrna, Ga. mar 22-19-19

THREE LITTLE TOTS.

We are three little tots as you can see,
Our mother has a school of twenty-four,
She let out the roof to W. W. C.,
And it never leaks, rain hail or snow.

Imperfect ventilation in the school-house or nursery often produces a cold in early days that may in after years result in Consumption or Rheumatism. Rheumatism follows and acid condition of the blood; assimilation is not perfect. A spell of damp or cold weather seriously interferes with travel, possibly by making the pain more acute. Start in early life to keep the blood cleansed; one dollar invested in a good Blood Alternative in your teens may save months of suffering and hundreds of dollars in the prime of life. W. W. C. has made marvelous cures of Rheumatism and Blood Poison in violent forms. Has cured chronic cases of Kidney and Liver diseases.

Woolridge's Wonderful Cure Co., Columbus, Ga.

GENTS:—Last spring I was suffering very much from Rheumatism, hardly able to get about and attend to my business, and general health was bad, when I was induced to try W. W. C. (Woolridge's Wonderful Cure), and must say that I now feel as well as I ever did; no pains of Rheumatism, and my general health is better than it has been for years. I would advise all who suffer from Rheumatism to give W. W. C. a trial.

Yours respectfully, J. S. H. LAMB.

Sold by all druggists. Manufactured by Woolridge's Wonderful Cure Co., COLUMBUS, GA.

THE CELEBRATED

Dyspepsia Water

BLUE RIDGE SPRINGS, VA.

NATURE'S WONDERFUL REMEDY!

A doctor learned in medical lore may safely prescribe for his patients a certain quantity of pills and potions, but he cannot presume to rival the exactness and completeness of Nature's Laboratory, in which are wrought remedial agents fresh from the gracious hand of the Great physician.

HUNDREDS OF CERTIFICATES CAN BE SHOWN bearing grateful tribute to its remarkable virtue. Read the following:

FROM DR. H. G. LEIGH, PETERSBURG, VA.

I have been using the water of Blue Ridge Springs in my practice for the past six years, and have found it invaluable in the treatment of Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Disorders of the Liver, Constipation and Chronic Rheumatism. It is peculiarly adapted to those diseases from the South where the stomach and liver are deranged.

My wife had been a great sufferer from Dyspepsia for years, had used various medicines and mineral waters, amongst them the Allegheny waters of Virginia and the Gettysburg waters of Pennsylvania, but without any relief until she resumed the waters of the Blue Ridge Springs. She has now been entirely relieved, and relies on this article of diet she may please.

I consider this water equal, if not superior, to any mineral water I have ever used in the diseases above mentioned. Yours truly,

H. G. LEIGH, M. D.

FROM MRS. T. M. OSMENT, CLEVELAND, TENN., MARCH 22, 1887.

I can most heartily add my testimony to the virtue of the Blue Ridge water, and what I have to say for it is the most that can be said of any remedial power, and that is, that my health is absolutely dependent upon it. My only escape from invalidism is to keep up my general health, and this the Blue Ridge water does for me, when specialists and medicines have failed. I use it as a constancy, because without tonic influence my vitality runs down. Nothing can make me robust, and nothing is therefore curative, but this water has been a God-send to me, and I wish all dyspeptics and all with exhausted vitality could have the same faith in it that I have and test it as fully. Yesterday, I sent one of my empty cases to be refilled for a friend, and hope to receive it soon. I am urging another friend to try it. You are at liberty to publish whatever you choose to extract from this letter. Very truly,

(NOTE.—Mrs. Osmont has been using the Blue Ridge water regularly for the past eight years.—PHIL. F. BROWN.)

So satisfactory is the evidence that the waters of this Spring contain medical qualities of the highest order, that a company has been organized to place its merits prominently before the public, and a trial only is asked to convince the most skeptical.

For sale by all druggists.

THE LAMAR DRUG CO.

GENERAL AGENTS.

april 23-2m-wed fri sun wky

Architectural Iron Work

Building Castings a Specialty.

ESTABLISHED 1875.

Columns, Lintels, Sidewalk Grating, Open

and Glass or Prismatic.

Our IRON STORE FRONTS can be seen in any southern city from Asheville, N. C., and Harrodsburg, Ky., to Jacksonville, Fla., and Brunswick, Ga.

MANUFACTURERS OF

Marbelized Iron Mantels, Grates, etc., Hard

Wood Cabinet Mantels,

The Hearths, Tile Facings, Floor and Vestibule Tiling.

Write for cut and description of our "Cathill Grate," the cleansing and best adapted to our southern climate of any grate made. Address,

THE CAHILL IRON WORKS, near-day sun 126 East Eighth Street, Chattanooga, Tenn.

ATLANTA MACHINE WORKS

L. H. BECK, President. JOHN CAREY, Sec. and Treas. W. COOK, Supt.

FOUNDERS AND MACHINISTS!

MANUFACTURERS OF

THE COOK IMPROVED ABSORPTION ICE MACHINE,

Boilers, Smoke Stacks, Tanks, Shaftings, Pulleys, Hangers, Saw Mills, Mill Gearing, Gold Mining

Machinery, and Castings of all descriptions. General Repair Work attended to promptly.

Corner Georgia Railroad and King Sts., Atlanta, Ga. Telephone No. 66.

EIGHT MILLION

Dollars for public and private outlay in Atlanta this year ought to require an expenditure of

ONE MILLION

Dollars in Furniture. One-fourth of which I expect to sell.

100 Solid Oak Side Boards. 300 Solid Oak, Cherry and Walnut Chamber Suits.

100 Beautiful Parlor Suits. 30 Leather Suits. Lustrous Beautiful Cheval Suits, only $30.

Beautiful Solid Oak Beds, only $35. 100 Light Hotel Beds, only $12. 25 Very Handsome Oak Dining Tables. 25 New Folding Beds.

H. L. WILSON,

AUCTIONEER.

WASHINGTON HEIGHTS!

FOR SALE AT AUCTION.

APRIL 29TH, 1890, AT 2:30 O'CLOCK P. M.

50

Keep this paper before you. It will remind you of the hour and day of sale. This is close in, central. No such real estate has been offered at public outcry before in Atlanta, either for residences or as an investment, and every lot will be sold upon its merit. The blocks have been graded at a heavy expense, making this hill the most desirable location for a gentleman's home in the city of Atlanta. When you erect an elegant home for your family on this street you know that your neighbor will do the same thing. You must go upon the ground to fully appreciate these lots. We will begin the sale promptly at 3 o'clock, offering the most valuable lots first, and continue until every one is sold.

Take Washington street cars at Pryor and Alabama street at 3:20. Cars will leave every 20 minutes for Washington Heights. Every lady and gentleman in the city is invited to attend this sale. You will find it a pleasant ride to the most delightful part of the city. You will certainly find hundreds of your friends there, and in all probability invest where you will realize big profits. 'Tis worth a visit to Washington Heights any clear afternoon to witness the magnificent sunset in the west. This is about the last specially desirable and valuable central residence property on the market. When this is disposed of purchasers must go out into the suburbs and be content with less desirable places. Then come now while the opportunity is before you and secure your lot, where your family will always be happy and satisfied and your real estate will annually enhance in value.

PRYOR STREET.

93	79
92	80
91	81
90	82
89	83
88	84
87	85
86

10 FOOT ALLEY.

PULLIAM ST.

50

BENNING STREET.

78	3
77	4
76	5
75	6
74	7
73	8
72	9
71	10
70	11
69	12
68	13
67	14
66	15
65	16
64	17
63	18

10 FOOT ALLEY.

VASSAR STREET.

62	19
61	20
60	21

50

M. & J. HIRSCH.

MONTGOMERY ST.

40
39
38
37
36 35
34
33
32
31 30
29
28
27

JEFFERSON ST.

26
25
24
23
22

20 FOOT ALLEY.

N

H. L. WILSON, Auctioneer.---WASHINGTON HEIGHTS---FOR SALE, APRIL 29th, 1890.

Call and get a plat of those beautiful lots on Washington Heights to be sold at auction Tuesday, April 29, at 2:30 o'clock. You may ride over the entire city of Atlanta and examine the various streets and points of value and attraction, but nowhere will you find a location superior to this grand hill. The views from these heights are magnificent. Pure and sparkling water is in every well. The air is pure, fresh and delightful. Elegant, expensive houses will be erected after this sale, furnishing homes for the cultured, refined and wealthy. Here is a safe place for your family. Here is a safe place for your money, because it will enhance in value each succeeding year. The choice lots on our best thoroughfares and avenues are being bought up so rapidly that thinking men of means are securing the lots now to build permanent houses upon. Then drive out Washington street by the capitol of Georgia and pass those grand churches and schools, examine the palatial residences on either side and look with admiration and true pleasure at the beautiful lawns and yards, with their carpets of grass and rare flowers, and an occasional wide-spreading shade tree—stop right here upon Washington Heights and examine your plat—be sure to select your lot before leaving, for now is the most opportune time you will ever have to secure such property under such favorable circumstances, with such liberal terms. No man ever made a mistake in buying such prominent real estate as this is in Atlanta. Stop a moment and think what it was worth 1, 3, 5, 10 years ago—then figure what it necessarily will be worth five years from now. Nothing on earth will pay such profits as these very lots will yield you. As soon as the cars are extended out Washington you can leave the heights after breakfast and in the Kimball house or your office in ten minutes. Terms unusually easy. Will furnish cheap money to build if you desire it.

H. L. WILSON, Real Estate Agent, 3 Kimball House, Pryor Street.

NOVELTIES

IN CUT GLASS,
STERLING SILVER TABLEWARE AND BRICA-BRAC.

FREEMAN & CRANKSHAW
111 Col. St.

PILES

Cured by your own hands.
No medicine,
no surgery,
no pain.
DANIEL WOLF'S PILE CURE, 10c;
Druggists or mail. Manufactured by Mexican Pile Cure Company, Fifteen building, Atlanta, Ga.
Other remedies relieve, ours cures without pain.
March 19-21

OPIUM

and Whiskey Habits cured at home without pain. Book of particulars sent 25c.
J. M. WOOLLEY, M.D.,
Atlanta, Ga. Office 1045 Whitehall St.

MAIER & BERKELE,
SUCCESSORS TO

A. L. Delkin & Co.,
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL

Jewelers,
Are offering Special Bargains to reduce stock before putting in fresh goods.

93 WHITEHALL STREET,
Feb. 16-17 1st col 8 pg

Geo. W. Adair, Auctioneer.

11 WEST END LOTS 11
ON LEE AND PARK STREETS.

I WILL SELL UPON THE PREMISES, ON Tuesday 2nd instant, at 3 o'clock sharp, eleven of the choicest suburban lots around the city.
They are situated in the very center of West End, convenient to street car line, brick sidewalks churches and schools.
The Park street lots are all beautifully shaded.
Every lot is a gem.
Get a plot, go out and select a lot, attend the sale and buy it, where the air is pure, water good, neighborhood unexcelled, taxes cheap and everything lovely.
Terms one-fourth cash; balance one, two and three years at 8 per cent or all cash.
Titles perfect.

G. W. ADAIR,
15, 20, 22, 24, 26, 27, 28 and 29

G. W. ADAIR, REAL ESTATE.

I have for sale a beautiful, elevated, corner lot,
345x330, in West End; owner moved away.

A large, well-improved lot; good surroundings;
in West End.

A beautiful vacant lot on Richardson street, near Forsyth.

A splendid 7-acre tract on dummy line; this side
Confederate home; part of Ormewood.

And a No. 1 plant of 6 lots; one-half block from Whitehall street.

24 elegant shaded lots in East Atlanta; a good speculation.

60x120, with 5-room house, on Capitol avenue.
Property in every part of the city.

G. W. ADAIR,

5 Kimball House, Wall St.

G. W. ADAIR, AUCTIONEER

Mrs. Ballard's Female Institute Building on Peachtree Street.

I WILL SELL UPON THE PREMISES, ON Thursday, May 1st, at 4 p. m., that splendid central property opposite the executive mansion, on Peachtree street, lot 10x29, with the street front, upon which stands the elegant brick building, "The Atlanta Female Institute," containing 33 large, well-ventilated rooms, with closets, hall, bath rooms, storage, coal and cook rooms, water, gas and sewer connection all complete. The building was constructed under the direction of Captain English, S. M. Inman and a thoroughly competent architect, is complete in all points; is peculiarly adapted for a first-class "tony" fashionable hotel. The highest point in the city and the most fashionable street in Atlanta. Capitalists are invited to inspect the building any day before the sale. Titles perfect. Possession July 1st, 1890.
Terms—One-third cash, 1/2 and 3 years; 7 per cent

G. W. ADAIR.

H. L. WILSON,

Auctioneer.

WASHINGTON HEIGHTS

FOR SALE

AT AUCTION!

April 29, at 2:30 o'clock, P. M.

THESE LOTS ARE JUST SOUTH OF OR-mewood street, and is absolutely the finest and most desirable elevated and healthy portion of Atlanta. The magnificent state capitol, the pride of Georgia, fronts upon this street. Several of the first churches in the city, where thousands of our best citizens worship, are on this street.
Bankers, capitalists, merchant princes live upon Washington street. This is the home of our distinguished United States senator. Some of the most elegant and costly mansions ever built in the south are upon Washington street. Here is a beautifully graded and paved street, with curb stones and brick sidewalks all laid and ready for use; with street cars running through every 7 1/2 minutes.

A large amount of money has been spent in making Washington Heights the grandest spot in Atlanta. Many have waited patiently for an opportunity to buy one of these lots. The time is here. Now is your chance. This property has no superior in the city. Washington street has long been considered to be one of the most fashionable and desired drives in the city. You will be handsonely pleased to see the many elegant and stylish carriages filled with the beautiful and elite of the city, rushing along to the heights for a pleasant ride and to look upon our immense city in every direction. Now is your time to buy upon this grand thoroughfare. Never again will they be so cheap. None are excluded. Our terms are exceedingly liberal.—1/3 cash, balance in 6, 12 and 18 months. Should you wish to pay all cash and yet wish to build and need funds, we will advance the money for the same at 6 per cent.
Call for plans or information upon.

H. L. WILSON, or
W. M. SCOTT & CO.

Real Estate Agents, 3 and 5 Kimball House, Pryor Street.

WASHINGTON SEMINARY,

ATLANTA, GA.

Boarding and Day School for Girls. The KIN-
GSGARTEN is in charge of Miss Anna Palmer.

MUSIC SCHOOL is under the direction of Miss M. H. BAKER STEWART.

Principal.

VAMPIRE OF MEXICO.

A Traveler Describes an Attack by the Bloodthirsty Bat.

From the Springfield Republican.

There are a few very learned gentlemen—naturalists, I believe they style themselves—who argue that there is no such thing as a vampire or bloodsucking bat. Gentlemen, I am humble and unknown, except in my own narrow sphere of life, and, compared with yourselves, stand as a candle to the noonday sun; yet I venture to contradict you, and state that if you had passed through a little experience of mine you would undoubtedly change your views. I have not only seen these vampires, but I very nearly lost my life by them.
An abbreviated account was published in the times in a few obscure Mexican papers as a matter of news. Translations may have appeared in English papers, but I think not. If so, they must have been incomplete, and it remains for me to present the facts of the case to an English reading public.

It was in the early part of June, 1889, I was traveling for a San Antonio paper and printing house and was just returning from a trip to the extreme southern portion of Mexico. I was on my way from Oajaca to Tuxtla and Vera Cruz, on the Gulf coast, intending to take a train at the latter place for the states. It was one of the most uncomfortable journeys I had ever undertaken. I had ridden for the better part of two days in a volanteche, a vehicle with two wheels and no seat, the bottom being made of ropes holding up a mattress, on which I could either recline or sit. The Mexican people have power consisted of three little mules abreast, spurred on by a worthy native, Jose by name, who alternately rode the left hand mule and ran alongside, reeling off a string of Spanish profanity that was positively shocking whenever the little animals would not go exactly as he wished them to. The road was one of the roughest I ever traveled over. The rocking and pitching of the volanteche reminded me more than anything else of a vessel in a storm at sea;
only it was worse.

It was nearing night when we drew up at a small place called Oxite. There had, in times gone by, been quite a collection of houses at Oxite, but now, since the pack trains no longer passed through there, the main road having been somewhat changed, and running three leagues to the south, there were nothing there habitable but the posars, or hotel, which, in its day, had been quite a large building. The walls of a court, with sheds and sleeping apartments on the inside, showed its former dimensions, but only four of all the rooms were in a fit condition for a human being to live in. All in all, the building had a deserted and forlorn appearance. The regular inhabitants of the place were limited to three souls, Senor Don Tivurcio Beltran, his wife and daughter.

After supper I sat on the host's veranda with his family, chatting as well as my limited powers as a linguist would permit. Miss Juanita entertained me by singing several old Spanish and Mexican ballads in a way that thrilled me. She was very pleasant, and with regret that I heard Don Tivurcio's polite offer to show me my quarters for the night. My room was one somewhat removed from the others, and furnished, as well as I remember, with a broken stool, a jar of water and bull's hide; the latter, I know from experience, was my bed, so spreading my blanket upon it I lay down, but sleep I could not. The night was calm, the apartment poorly ventilated, and there seemed to be a thousand creeping things on my body. I bore this as long as possible, and then, seizing my blanket, rushed out into the open air. After walking about, and, I spread my blanket under a stunted palm some distance from the house and, disrobing, I gave each of my garments a good shaking, and, having donned them, I lay down, determined to sleep as much of the night as possible.

"Here," I said, "it is cool; I can sleep here."
The thousand voices of a tropic night seemed to invite to slumber and my feet were already on the threshold of dreamland when there came a breezy, whistling sound, and what I took to be a large night bird swept past me, actually brushing my face. I must say this was rather startling, but looking about me and seeing nothing I lay down again. Scarcely were my eyes closed before the rustling was heard again. Though this time its wings did not touch me, the creature passed quite near enough to bring a decided coolness to my face.
I am not superstitious, but am ready to confess that just then every wild story and legend of ill-omened birds that I have ever heard or read came back to me with remarkable force, and for the moment I was as much terrified as a child listening to a blood-curdling ghost story.
I lay still, however, for what else was left me?
"It will never do," I said, "to go back to the house; I can never sleep in there, and—" those wings again! They came regularly as the movements of a clock. Yes, with ever fascinating precision, and fascinating in the word, for those wings now had an interest for me akin to magnetism. The regularity with which they came and went seemed analogous to the well-timed passes of an mesmerist. Once more—they are here and gone! I was waiting anxiously now each time for their coming, and I remember thinking that the failure of my neral visitor to put in an appearance at the proper moment would render me wretched.
"Now," I said, "I can sleep," and I slept.

"I my mind there is nothing but sleep as regards the remainder of that night. I have a faint recollection of placing my hand on my neck and being startled when it came in contact with a large, living something—a something that struggled in my hand and was fastened to my cheek, near the left temple, and yet another to my chin, and a third to my throat, which I had left bare, owing to the want of the night. Even in my semi-conscious state
I was aware that these creatures were drawing the life tide from my veins, but I had neither the strength nor inclination to rid myself of them. An utter indifference came over me.
My mind was troubled by no regrets as to things past or misgivings in regard to the things of the future; for once in my life, at least, I experienced a sense of absolute rest.
Another moment and sleep was upon me. Not a dreamless sleep, though. It seemed that I was passing at midnight within some elusive grove, while the air was heavy with the breath of countless rare and beautiful flowers.
Strange, shadowy forms, borne on huge pignons, circled about me, but never reaching me; they cooled my fevered frame and I felt no dread of them whatever.

But at last I awoke. I was aroused by the frightened cries of Juanita. She was holding my head in her arms and I remember hearing her say: "Awake, sir! awake! You should not sleep—My God! The blood! The blood!
O, mother, come at once. The poor American has been killed by the vampires. My God, what can I do? He is dead!" Then I felt one of her hands as she placed it over my heart. I remember hearing her say, joyfully: "No; he yet lives. God, I thank thee!" And then I lost consciousness.

It was five weeks before I recovered sufficiently to continue on my journey. Never in my life was I treated with more kindness than by Don Tivurcio, his wife and daughter.

Fashionable Tailoring.
Mr. H. B. Elston, No. 3 East Alabama street, is prepared to do all kinds of tailoring. The fact that he guarantees his work in every particular is evidence of his sincerity. He has a full line of samples. Call and see him. He doubtless can save you considerable money. April 27

Southern Home
Building and Loan Association, 221-23 S. Broad street. Call and get pamphlet giving full information. 30-47

Ed. L. Grant,
Sign Painter, 53 Peachtree, phone 604. Signs and banners made and shipped anywhere. Glass, beam, and wall advertising signs. April 27

Money Made by Buying your note paper by the pound from John H. Miller, 31 Marietta street. 31-47

PURE.....SOLUBLE.....CHEAP.

Rich. Digestible. Stimulating. Nourishing.
Having a peculiarly delicious flavor—a food and drink combined—at a half cent a cup and fit for a prince.

Van Houten's Cocoa

"BEST & GOES FARTHEST."

Van Houten's Cocoa ("once tried, always used") was invented and patented and is made in Holland. It is acknowledged by the most eminent doctors and analyzed by the special treatment Van Houten's Cocoa has undergone, the solubility of the flesh-forming constituents is increased fifty per cent., while the whole of the fibres are softened and rendered more palatable and digestible.
"Largest sale in the world." Ask for VAN HOUTEN'S and take no other. 51

BEECHAM'S
PAINLESS PILLS EFFECTUAL.

WORTH A GUINEA A BOX.

For BILIOUS & NERVOUS DISORDERS

Such as Wind and Pain in the Stomach, Fullness and Swelling after Meals, Dizziness, and Drowsiness, Cold Chills, Flushings of Heat, Loss of Appetite, Shortness of Breath, Costiveness, Scurvy, Blisters on the Skin, Disturbed Sleep, Frightful Dreams, and all Nervous and Trembling Sensations, &c.

THE FIRST DOSE WILL GIVE RELIEF IN TWENTY MINUTES.

BEECHAM'S PILLS FOR WOMEN TO RESTORE FEMALES TO COMPLETE HEALTH.

For Sick Headache, Weak Stomach, Impaired Digestion, Constipation, Disordered Liver, &c., they ACT LIKE MAGIC, Strengthening the muscular system, restoring long-lost Complexion, bringing back the keen edge of appetite, and arousing with the ROBEUR OF HEALTH the whole physical energy of the human frame. One of the best guarantees to the Nervous and Debilitated is that BEECHAM'S PILLS HAVE THE LARGEST SALE OF ANY PROPRIETARY MEDICINE IN THE WORLD.

Prepared by J. C. BEECHAM, St. Helena, Lancashire, England.
Sold by Druggists generally. S. F. ALLEN CO., 365 and 367 Canal St., New York.
Sole Agents for the United States. Druggists do not keep them! WILL MAIL
BEECHAM'S PILLS ON RECEIPT OF PRICE, 25c. A BOX. (QUESTIONS THIS PAPER)

Name this paper. feb-4 sun thur top col n r m half timewy top col n r m nov

30 Million Pounds
MENIER CHOCOLATE

DRANK AND EATEN EVERY YEAR.

WHY? BECAUSE of all CHOCOLATES
It is the purest and best.

Paris Exposition, 1889 3 GRAND PRIZES.
8 GOLD MEDALS.

Ask for YELLOW WRAPPER.

—FOR SALE EVERYWHERE—
BRANCH HOUSE, UNION SQUARE, NEW YORK.

For Sale at Jacob's Pharmacy.

Good morning
Have you used
PEARS' SOAP?

DR. SCHENCK'S
SEAWEED TONIC

Is a Positive Cure for DYSPEPSIA

And all Disorders of the Digestive Organs. It is likewise a Corroborative or Strengthening Medicine, and may be taken with benefit in all cases of Debility. For Sale by all Druggists. Price, $1.00 per bottle. Dr. Schenck's New Book on Lungs, Liver and Stomach per box; 8 boxes for 65 cts.; or sent by mail on Consumption and its Cure, mailed free. Address,
Dr. J. H. Schenck & Son, Phila.

DR. SCHENCK'S
PULMONIC SYRUP

Will Cure
COUGHS, COLDS, THROAT AND LUNGS.

It is pleasant to the taste, and does not contain a particle of opium or anything injurious. It is the Best Cough Medicine in the World. For Sale by all Druggists. Price $1.00 per bottle. Address,
Dr. J. H. Schenck & Son, Phila.

PURELY VEGETABLE,
STRICTLY RELIABLE,
AND ABSOLUTELY SAFE.

For Sale by all Druggists. Price 25 cts. per bottle. Dr. Schenck's Book on Lungs, Liver and Stomach per box; 8 boxes for 65 cts.; or sent by mail on Consumption and its Cure, mailed free. Address,
Dr. J. H. Schenck & Son, Phila.

BRADFIELD'S
FEMALE REGULATOR

REGULATES ALL DISEASES AND IRREGULARITIES PECULIAR TO WOMAN

BOX TO WOMAN
MAILED FREE

BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO.,
ATLANTA, GA.

GREENE ENGINE,
40 To 2000
HORSE POWER

REGULATION UNEQUALLED

Non-Condensing
Condensing
COMPOUND.

Most economical,
durable and efficient
AUTOMATIC CUT OFF ENGINE built by the
UNITED STATES

Write for description and
List of Patrons and testimonials

PROVIDENCE STEAM ENGINE CO.
C. S. SUGGERT, PROVIDENCE, R.I.

Low Prices. HIRSCH BROS. Style.

Four Leading Points

IN OUR

MENS' BOYS' AND CHILDRENS' CLOTHING

Which we are showing in attractive variety

For the Spring Season.

Fit. 37 Whitehall St. Workmanship

GEO. S. BROWN, President. BARRINGTON J. KING, Sec. and Treas.

THE BROWN & KING SUPPLY COMP'NY

Manufacturers and Dealers in Mill Supplies, Machinery, Tools,

WROUGHT IRON PIPE,

Fitting and Brass Goods.

Agents for "Gilbert" Wood Split Pulleys. All sizes in Stock.

ATLANTA, GEORGIA.

JOSEPH S. COOK & CO.

ALL KINDS OF

MACHINERY

AND SUPPLIES

8 W. Wall St. (CENTENNIAL BUILDING.) ATLANTA, GA.

Sells and other Automatic and Plain Governor Engines, Gas Engines, Steam Engines, Iron Tanks, Pumps and Freight Elevators, Wood and Iron Working Machinery, Planes, Drives and Milling Machines, Exhaust Meters, Steam Pumps, Injectors, Valves, Shafting, &c.

CEMENT, LIME, ETC.

SCIPLE SONS,

ATLANTA, GEORGIA.

C E M E N T

F I R E

B R I C K

C L A Y

D R A I N

P I P E

S T O V E

P L A S T E R

P A R T S

M A R B L E

C H I M N E Y

T O P S

C O L U M N

A M

L E

OFFICE, NO. 8 LOYD YARDS, CORNER FAIR STREET AND C.B.R.

IN THE LEAD, AS USUAL.

FOR MEN.

We have a stock of Suits and Overcoats that have no equal for variety and styles, and the general construction and fit would do credit to any merchant tailor.

FOR YOUTHS.

We are recognized authority on Fashions, and as for the make-up and workmanship, they are, as all of our stock, manufactured by ourselves and under our personal supervision, consequently first-class.

FOR BOYS AND CHILDREN.

An inspection of this department would be more satisfactory to you and more credit to the department than columns of advertising.

EISEMAN BROS.,

Manufacturing Clothiers and Tailors,

17 AN 19 WHITEHALL STREET.

THIS PA

24

VOL. X

KEE

Vol. 1.

For th

First—Ma

val

Second—

W

Th

Third—O

see

During

torn from you may prices, th

For eveni

cobwebby s relations.

broad, decid grounds is a

$1.50 a yard

China

THIS PAPER CONTAINS 24 Pages.

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION.

SECOND PART.
Pages 13 to 24

VOL. XXI.

ATLANTA, GA., SUNDAY MORNING, APRIL 27, 1890.

PRICE FIVE CENTS.

KEELY COMPANY. KEELY COMPANY. KEELY COMPANY.

Vol. 1.

April 27, 1890.

No. 60.

THREE SOUND REASONS.

For the immediate inauguration of a Grand Limited Sale.
First—Many of the special lots now being sold at prices having no relation to values are of course Limited in quantity.
Second—The great crowding interest of our Spring business demands attention. We cannot afford to put them off. Therefore this Sale is Limited by Time.
Third—Our store, big as it is, is too small for all that we have to show you this season. Space therefore is a limitation.
During the next six days the barbed wire fence of profits will be literally torn from around the choicest merchandise in the store. Assimilate all the truth you may find in the Dry Goods advertising of the day concerning quality, style, prices, then test our stock by it and you will discover all and more fulfilled.

KEELY COMPANY.

For evening wear. Myriad misty, cobwebby sorts and their thicker relations. The most dainty and delicate light weight stuffs representing the finest lines of Paris fabrics about which numberless questions are rife, for their newness and novelty are strange. Tunisian Silk, in soft tints with broad, decided stripes on snowflake grounds is one of the richest. Price $1.50 a yard, worth $2.25.

China Silk. Figured Surah. Crepe de Chine. Crinkly Canton Crepe. Handsome Armure Brocades.

They only hint of the hundred others. Sweet spots are all the time ripening in their circles. We can't advertise one in fifty. But fair bargains to strew the pathway of pleasure with gold are here. You must ask for them. They are not on view.

Black Silk. We can't say enough of the stock. Nothing feeble or weak. No excuse places. In every particular full and complete.

Long rows of Black Silks, great in quantity, in beauty, in perfection of finish. Durable, lustrous stuffs in which the delightful sheen and sturdy strength of silk is enhanced by the latest and best process of spinning.

Black Surah Silk 75c, worth $1. Black Faille Francaise 90c, worth $1.25. Black Faille Francaise 1.15, worth $1.35. Black Silk Damasse 1.20, worth $1.45. Black Silk Antique 1.35, worth $1.60. Black Satin Duchesse 1.40, worth $1.65. Black Silk Lurex 1.50, worth $1.75. Black Peau de Soie 1.75, worth $2. Black Moire Francaise 1.85, worth $2.25.

Also numerous rare bargains in Gros Grain Silks. The prices are absolutely unrivaled in all that stands for your gain.

Remnants ranging in lengths from one to ten yards, comprising all weaves, in plain blacks, colors and fancies, shall go at about half price during this Limited Sale.

The development of the season more than substantiates all that has been claimed for our Spring Dress Goods. Shelves and counters are burdened with styles, each showing a different design or color. Whenever a particularly popular pattern disappears another, maybe prettier if possible, takes its place, and therefore the display is panoramic—continuous, ever changing in novelty and effect, and equalling in volume the sum of all competition.

New conceits opening up every day. You'll marvel that so much gayness and so many unique beauties can be. The simple mention of these remarkable preparations rivets eager attention. The main facts are:

Sixty thousand yards imported and American materials. All entirely new arrivals. Variety amply satisfactory. Quantity truly immense. Prices 15, 20, 30, 35, 40 and 50 cents, which is in every case about half value.

We know only too well that naught save the power of prices will move such colossal piles of goods at retail. They have been marked for double quick marching. Every yard offered is worthful. The only thing abnormal and unnatural is prices—too low.

Don't know of another store where Black Goods have so full and free a swing. What we do with Blacks is exactly on a level with what we do with every other sort of dress stuff—make the assortment complete and prices tempting.

Take Black Silk-warp Henriettas Priestley's standard qualities in every grade, 85c to $2. Some of them are extra wide, 50 and 72 inches.

The stock of Blacks includes Silk-and-Wool.

Drap d'Alma, Sicilian, Mourning Cloth, Nun's Veiling, Tamise, Gloriosa, Camel Hair, Mohair.

All-Wool:

Henrietta, Diagonal, Cashmere, Merino, Electoral, Drap d'Alma, Soudan, Tamise, Drap Royal, Mouseline, Victoria Raye, Nun's Veiling, Pekin Cord, Camel Hair, Cashmere Raye, Mohair, Cashmere Germania, Sicilian, Cashmere Carre, Checks, Cashmere Moravia, Brocade, Taffeta Volante, India Stripes, Armure, Mohair Brocade, Armure Crepe, Surah Twills, Cloth, Tricot, Sacking.

Bordered: All-wool with bands. All-wool with stripes. Silk-warp Henrietta with Satin band.

See the goods, they'll do the rest without help.

Fine Paris Robes, or Novelty Combination Suits, as you please. All along you've been told something about their imperial loveliness. The "cut price" craze is rampant among them. Such havoc! They are offered as sacrifices at the altar of energetic merchandising.

Tomorrow morning eighty-seven of these exclusive things originally marked to sell from $15 to $35, will be slaughtered at $10.63 each.

There are choice things among them. Do not, therefore, rely upon the great quantity and delay coming. You might probably lose the very one you most of all desired to possess.

The prodigal Lace space of the store has never been so serviceable as during recent days, in which most extraordinary large sales of Laces were consummated. The operations of the just ended week in this department far surpass any corresponding period in our past. Not content with offering you Novelty in lavish profusion at the least cost, we are alert to all special opportunities that are likely to create ununprofitable for cheap buying.

The result is a trade windfall in Drapery Nets.

Black Russian Nets 90c, worth $1.25. Black Fedora Nets $1.25, worth $1.75. Black LaTosca Nets $1.50, worth $2. Black Chantilly Nets $2, worth $2.75.

Only released from the original cases Saturday, and will be freshly put on the counters tomorrow. The patterns are exquisite and are chiefly from a leading maker of Madrid. Don't miss looking among them Monday.

You can't have a timely thought of White Goods, but its realization is within your reach here. All the pleasant coolish stuffs fit for sweltering days, and prices aslant to drop money in your pockets.

Madras Batiste not white, but dainty are the latest comers among the Muslins. Smooth, even of weave. Linen Lawn at their best were never neater. The price but 12 1/2c.

All the previously quoted bargains in Swisses, Dimities, Lawns, Victoria and Linen, Piques, Organ-dies and Mulls still hold good.

It's a Buckle era. They've caught on everywhere. Buckles for hats, for dresses, for shoes. Buckles for use and Buckles for looks. And they come in the cutest shapes that those deft Vienna artificers can devise. There's a glittering gathering of them with the other decorating gim-cracks in metal and what-not.

Height of the season in Dress Trimmings. You'd know it by a glance at the circular center counter and the throngs of buyers. Steel and Jet Beads, and Silk and Leaf Gimps divide the honors of the season.

You can't help admiring the new Embroideries. They were intelligently selected for the most critical trade. Not a scrap among them that is bare of beauty. Not a design in that great collection lacking in the grace and oddity that adds so to even the narrowest Edge. It is this that puts such rapid speed into our sales of Embroideries. No slow or pokey hold-over patterns. Not a chestnutty style in the stock. Too careful for that.

We print a simple recitation of some of the bargains in Cottons. Their alluring cheapness is discoverable without the expenditure of words to point it out.

Yankee Gingham 5c. Printed Challis 5c. Rhode Island Zephyrs 10c. Crown Satteens 12 1/2c. Tennis Flannellette 12 1/2c. Fine Scotch Gingham 15c. Exquisite Challis 10c.

The advertiser is a Gingham gusher, yet the fondest phrases he can catch from a swelling tide of adjectives is wholly inadequate to express the merits of this fresh lot of Glasgow goods. Good weight, good dye, good looking. Better and better for every washing. With a Gingham for hard wear.

KEELY COMPANY.

Rhodes & Haverty Furniture Co.

200 PARLOR SUITS

Just received by us yesterday from the Receiver's Sale of the late firm of

Daniel Bros., Chicago,

Will be thrown on the market this next week for the inspection of our Customers who wish

PARLOR FURNITURE!

These goods were bought by us at 50c on the Dollar and we will sell them at a

10 PER CENT ADVANCE!

OVER COST AND CARRIAGE.

Plush Parlor Suits $25.
Silk Plush Suits $35.
Tapestry Suits $50.
Wilton Rug Suits $75.

50 of these suits comprises the best patterns ever made in Chicago, and are upholstered in Plush, Brocade, Tapestry and Scrim Damasks, in Turkish and French styles.

All will be sold for 50c on the Dollar Monday!

Rhodes & Haverty Furniture Co.

FETZER'S

CLOTHING STORE!

12 WHITEHALL ST.,

Successors to Fetzer & Pharr.

Black Cheviots continue in popularity with Blue Serges bringing up a good second. It is wonderful how popular our house has become for these goods. We have leaped right into the front ranks. No wonder, as the perfect fit, the graceful set, and the superior quality of the trimmings in our goods go to make up a garment that would make any merchant tailor's bosom swell with pride. They all try to imitate us. None can make them better. Fresh arrivals in Neckwear, Negligee Shirts and Boys' Shirt Waists. You are welcome.

FETZER'S CLOTHING STORE,

12 WHITEHALL ST.

West End Tax Notice.
I AM NOW READY TO RECEIVE RETURNS for tax for the year 1890. All persons owning property in West End, whether real or personal, must come forward and make return of the same by MAY 15TH, or suffer the law's penalty.
J. A. CALDWELL, Clerk of Council.
apr 20 sun wedtt

WEAK FREE TO ALL MEN
NEWLY INVENTED FOR THE CURE OF GONORRHOEA, LEUCORRHOEA, BLIN-DEREN, FISTULA, HEMORRHOIDS, AND ALL AFFECTIONS OF THE URINARY OR-GANS.
Address: DR. HARTMAN CO., 19 Park Place, New York.
mar-21y sun wed fri wkyt

THE BORN HOUSE!

The Travelers' Home!

LAWRENCEVILLE, GA.

Carriages, with porters, will meet each train at depot, and carry passengers and all baggage to and from any part of town free of charge. I have good sample rooms free. Splendid rooms. Good beds. Table supplied with best and plenty. Rates reasonable and you will meet an old Virginia welcome.

W. J. BORN, PROPRIETOR.

BLUFFTON

Land, Ore

—AND—

Furnace

Company,

BLUFFTON, ALA.

OFFICERS:
President and General Manager, HON. S. J. ANDERSON, Portland, Me, President Portland & Ogdensburg R. R. Co.
Vice-President, HON. HENRY R. SHORTER, of Buffalo, Ala., President Railroad Commission of Alabama, COL. C. T. WILSON, 10 Wall St., New York, President Birmingham, Brierfield & Blount R. R.
Treasurer, J. A. FLOMERFELT, 177 Broadway, New York.

A Grand Land Sale

OF CITY PROPERTY

WILL BE HELD

Wednesday, April 30.

Bluffton offers to investors the brightest prospects of any of the cities of the South. Its solid blocks of brown hemlock iron ore constitute the most wonderful deposit known, and the company is daily shipping from its mines large quantities of ore to the leading furnaces of the South.

It is in the centre of an established iron district, four furnaces surrounding its city site being in successful operation. The company has built and furnished an elegant hotel, which is lighted by electricity. Streets are graded. Substantial brick blocks and tasty dwellings erected. It has secured the removal of the American Arms Co. of Boston to Bluffton, the capital stock of which is $200,000.

This will be the only factory of its kind in the South or West. It will give employment to 200 skilled workmen. Their Guns and Pistols are of the finest quality. Work will begin at an early date on the building, which will be about 300 feet long, and built of brick. A large Machine Shop, a Foundry, and Forge Shop has been secured also. Bluffton is the fortunate possessor of the location of the new "University of the Southland," whose main building is to be built of sandstone and brick. It is to be 300 feet long and five stories high, and will be one of the most beautiful and substantial buildings in the country.

A Bank will be located here; Brick Works Water Works, and Manufacturing Plants will follow.

What other towns will be months in perfecting has already been accomplished. Buyers of real estate can be assured of handsome profits.

The small capitalization (one-half still being treasury stock), commands itself to prudent investors.

A limited amount of this stock will be sold at par ($25 per share), less 10 per cent. discount if taken before April 30, and for received on that day and subsequently at par in payment of land purchases.

Special arrangements for trains will be made, and due notice given.

For further particulars address

BLUFFTON LAND, ORE AND FURNACE COMPANY,

Bluffton, Ala.

April 20—421—then 25 to 28 and wk 2.

ATLANTA, GA.

—TO—

FORT WORTH, TEXAS,

In Thirty Hours—Only One Night Out.

TO APPROPRIATELY ACCOMMODATE OUR large number of patrons the schedule and route of the Great Fort Worth Special will be via Birmingham and Shreveport, from Atlanta, Tuesday, May 6th.

Leave Atlanta via Georgia Pacific rail- way, Tuesday, May 6th. 1 10 p m

Leave Atlanta via Georgia Pacific rail- way, Tuesday, May 6th. 4 45 p m

Arrive in Birmingham via Georgia Pa- cific railway, Tuesday, May 6th. 7 00 p m

Leave Birmingham via Queen and Cres- cent, Tuesday, May 6th. 7 20 p m

Arrive Shreveport via Queen and Cres- cent, Wednesday, May 7th. 11 30 a m

Arrive Dallas via Texas and Pacific, Wednesday, May 6th. 6 00 p m

Arrive Fort Worth via Texas and Pacific, Wednesday, May 6th. 7 10 p m

This magnificent train will be composed of lux- urious Pullman Palace and Mann Boudoir Buffet sleeping cars and best coaches and baggage cars.

The entire run will be solid from

ATLANTA TO FORT WORTH

without change, affording the Southern Baptist Convention delegates and their friends the most delightful and economical journey upon the fastest and best train ever run from Atlanta to Texas.

Also, presenting a great opportunity for visitors to attend the Texas Spring Palace at Fort Worth.

A thoroughly experienced and agreeable agent will accompany this train, and everything contributing to the comfort and pleasure of our pa- trons will be provided upon this personally con- ducted tour.

ONLY $25.20 ATLANTA TO FORT WORTH AND RETURN.

Tickets on sale May 6th and 6th good to return within thirty days.

Note—Ironclad signature tickets are not required by this route on this great occasion. Send in your names early to secure good sleeping car reser- vations. Apply to

A. S. THWEATT, S. H. HARDWICK, G. P. A., Birmingham, Ala.

G. T. P. A. G. P. A. Ry., Atlanta, Ga.

sun-3t P. A. G. P. A. Ry., Atlanta, Ga.

AMUSEMENTS.

OPERA HOUSE.

POPULAR PRICES: 15c, 25c, 35c, 50c, 75c, 1.00, 1.25, 1.50.

ONE WEEK, COMMENCING MONDAY, April 23. Matinees Tuesday, Thursday, Saturday.

Mr. John M. Hickey has the honor to present the New Classic Star.

ADELE FROST, Aided by a company of rare excellence, including EDMUND COLLIER, In a repertory of legitimate plays, commencing INGOMAR. Change of Play Every Night. No better performances of these plays have ever been given here at any price! Popular prices: 15c, 25c, 35c, 50c, 75c, 1.00, 1.25, 1.50. Reserved seats at Miller's.

HONORING OUR DEAD

The Grand Reunion of Surviving Confederate Generals-The Speech of Hon. J. C. C. Black.

The graves of the dead heroes of the lost cause are covered with flowers this morning. The emblems of love were laid there yesterday by tender hands and loving hearts. And as the day closed, the heavenly sent copious showers to keep the flowers alive.

No day set apart for devotion to the memory of those who gave their lives for the south was ever more appropriately observed than yesterday.

Old veterans, ladies whose hearts were made to bleed by the war; young men who know of the bloody strife only in story and song, and maidens with hearts full of veneration for those who rest in Oakland took part in the exercises.

Atlanta was never more patriotic than yesterday and never before did she entertain more veterans. All in all the day was what Atlanta would have had it.

THE LAYING OF THE CORNER STONE.

Impressive Ceremonies Conducted by Grand Master Davidson.

All the veterans in Atlanta awoke yesterday morning to the consciousness that it was Memorial Day and there was much to be done. The first duty to be performed was to lay the corner stone of the home which will soon shelter the disabled veterans who fought for the lost cause.

The hour for the laying of the corner stone was purposely appointed early in the day in order to give everybody an opportunity to be present, and yet to return to the city in time to take part in the memorial services at the opera house and appear in the procession.

Very early in the morning a crowd collected at the termini of the dummy line and as fast as the cars arrived they were boarded with a rush, and those who were slow of motion had but a poor chance of obtaining even standing room.

The Kimball house was another crowded place. It was known that the generals, the officers of the grand lodge, and the trustees of the home would congregate there at 9 o'clock, and the veterans were eager to grasp every opportunity of seeing and talking with their former commanders.

Promptly at 9 o'clock the carriages which were to transport the officers to the home drove up to the main entrance of the hotel.

Scenes About the Hotel.

As soon as the occupants of a carriage were seated and the door closed, it was driven a few steps away to give place to its successor. A crowd would gather about the vehicle and a chorus of voices would demand the names of the occupants.

From the crowd would come a voice "That's Kirby Smith, I fought under him; give me a chance to shake with him."

Then the crowd would fall back and the veteran in the street and the general in the carriage would cordially shake hands.

A chessman made by Mr. Capers, of Cobb's legion, while a prisoner at Fort Delaware. Names of the members of the Hook and Ladder company.

Immortelle from the coffin of the late Henry W. Grady.

Three coins by Robert Winship.

Old confederate haversack, by W. P. Robertson. Confederate bills by the same.

Confederate bill, by P. M. Hostley. Battered minnie ball picked up on Kennesaw mountain, by Mr. Chick.

Plans submitted to General R. E. Lee how to subvert the negro army, by the Forty-ninth Georgia regiment.

A $10 confederate bill, by W. A. Stewart. Constitution of the Confederate Veterans' association of Fulton county, and a list of officers.

A copy of the "Rebel," published in 1862 in Chattanooga, by L. L. Farham.

The geographical position of Davis and Henry W. Grady, by C. W. Foster.

"The Southern Cross," a war song, by T. M. Harkins.

Pocketbook, by W. T. Nash.

A pocketbook from a cannon captured at the first battle of Manassas, and worn by General Longstreet, by General Longstreet.

Letters from President Davis and Varnia Howell Davis, by Sidney Root.

A $1,000 confederate bill, by John Tyler Cooper.

A pocket diary taken from a dead soldier on July 1864, and before the war, by R. Walker. Original manuscript of Admiral Raphael Semmes and incidents of the war, by Mrs. Stainback Wilson.

Programme of Memorial Day, 1870, by A. W. Dozier.

A $1,000 confederate bill, by Ben. R. Whitfield.

A petition of Dr. J. McF. Gaston from ladies while he was medical director at Manassas Junction.

A copy of THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION and one of two other papers.

When the articles were all deposited, Grand Master Davidson presented each official in turn with the insignia of his office and bade him try the stone. Each one reported that the artisan had well and truly done his work.

The ceremony of pouring in corn, wine and oil was then performed, and while the quartette sang the doxology, Grand Master Davidson struck the stone three blows with his mallet.

The motions of the order were then performed by the Masons in front of the platform and by the officers. The grand master read the formula, pronouncing the corner-stone laid, and the ceremony closed with another prayer by Dr. Morrison.

Just before the conclusion of the services the Knights Templar, in full regalia, arrived, and a place was made for them in front of the stage.

After a photograph of the corner-stone had been taken, the crowd dispersed and sought their conveyances to return to the city.

ARRIVAL OF MILITARY COMPANIES FROM OTHER PLACES Come in on Early Trains.

The early morning trains brought thousands of visitors to the city.

Several military companies were among them.

At 9:40 o'clock the Troup Huzzars, of La Grange, arrived in their special car attached to the regular train.

Captain Barnard was in command of the Huzzars, who came thirty-five strong. The company brought its horses along on the same train.

The Huzzars were received by a delegation from the Governor's Horse Guards, and until their departure for home last night were looked after by that company.

Their next gray uniforms and soldierly bearing attracted general attention as they rode through the streets to their quarters.

The Conyers Volunteers also reached the city early in the day, on the 8 o'clock train. Captain G. W. Weaver, with Lieutenant R. J. Guinn and J. R. Irwin, was at the head of the company, which consisted of six fours and officers.

On their arrival the Volunteers were taken in charge by the Atlanta Artillery, the

on the other side was carved:

The Exercises Begin.

erected through contributions from the people, inspired by love for the surviving and disabled confederate heroes. Anno Domini, 1890.

Early in the day an organ had been brought to the grounds, and just as the carriages containing the officers drove up it was taken to the platform and placed a little to one side where it left an unobstructed view of the corner stone.

As soon as all the carriages were emptied and the generals and trustees of the home had obtained positions from which to view the ceremonies Judge Calhoun, president of the home, went to the platform with the quartette composed of Messrs. Eugene Harleman, J. W. Lively, F. H. Gates and F. M. Fremont.

When he saw that everything was prepared he went again to the road and returned escorting Grand Master John S. Davidson and the other Masonic dignitaries in the following order:

John S. Davidson, grand master; William Abram Love, deputy grand master; Thomas W. Latham, senior grand warden; John Z. Lawshe, junior grand warden; J. W. Olin, grand treasurer; A. M. Wolhlin, grand secretary; Rev. H. C. Morrison, grand chaplain; Trammell Starr, senior grand deacon; W. T. Kusey, junior grand deacon; W. F. Parkhurst, grand marshal; A. C. Bruce, grand architect; John T. Parks, first grand steward; A. H. Crist, second grand steward; W. L. Hubbard, bearers of the altar; W. E. Fite, bearer of wine; W. A. Tignor, bearer of oil; A. J. Shropshire, bearer three great lights; Jay D. Edwards, grand tiler.

While the officers were arranging themselves in line on the platform, Mr. Harleman played a solemn march. The secret societies then marched on to the ground, and formed a column four deep in front of the stage. Back of the Masons stood the crowd. Packed tightly, they stretched down the hill and off among the trees, far beyond the point where the voice of any man could reach.

Near the stage, in a sheltered corner, sat a lady in deep mourning. She was the mother of Henry W. Grady, the man who, above all others, would, had he lived, been truly happy to witness the fruition of his efforts for the needy veterans of the confederacy.

The impressive ceremony of the Masons was used, and after a beautiful prayer by the grand chaplain, Rev. H. C. Morrison, the quartette sang a hymn.

In the Corner Stone.

The following articles were then deposited in the cavity of the stone:

One confederate bill by W. M. Ragdale, and one bill of the bank of the Empire state. Five-cent bill of the bank of Athens by J. J. Bacon.

A chessman made by Mr. Capers, of Cobb's legion, while a prisoner at Fort Delaware. Names of the members of the Hook and Ladder company.

Immortelle from the coffin of the late Henry W. Grady.

Three coins by Robert Winship.

Old confederate haversack, by W. P. Robertson. Confederate bills by the same.

Confederate bill, by P. M. Hostley. Battered minnie ball picked up on Kennesaw mountain, by Mr. Chick.

Plans submitted to General R. E. Lee how to subvert the negro army, by the Forty-ninth Georgia regiment.

A $10 confederate bill, by W. A. Stewart. Constitution of the Confederate Veterans' association of Fulton county, and a list of officers.

A copy of the "Rebel," published in 1862 in Chattanooga, by L. L. Farham.

The geographical position of Davis and Henry W. Grady, by C. W. Foster.

"The Southern Cross," a war song, by T. M. Harkins.

Pocketbook, by W. T. Nash.

A pocketbook from a cannon captured at the first battle of Manassas, and worn by General Longstreet, by General Longstreet.

Letters from President Davis and Varnia Howell Davis, by Sidney Root.

A $1,000 confederate bill, by John Tyler Cooper.

A pocket diary taken from a dead soldier on July 1864, and before the war, by R. Walker. Original manuscript of Admiral Raphael Semmes and incidents of the war, by Mrs. Stainback Wilson.

Programme of Memorial Day, 1870, by A. W. Dozier.

A $1,000 confederate bill, by Ben. R. Whitfield.

A petition of Dr. J. McF. Gaston from ladies while he was medical director at Manassas Junction.

A copy of THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION and one of two other papers.

When the articles were all deposited, Grand Master Davidson presented each official in turn with the insignia of his office and bade him try the stone. Each one reported that the artisan had well and truly done his work.

The ceremony of pouring in corn, wine and oil was then performed, and while the quartette sang the doxology, Grand Master Davidson struck the stone three blows with his mallet.

The motions of the order were then performed by the Masons in front of the platform and by the officers. The grand master read the formula, pronouncing the corner-stone laid, and the ceremony closed with another prayer by Dr. Morrison.

Just before the conclusion of the services the Knights Templar, in full regalia, arrived, and a place was made for them in front of the stage.

After a photograph of the corner-stone had been taken, the crowd dispersed and sought their conveyances to return to the city.

ARRIVAL OF MILITARY COMPANIES FROM OTHER PLACES Come in on Early Trains.

The early morning trains brought thousands of visitors to the city.

Several military companies were among them.

At 9:40 o'clock the Troup Huzzars, of La Grange, arrived in their special car attached to the regular train.

Captain Barnard was in command of the Huzzars, who came thirty-five strong. The company brought its horses along on the same train.

The Huzzars were received by a delegation from the Governor's Horse Guards, and until their departure for home last night were looked after by that company.

Their next gray uniforms and soldierly bearing attracted general attention as they rode through the streets to their quarters.

The Conyers Volunteers also reached the city early in the day, on the 8 o'clock train. Captain G. W. Weaver, with Lieutenant R. J. Guinn and J. R. Irwin, was at the head of the company, which consisted of six fours and officers.

On their arrival the Volunteers were taken in charge by the Atlanta Artillery, the army of the company at the new capital being turned over to them.

Later in the day the Volunteers were escorted to a dinner tendered the visiting military by the Confederate Veterans' association, by the artillery. The lunch was spread in the store of A. E. Wolf, on Peachtree street.

Mr. Wolf tendered the committee the use of his store, and places for two hundred were arranged. From one to half past two the lunch was served. It was handsomely prepared and was enjoyed by the soldiers who partook of it. The Norcross band, which came in on the first morning train, had its headquarters at the Zouave armory.

During the forenoon the visitors were shown the different armories of the local companies, enjoying themselves with the Atlanta soldierly.

THEY BEGIN TO GATHER.

The Veterans, the Soldiers and the People on Marietta Street.

By noon the crowds began moving toward Marietta street, and a half hour later the sidewalks and streets near the old capital and DeGives' opera house were thronged.

The gathering was a happy one. Every one striving for a good chance of observation. By noon the crowds began moving toward Marietta street, and a half hour later the sidewalks and streets near the old capital and DeGives' opera house were thronged.

For a time the crowd rushed hither and thither over the street and sidewalks, each one striving for a good chance of observation. Shortly after 1 o'clock Chief Connolly at the head of fifteen mounted police officers opened a way through the crowd up Marietta street and came to a halt in front of the opera house.

The squad presented a handsome appearance, and under the orders of Adjutant Keurick, deployed in fine style.

In a very few minutes they succeeded in clearing Marietta street from Peachtree to Spring. Every body was back to back, and the sidewalks and streets near the old capital and DeGives' opera house were thronged.

Fifteen minutes later Colonel W. L. Calhoun, president of the Confederate Veterans' association, accompanied by his staff, came up. He was mounted upon a beautiful bay, which he rode gracefully. Along with the column came Major J. H. Ketner, Colonel Albert Howell, Mr. G. B. Adams, Dr. K. C. Devine, Captain James A. Anderson, Captain W. M. Bray, Captain O. C. Wilcoxson, of the university of Georgia, and Mr. Pryor L. Myratt.

Colonel Calhoun and his staff were the regulation white hat and dark sash, and presented a fine appearance.

THE VETERANS COME.

The Men Who Fought for Their Country Move Up the Street.

Just before 2 o'clock the confederate veterans entered Marietta street from Broad and marched toward the statehouse.

The Fulton County Veterans' association were in advance, and with their badges and high white hats made a magnificent appearance.

The line moved up Marietta street to the opera house, and wheeling, came down the street until the head of the column was near Broad.

Then they took a right face, and at parade rest awaited the coming of General Johnston and the orator.

In the line the Seventh Georgia veterans followed the Fulton County association, and then came soldiers from every county in the state and every state in the south, mixing and mingling in brotherly love.

The line reached from Broad to Spring street.

A parade rest the men indulged in war stories and more modern jokes, and along the line happiness and satisfaction was apparent. Just in front of Concordia hall a gang of negroes were taking in the scene and near them was an old vet well loaded with rum.

"Lord, but aint they a rough set," said one of the negroes.

The old vet heard the remark and turning to the negroes said:

"That's what them yankees what freed you said during the war."

The remark was heard by enough to raise a yell.

THE OLD CAVALRY COMES.

The Men Who Followed Stewart Gather Again.

Soon after the veterans formed, a score of veterans, mounted, rode up to Burke's book-store this provision. Statutes have been enacted in some of the states prohibiting their judges from taking jurisdiction or cognizance of any cases under the acts of congress and making it a misdemeanor to do so, and providing that judgment rendered against any person for any neglect or refusal to obey, or any violation of these laws should be enforced by sale or forfeiture of his real or personal property, and all such sales should be absolutely void. The legislatures of fourteen states have enacted laws which set at naught the acts of congress passed in plain pursuance of the constitution. A judgment of the supreme court, in a case brought against a person for violating the criminal statutes of one state found refuge in another. The reasons assigned to justify this evasion of duty are, first, that the obligation of a constitutional obligation were pretexts. It was a deliberate, palpable violation of a plain mandate of the supreme law and so declared by the court of last resort. No legal machinery had been provided to enforce this provision. It was left to the states in the south to enforce the terms of confederation that bound them to the constitution provided for the rendition of persons held to labor and fleeing from one state to another, and congress had enacted laws to enforce this provision. Statutes have been enacted in some of the states prohibiting their judges from taking jurisdiction or cognizance of any cases under the acts of congress and making it a misdemeanor to do so, and providing that judgment rendered against any person for any neglect or refusal to obey, or any violation of these laws should be enforced by sale or forfeiture of his real or personal property, and all such sales should be absolutely void. The legislatures of fourteen states have enacted laws which set at naught the acts of congress passed in plain pursuance of the constitution. A judgment of the supreme court, in a case brought against a person for violating the criminal statutes of one state found refuge in another. The reasons assigned to justify this evasion of duty are, first, that the obligation of a constitutional obligation were pretexts. It was a deliberate, palpable violation of a plain mandate of the supreme law and so declared by the court of last resort. No legal machinery had been provided to enforce this provision. It was left to the states in the south to enforce the terms of confederation that bound them to the constitution provided for the rendition of persons held to labor and fleeing from one state to another, and congress had enacted laws to enforce this provision. Statutes have been enacted in some of the states prohibiting their judges from taking jurisdiction or cognizance of any cases under the acts of congress and making it a misdemeanor to do so, and providing that judgment rendered against any person for any neglect or refusal to obey, or any violation of these laws should be enforced by sale or forfeiture of his real or personal property, and all such sales should be absolutely void. The legislatures of fourteen states have enacted laws which set at naught the acts of congress passed in plain pursuance of the constitution. A judgment of the supreme court, in a case brought against a person for violating the criminal statutes of one state found refuge in another. The reasons assigned to justify this evasion of duty are, first, that the obligation of a constitutional obligation were pretexts. It was a deliberate, palpable violation of a plain mandate of the supreme law and so declared by the court of last resort. No legal machinery had been provided to enforce this provision. It was left to the states in the south to enforce the terms of confederation that bound them to the constitution provided for the rendition of persons held to labor and fleeing from one state to another, and congress had enacted laws to enforce this provision. Statutes have been enacted in some of the states prohibiting their judges from taking jurisdiction or cognizance of any cases under the acts of congress and making it a misdemeanor to do so, and providing that judgment rendered against any person for any neglect or refusal to obey, or any violation of these laws should be enforced by sale or forfeiture of his real or personal property, and all such sales should be absolutely void. The legislatures of fourteen states have enacted laws which set at naught the acts of congress passed in plain pursuance of the constitution. A judgment of the supreme court, in a case brought against a person for violating the criminal statutes of one state found refuge in another. The reasons assigned to justify this evasion of duty are, first, that the obligation of a constitutional obligation were pretexts. It was a deliberate, palpable violation of a plain mandate of the supreme law and so declared by the court of last resort. No legal machinery had been provided to enforce this provision. It was left to the states in the south to enforce the terms of confederation that bound them to the constitution provided for the rendition of persons held to labor and fleeing from one state to another, and congress had enacted laws to enforce this provision. Statutes have been enacted in some of the states prohibiting their judges from taking jurisdiction or cognizance of any cases under the acts of congress and making it a misdemeanor to do so, and providing that judgment rendered against any person for any neglect or refusal to obey, or any violation of these laws should be enforced by sale or forfeiture of his real or personal property, and all such sales should be absolutely void. The legislatures of fourteen states have enacted laws which set at naught the acts of congress passed in plain pursuance of the constitution. A judgment of the supreme court, in a case brought against a person for violating the criminal statutes of one state found refuge in another. The reasons assigned to justify this evasion of duty are, first, that the obligation of a constitutional obligation were pretexts. It was a deliberate, palpable violation of a plain mandate of the supreme law and so declared by the court of last resort. No legal machinery had been provided to enforce this provision. It was left to the states in the south to enforce the terms of confederation that bound them to the constitution provided for the rendition of persons held to labor and fleeing from one state to another, and congress had enacted laws to enforce this provision. Statutes have been enacted in some of the states prohibiting their judges from taking jurisdiction or cognizance of any cases under the acts of congress and making it a misdemeanor to do so, and providing that judgment rendered against any person for any neglect or refusal to obey, or any violation of these laws should be enforced by sale or forfeiture of his real or personal property, and all such sales should be absolutely void. The legislatures of fourteen states have enacted laws which set at naught the acts of congress passed in plain pursuance of the constitution. A judgment of the supreme court, in a case brought against a person for violating the criminal statutes of one state found refuge in another. The reasons assigned to justify this evasion of duty are, first, that the obligation of a constitutional obligation were pretexts. It was a deliberate, palpable violation of a plain mandate of the supreme law and so declared by the court of last resort. No legal machinery had been provided to enforce this provision. It was left to the states in the south to enforce the terms of confederation that bound them to the constitution provided for the rendition of persons held to labor and fleeing from one state to another, and congress had enacted laws to enforce this provision. Statutes have been enacted in some of the states prohibiting their judges from taking jurisdiction or cognizance of any cases under the acts of congress and making it a misdemeanor to do so, and providing that judgment rendered against any person for any neglect or refusal to obey, or any violation of these laws should be enforced by sale or forfeiture of his real or personal property, and all such sales should be absolutely void. The legislatures of fourteen states have enacted laws which set at naught the acts of congress passed in plain pursuance of the constitution. A judgment of the supreme court, in a case brought against a person for violating the criminal statutes of one state found refuge in another. The reasons assigned to justify this evasion of duty are, first, that the obligation of a constitutional obligation were pretexts. It was a deliberate, palpable violation of a plain mandate of the supreme law and so declared by the court of last resort. No legal machinery had been provided to enforce this provision. It was left to the states in the south to enforce the terms of confederation that bound them to the constitution provided for the rendition of persons held to labor and fleeing from one state to another, and congress had enacted laws to enforce this provision. Statutes have been enacted in some of the states prohibiting their judges from taking jurisdiction or cognizance of any cases under the acts of congress and making it a misdemeanor to do so, and providing that judgment rendered against any person for any neglect or refusal to obey, or any violation of these laws should be enforced by sale or forfeiture of his real or personal property, and all such sales should be absolutely void. The legislatures of fourteen states have enacted laws which set at naught the acts of congress passed in plain pursuance of the constitution. A judgment of the supreme court, in a case brought against a person for violating the criminal statutes of one state found refuge in another. The reasons assigned to justify this evasion of duty are, first, that the obligation of a constitutional obligation were pretexts. It was a deliberate, palpable violation of a plain mandate of the supreme law and so declared by the court of last resort. No legal machinery had been provided to enforce this provision. It was left to the states in the south to enforce the terms of confederation that bound them to the constitution provided for the rendition of persons held to labor and fleeing from one state to another, and congress had enacted laws to enforce this provision. Statutes have been enacted in some of the states prohibiting their judges from taking jurisdiction or cognizance of any cases under the acts of congress and making it a misdemeanor to do so, and providing that judgment rendered against any person for any neglect or refusal to obey, or any violation of these laws should be enforced by sale or forfeiture of his real or personal property, and all such sales should be absolutely void. The legislatures of fourteen states have enacted laws which set at naught the acts of congress passed in plain pursuance of the constitution. A judgment of the supreme court, in a case brought against a person for violating the criminal statutes of one state found refuge in another. The reasons assigned to justify this evasion of duty are, first, that the obligation of a constitutional obligation were pretexts. It was a deliberate, palpable violation of a plain mandate of the supreme law and so declared by the court of last resort. No legal machinery had been provided to enforce this provision. It was left to the states in the south to enforce the terms of confederation that bound them to the constitution provided for the rendition of persons held to labor and fleeing from one state to another, and congress had enacted laws to enforce this provision. Statutes have been enacted in some of the states prohibiting their judges from taking jurisdiction or cognizance of any cases under the acts of congress and making it a misdemeanor to do so, and providing that judgment rendered against any person for any neglect or refusal to obey, or any violation of these laws should be enforced by sale or forfeiture of his real or personal property, and all such sales should be absolutely void. The legislatures of fourteen states have enacted laws which set at naught the acts of congress passed in plain pursuance of the constitution. A judgment of the supreme court, in a case brought against a person for violating the criminal statutes of one state found refuge in another. The reasons assigned to justify this evasion of duty are, first, that the obligation of a constitutional obligation were pretexts. It was a deliberate, palpable violation of a plain mandate of the supreme law and so declared by the court of last resort. No legal machinery had been provided to enforce this provision. It was left to the states in the south to enforce the terms of confederation that bound them to the constitution provided for the rendition of persons held to labor and fleeing from one state to another, and congress had enacted laws to enforce this provision. Statutes have been enacted in some of the states prohibiting their judges from taking jurisdiction or cognizance of any cases under the acts of congress and making it a misdemeanor to do so, and providing that judgment rendered against any person for any neglect or refusal to obey, or any violation of these laws should be enforced by sale or forfeiture of his real or personal property, and all such sales should be absolutely void. The legislatures of fourteen states have enacted laws which set at naught the acts of congress passed in plain pursuance of the constitution. A judgment of the supreme court, in a case brought against a person for violating the criminal statutes of one state found refuge in another. The reasons assigned to justify this evasion of duty are, first, that the obligation of a constitutional obligation were pretexts. It was a deliberate, palpable violation of a plain mandate of the supreme law and so declared by the court of last resort. No legal machinery had been provided to enforce this provision. It was left to the states in the south to enforce the terms of confederation that bound them to the constitution provided for the rendition of persons held to labor and fleeing from one state to another, and congress had enacted laws to enforce this provision. Statutes have been enacted in some of the states prohibiting their judges from taking jurisdiction or cognizance of any cases under the acts of congress and making it a misdemeanor to do so, and providing that judgment rendered against any person for any neglect or refusal to obey, or any violation of these laws should be enforced by sale or forfeiture of his real or personal property, and all such sales should be absolutely void. The legislatures of fourteen states have enacted laws which set at naught the acts of congress passed in plain pursuance of the constitution. A judgment of the supreme court, in a case brought against a person for violating the criminal statutes of one state found refuge in another. The reasons assigned to justify this evasion of duty are, first, that the obligation of a constitutional obligation were pretexts. It was a deliberate, palpable violation of a plain mandate of the supreme law and so declared by the court of last resort. No legal machinery had been provided to enforce this provision. It was left to the states in the south to enforce the terms of confederation that bound them to the constitution provided for the rendition of persons held to labor and fleeing from one state to another, and congress had enacted laws to enforce this provision. Statutes have been enacted in some of the states prohibiting their judges from taking jurisdiction or cognizance of any cases under the acts of congress and making it a misdemeanor to do so, and providing that judgment rendered against any person for any neglect or refusal to obey, or any violation of these laws should be enforced by sale or forfeiture of his real or personal property, and all such sales should be absolutely void. The legislatures of fourteen states have enacted laws which set at naught the acts of congress passed in plain pursuance of the constitution. A judgment of the supreme court, in a case brought against a person for violating the criminal statutes of one state found refuge in another. The reasons assigned to justify this evasion of duty are, first, that the obligation of a constitutional obligation were pretexts. It was a deliberate, palpable violation of a plain mandate of the supreme law and so declared by the court of last resort. No legal machinery had been provided to enforce this provision. It was left to the states in the south to enforce the terms of confederation that bound them to the constitution provided for the rendition of persons held to labor and fleeing from one state to another, and congress had enacted laws to enforce this provision. Statutes have been enacted in some of the states prohibiting their judges from taking jurisdiction or cognizance of any cases under the acts of congress and making it a misdemeanor to do so, and providing that judgment rendered against any person for any neglect or refusal to obey, or any violation of these laws should be enforced by sale or forfeiture of his real or personal property, and all such sales should be absolutely void. The legislatures of fourteen states have enacted laws which set at naught the acts of congress passed in plain pursuance of the constitution. A judgment of the supreme court, in a case brought against a person for violating the criminal statutes of one state found refuge in another. The reasons assigned to justify this evasion of duty are, first, that the obligation of a constitutional obligation were pretexts. It was a deliberate, palpable violation of a plain mandate of the supreme law and so declared by the court of last resort. No legal machinery had been provided to enforce this provision. It was left to the states in the south to enforce the terms of confederation that bound them to the constitution provided for the rendition of persons held to labor and fleeing from one state to another, and congress had enacted laws to enforce this provision. Statutes have been enacted in some of the states prohibiting their judges from taking jurisdiction or cognizance of any cases under the acts of congress and making it a misdemeanor to do so, and providing that judgment rendered against any person for any neglect or refusal to obey, or any violation of these laws should be enforced by sale or forfeiture of his real or personal property, and all such sales should be absolutely void. The legislatures of fourteen states have enacted laws which set at naught the acts of congress passed in plain pursuance of the constitution. A judgment of the supreme court, in a case brought against a person for violating the criminal statutes of one state found refuge in another. The reasons assigned to justify this evasion of duty are, first, that the obligation of a constitutional obligation were pretexts. It was a deliberate, palpable violation of a plain mandate of the supreme law and so declared by the court of last resort. No legal machinery had been provided to enforce this provision. It was left to the states in the south to enforce the terms of confederation that bound them to the constitution provided for the rendition of persons held to labor and fleeing from one state to another, and congress had enacted laws to enforce this provision. Statutes have been enacted in some of the states prohibiting their judges from taking jurisdiction or cognizance of any cases under the acts of congress and making it a misdemeanor to do so, and providing that judgment rendered against any person for any neglect or refusal to obey, or any violation of these laws should be enforced by sale or forfeiture of his real or personal property, and all such sales should be absolutely void. The legislatures of fourteen states have enacted laws which set at naught the acts of congress passed in plain pursuance of the constitution. A judgment of the supreme court, in a case brought against a person for violating the criminal statutes of one state found refuge in another. The reasons assigned to justify this evasion of duty are, first, that the obligation of a constitutional obligation were pretexts. It was a deliberate, palpable violation of a plain mandate of the supreme law and so declared by the court of last resort. No legal machinery had been provided to enforce this provision. It was left to the states in the south to enforce the terms of confederation that bound them to the constitution provided for the rendition of persons held to labor and fleeing from one state to another, and congress had enacted laws to enforce this provision. Statutes have been enacted in some of the states prohibiting their judges from taking jurisdiction or cognizance of any cases under the acts of congress and making it a misdemeanor to do so, and providing that judgment rendered against any person for any neglect or refusal to obey, or any violation of these laws should be enforced by sale or forfeiture of his real or personal property, and all such sales should be absolutely void. The legislatures of fourteen states have enacted laws which set at naught the acts of congress passed in plain pursuance of the constitution. A judgment of the supreme court, in a case brought against a person for violating the criminal statutes of one state found refuge in another. The reasons assigned to justify this evasion of duty are, first, that the obligation of a constitutional obligation were pretexts. It was a deliberate, palpable violation of a plain mandate of the supreme law and so declared by the court of last resort. No legal machinery had been provided to enforce this provision. It was left to the states in the south to enforce the terms of confederation that bound them to the constitution provided for

THE BRAVE AND THE FEEBLE

For Home, and Love, and Fatherland Fittingly Remembered by Those Left After Them—The Addresses.

The great heart of Georgia was moved yesterday by its duty to the dead and justice to the living. The dead heroes of the south were not traitors, neither have the survivors apologies to make. The war was waged for the principle of human liberty, and though Lee went down in defeat, it betokened no surrender of thought. The dead deserve all the honor which the living can confer upon them.

In every town in Georgia flowers were placed upon the graves of the confederate dead. THE CONSTITUTION gives a few instances, as samples of all the rest:

QUITMAN, Ga., April 26.—[Special.]—From business considerations, yesterday, instead of tomorrow was observed as Memorial Day.

At 4 o'clock every store was closed, and the people assembled in the opera house. There was not standing room, and many remained in the streets. Mr. S. S. Bennett was master of ceremonies. The music, under the leadership of Major J. C. McDonald, was appropriate and well rendered. Prayer was offered by Rev. B. D. Ragsdale, of the Baptist church.

PROFESSOR COOPER SPEAKS.
Professor Noah Webster Cooper who was selected to deliver the oration, began by picturing the last closing scenes of the great conflict, the parting of the armies, and the sad homecoming of the war-worn veterans. But some came not back, and the anxious wife and mother looked in vain for the return of their loved ones. The marble shafts and monuments around us told whither they had gone, and it is in admiration for the heroic conduct and unparalleled devotion of these that we are assembled to commemorate today.

The speaker then dwelt on the purity of the motives which called these men to face death. The Roman legions had fought for the glory of the imperial city, the fiery Arab had conquered far and wide for the zeal of his faith in the prophet, Napoleon had astonished the world with the struggles for supremacy set in motion by his ambition, but the southern soldier, with unparalleled devotion, fought and died for his native land and to maintain the rights of freedom handed down to them by their ancestors. Their strength was of the heroic mold—their zeal kindled by divine fire. True would not permit an inquiry into the justice of the cause for which they fought. They had been called rebels by their enemies, but that name had been applied to some of the world's greatest heroes. Let us cherish their memory and honor their valor. For when the true hero shall find no love, and when the fires of patriotism shall cease, then will the glory of our country have departed.

THE PROCESSION FORMED.
The procession was formed at the courthouse. In it were the Quitman Grays, pupils of the graded school, confederate veterans and citizens.

SCATTERING THE FLOWERS.
At the cemetery Miss Rose Hardin pleasantly recited "Bring Flowers." The graves were then decorated.

At the conclusion of Professor Noah Webster Cooper's address he was the recipient of a handsome waiter of flowers from the Ladies' Memorial association.

The exercises were largely attended, many coming from the country.

MACON, Ga., April 26.—[Special.]—Memorial Day was generally observed as on any previous occasion since the war. The exercises commenced at Rose Hill cemetery at 4 o'clock, and long before that hour a great crowd, numbering at least five thousand people, had assembled at the cemetery to await the arrival of the military and the Confederate Survivors' association of Bibb county. The Second Georgia battalion formed near the Confederate monument, which had been beautifully decorated with flowers and bunting. The companies in the battalion were: Floyd Rifles, J. L. Hardeman, captain; Southern Cadets, Roff Sims, captain; Macon Volunteers, Joseph E. Wells, captain; Macon Hussars, mounted, O. T. Konan, captain; Confederate Survivors' association, with large numbers, under Vice-Commander John B. Cobb, followed the battalion. Cobb commanded because Commander Wiley was in charge of the battalion. The long procession marched in step to music to the cemetery.

The following was the order of exercises: Opening Hymn—Young ladies of Wesleyan Female college, under direction of Professor Newman.
Prayer—Rev. Mr. Wardlaw.
Oration—Mr. F. H. Richardson.
Song of Praise—Young ladies of Wesleyan Female college.
Benediction—Rev. Mr. Wardlaw.
After the above exercises the Second Georgia battalion fired three salutes over the graves of the dead heroes. The decoration of the graves was very elaborate and beautiful. There was a lavish display of flowers, and every grave was hidden under a wealth of floral beauty. The Ladies' Memorial association of Bibb County, Mrs. Wm. Lee Ellis, president, can have the satisfaction of knowing that the observance of Memorial Day in Macon was attended with great interest, and was a success in every particular.

The address of Mr. Henry Richardson was one of the most beautiful and ornate ever delivered in the city. He spoke of the war as a great tragedy, and of the sacrifices made by the brave men of the south. He concluded his address with a beautiful prayer for the souls of the departed.

At English history, after describing the frightful slaughter in one of the encounters between the armies of England and France toward the close of the seventeenth century, says: "The next summer the soil, fertilized by millions of corpses, broke forth into millions of supplies. The traveler, who on the road from St. Tron to Tilermont saw that vast sheet of rich scarlet spreading from London to Newerwin, could hardly help fancying that the sanguine prediction of the above prophet was literally accomplished, that the earth was disclosing her blood and refusing to cover the slain."

It is different, are the suggestions of the flowers which rest upon these graves with each recurring spring. They blossom not in nature's blind chance, but are laid by loving hands with benedictions over their dead. They tell not of death and desolation, but are emblematic of the resurrection and the life. I fancy that to the spirits of these honored dead this expression of remembrance and love is dearer than would be monuments of marble, though they were reared upon their pierced clouds. Let us, my countrymen, continue steadfast in our devotion to this day. Let no lapse of time bedim its significance. Let it be always a time for the uplifting of our thoughts and the purification of our hearts.

Let us teach our youth that not in the dim legends of some antique age, nor in the clearer annals of classic history, are they to find the truest models of the virtues which make men truly noble, but that they may see these virtues in their fairest flower and fullest fruit in the lives of those to whose memory we dedicate this day. And for the daughters of the south, let us not forget that among the ranks of the heroes in the number of the ennobling queens of poetry and picture any figure clothed about so far a grace as the day of her country's calamity, rose above all fear and went forth a ministering angel, to serve and to guide wherever a confederate soldier lay.

By the providence of God we have been led into ways that we knew not of. The south has arisen from her desolation to win victories of peace, brightness and honor, and to stand proud trophies of war. Today she is fair and mighty in the eyes of the world; passing rich in the stores of nature's bounty, buoyant in the plenitude of a strength which every year brings some miracle of progress; stronger still in the virtue and intelligence of her people; richer still in the love of their patriotic hearts; her present is the expanding marvel of the future, and her manifest future dazzles even the vision of prophecy.

But she shall find no more precious treasure than the humble graves which are this day covered and crossed with flowers. In the deep hills and in a hundred valleys of her beautiful domain. She shall win among all her achievements no greater glory than that which shines from the deathless story of her sons who were the gray.

IN AUGUSTA.
The celebration of Memorial Day is carried out with commendable zeal every year in Augusta. The Confederate Survivors' association holds its annual meeting always on this day, and their popular president, Colonel C. C. Johnson, Jr., always delivers a ringing address, which not only calls forth the applause of the veterans, but has the merit of being a valuable contribution to the history and literature of the war. He was particularly eloquent and happy today, and is more popular than ever with the veterans of the lost cause.

No devotion and devoted than the Confederate Survivors' Association is the Ladies' Memorial association, and the magnificent cenotaph in the middle of Broad street—their handsomeness, their grandeur, their monument not only to the confederate dead, but to the devotion, industry and earnestness of the world's greatest heroes. Let us cherish their memory and honor their valor. For when the true hero shall find no love, and when the fires of patriotism shall cease, then will the glory of our country have departed.

Every year on Memorial Day the Ladies' Memorial association decorates this monument with flowers and emblems of mourning, and the graves of every confederate soldier in the cemetery is decorated with garlands of flowers. All the school children, the military and the confederate survivors turn out and march to the cemetery. In the midst of the grand section, where the decorated graves are in full view, a platform is raised from which an oration is delivered appropriate to the occasion. The ladies of the Memorial association occupy seats on this platform, and the exercises are under their auspices and direction. They name the speaker, the marshal of the day and superintend all features of the day's observance.

Today Captain F. Edge Ewe was the marshal of the day, and directed the military parade with soldierly skill. Despite the many inclemencies of nature, the exercises of the occasion were largely observed, and a fine audience was present at the speaking in the cemetery.

MR. HAMILTON PHINIZY'S SPEECH.
Hamilton Phinizy was the orator of the day, and his address was one of the most beautiful and ornate ever delivered in the city. He spoke of the war as a great tragedy, and of the sacrifices made by the brave men of the south. He concluded his address with a beautiful prayer for the souls of the departed.

alarm need be felt by a race so entitled by inheritance to greatness, and that by honoring the memory of the confederate dead we erected models for our children to follow, and ideals of character to purify and ennoble.

The day was fittingly observed in Augusta, and many an old soldier's heart has been stirred to its depths today.

JEFFERSON, Ga., April 26.—[Special.]—Probably the youngest memorial orator in the state is Mr. Joe Bennett, who made the address at this place. He is only a few years of age, and is, to the manner born, a fine speaker. He is a member of the medical college in Atlanta, and his people are very proud of him. He made an eloquent address, which was well received by the large crowd. The exercises were conducted under the auspices of the Ladies' Memorial association of Jefferson.

NEWMAN, Ga., April 26.—[Special.]—Memorial Day was observed in Newman with more than usual circumstance, the demonstrations being the largest and most imposing ever witnessed here on a similar occasion. There was a splendid gathering of old veterans from every part of the country, and quite a number were present from adjoining counties.

The old soldier element is very strong in Coweta, and it was pleasantly apparent from today's demonstration that the confederate service first and foremost, than any county in the state, is a large population. The various survivors' associations of the county comprise now about three hundred members, and all of these were well represented today.

The exercises were held in Reese's opera house, commencing at 3 o'clock and lasting about one hour and thirty minutes. The exercises opened with prayer by Dr. James Stacy, after which Miss Annie Sue Hill recited Father Ryan's beautiful poem, "The Conquered Banner." The recitation was wonderfully vivid and evoked a degree of eloquence ability both pleasing and dramatic. An old confederate battle flag that had waved over many a blood-bought square was passed around the monument, and when the recitation was announced it was unfurled from an elevated point on the stage. As the historic "stars and bars" caught the eyes of the veterans, a burst of applause that shook the building to its very foundations, and the effect was decidedly dramatic.

COLONEL NOLAN'S SPEECH.
Colonel T. C. Nolan, of McDonough, the orator of the day, was then introduced by Dr. A. C. North. He captured his audience at the very start, and for thirty minutes he delivered a most eloquent and interesting address. He is a member of the Confederate Survivors' Association, and his address was a most valuable contribution to the history and literature of the war. He was particularly eloquent and happy today, and is more popular than ever with the veterans of the lost cause.

The next member of the program was a recitation by Miss Pauline Fawcett, "The March of the Deathless Dead." This gifted young lady, whose varied talents and accomplishments have given her a wide reputation in other entertainments heretofore, never appeared before a more delighted or appreciative audience, and it would be scant praise to say that she acquitted herself on this occasion most handsomely.

This concluded the exercises at the opera house. A procession was then formed, and marched to the cemetery. The graves of the confederate soldiers were decorated, and the final exercises were held. Notwithstanding the backwardness of the season, there was a great profusion of flowers, and the graves were decorated with garlands of flowers. All the school children, the military and the confederate survivors turn out and march to the cemetery. In the midst of the grand section, where the decorated graves are in full view, a platform is raised from which an oration is delivered appropriate to the occasion.

The ladies of the Memorial association occupy seats on this platform, and the exercises are under their auspices and direction. They name the speaker, the marshal of the day and superintend all features of the day's observance.

Today Captain F. Edge Ewe was the marshal of the day, and directed the military parade with soldierly skill. Despite the many inclemencies of nature, the exercises of the occasion were largely observed, and a fine audience was present at the speaking in the cemetery.

MR. HAMILTON PHINIZY'S SPEECH.
Hamilton Phinizy was the orator of the day, and his address was one of the most beautiful and ornate ever delivered in the city. He spoke of the war as a great tragedy, and of the sacrifices made by the brave men of the south. He concluded his address with a beautiful prayer for the souls of the departed.

justice, the only two of eminence were from the south; of the twenty-nine associate justices, seventeen were from the south; of the twenty-nine attorney-generals, fourteen were from the south.

Under a southern president, Florida was acquired from Spain; Texas, California, etc., from Mexico, and the Louisiana territory from France, comprising 1,000,000 square miles greater in extent than the whole United States at that time. It gave us the sole ownership of the Mississippi river from its source to the gulf. This one achievement conceived and accomplished by a southern president, with the skill of a southern diplomat, and the aid of a southern statesman, outweighs in vastness of results, every national measure presented by northern statesmanship and secured by northern enterprise since the landing at Plymouth Rock.

THOMAS, Ga., April 26.—[Special.]—Memorial Day was appropriately celebrated here. The orator of the day was Rev. William R. Foote, pastor of the Baptist church. He made an eloquent address, which was well received by the large crowd. The exercises were conducted under the auspices of the Ladies' Memorial association of Thomas.

CRAWFORDVILLE, Ga., April 26.—[Special.]—Memorial Day was observed here under the auspices of the Ladies' Memorial and the Confederate Survivors' associations.

The procession was formed at the courthouse. In it were the Crawfordville Grays, pupils of the graded school, confederate veterans and citizens.

At the cemetery Miss Rose Hardin pleasantly recited "Bring Flowers." The graves were then decorated.

At the conclusion of Professor Noah Webster Cooper's address he was the recipient of a handsome waiter of flowers from the Ladies' Memorial association.

The exercises were largely attended, many coming from the country.

At the cemetery Miss Rose Hardin pleasantly recited "Bring Flowers." The graves were then decorated.

At the conclusion of Professor Noah Webster Cooper's address he was the recipient of a handsome waiter of flowers from the Ladies' Memorial association.

The exercises were largely attended, many coming from the country.

At the cemetery Miss Rose Hardin pleasantly recited "Bring Flowers." The graves were then decorated.

At the conclusion of Professor Noah Webster Cooper's address he was the recipient of a handsome waiter of flowers from the Ladies' Memorial association.

The exercises were largely attended, many coming from the country.

At the cemetery Miss Rose Hardin pleasantly recited "Bring Flowers." The graves were then decorated.

At the conclusion of Professor Noah Webster Cooper's address he was the recipient of a handsome waiter of flowers from the Ladies' Memorial association.

The exercises were largely attended, many coming from the country.

At the cemetery Miss Rose Hardin pleasantly recited "Bring Flowers." The graves were then decorated.

At the conclusion of Professor Noah Webster Cooper's address he was the recipient of a handsome waiter of flowers from the Ladies' Memorial association.

The exercises were largely attended, many coming from the country.

At the cemetery Miss Rose Hardin pleasantly recited "Bring Flowers." The graves were then decorated.

At the conclusion of Professor Noah Webster Cooper's address he was the recipient of a handsome waiter of flowers from the Ladies' Memorial association.

The exercises were largely attended, many coming from the country.

At the cemetery Miss Rose Hardin pleasantly recited "Bring Flowers." The graves were then decorated.

At the conclusion of Professor Noah Webster Cooper's address he was the recipient of a handsome waiter of flowers from the Ladies' Memorial association.

The exercises were largely attended, many coming from the country.

able penalty which dissection brings; more enduring than the old, because the income of liberty has been buried on the altars of every household in the land.

"Standing upon the pedestal of the present, we view the gathering glories which crowd the vista of coming years before us, the blinding sun of the past, the smoke and cloudy mists that invest the present; over and above the dust and din that rise from the clamorous and desperate forces that are now at war, the oriental horizon brightens with a growing splendor which hastens reaping darkness and presages coming day. Slowly the foggy mists that obscure the dawning melt away and reveal a miraculous landscape dotted with homes that glow with comfort and fields that glisten with wealth. The contending factions, which, maddened with selfish greed, made war upon the courts of men and the temples of God, have been reconciled by the pacific forces of universal enlightenment. Patriotism has supplanted partisanship and the love of home and country is the most exalted virtue among men."

The speaker urged that our sacred traditions and memories should not be forgotten in the maelstrom of change, and closed with a splendid tribute to the south. No synopsis would do the speech or speaker justice.

After the orations and benediction by Rev. Dr. Hayes, the graves of the immortal heroes who were the gray were hidden from the view by a wealth of the sweetest flowers of spring. A salute was fired by the military, after which the vast crowd dispersed.

WAYNESBORO, Ga., April 25.—[Special.]—Our city enjoyed a gala day yesterday in the celebration of the annual holiday, generally observed today, but owing to business, our people preferred to close their stores yesterday. A large crowd from the country and neighboring towns and cities aided in swelling the attendance. The military were out in full force in the morning. Captain H. H. Perry, of the Burke Light Infantry, turned out with two men and three lieutenants, and Captain W. A. Wilkins, at the same hour, with thirty-eight privates and three lieutenants. The companies both engaged in a general drill to the delight of the audience of both ladies and gentlemen.

Colonel J. C. Levy, of Augusta, who was here only a few weeks ago, again inspected the Burke Light Infantry. No extended programme was had in the decoration of the soldiers' graves.

MR. BAYNETT, THE ORATOR.
It was generally known, however, that Mr. H. B. Barnett, a brilliant lawyer of Augusta, was the orator of the day. After the drill in the forenoon, both the ladies and children assembled at the Gray's hall. Promptly at 3 o'clock p. m. each body formed a procession, the ladies and children being marshalled by Professor A. M. Patterson, and the citizens and old confederates by Captain James W. Matthews, of the famous Third Georgia regiment, and the march was commenced to the city of the dead behind the regular drill taps of muffled drums.

Arriving at and forming a large circle around the resting places of the sleeping brave southerners, the assembly sang the song written from "Stonewall Jackson's" last words, "Let us pass over the river and rest on the other side of the river." The song was sung by the ladies and children, and the gentlemen. The song was sung by the ladies and children, and the gentlemen. The song was sung by the ladies and children, and the gentlemen.

Mr. Hall's address in the beginning brought forth tears of sympathy. He said that many old soldiers were present, and that they were all veterans of the war. He said that they were all veterans of the war, and that they were all veterans of the war. He said that they were all veterans of the war, and that they were all veterans of the war.

Mr. Hall's address in the beginning brought forth tears of sympathy. He said that many old soldiers were present, and that they were all veterans of the war. He said that they were all veterans of the war, and that they were all veterans of the war. He said that they were all veterans of the war, and that they were all veterans of the war.

Mr. Hall's address in the beginning brought forth tears of sympathy. He said that many old soldiers were present, and that they were all veterans of the war. He said that they were all veterans of the war, and that they were all veterans of the war. He said that they were all veterans of the war, and that they were all veterans of the war.

Mr. Hall's address in the beginning brought forth tears of sympathy. He said that many old soldiers were present, and that they were all veterans of the war. He said that they were all veterans of the war, and that they were all veterans of the war. He said that they were all veterans of the war, and that they were all veterans of the war.

as a word of inspiration. Men and women have always had time to pause to apply the words of daring and of dawn. In our land we are proud of the wonderful record of our confederate military, and today we are living to the heroism of the men of the south.

It is in the statement of plain facts that we find the most eloquent tribute to the confederate arms. Neither eloquence nor rhetoric can compare with the plain statement of the facts in establishing the wonderful valor of our confederate soldier and the heroism of the southern people.

After reading from their records to show under what disadvantages and against what odds they had to contend, he said that he did not mention these things to remind the passions long since buried, but in justice to the fallen heroes whose deeds adorn the pages of our history. He said that he did not mention these things to remind the passions long since buried, but in justice to the fallen heroes whose deeds adorn the pages of our history.

The orator then spoke at some length on the possibility of the future, maintaining that the custom of attributing the future to the peripety of the present day to the agencies of motion by the war to be an unfounded delusion. The industries of the south, he said, were hindered by the desolation and horror, paralysis produced by that great struggle, would have kept pace with the development of the rest of the nation. The industries of the south, he said, were hindered by the desolation and horror, paralysis produced by that great struggle, would have kept pace with the development of the rest of the nation.

After some further words in this connection, the speaker closed his address with an eloquent tribute to the heroism of the confederate arms. He said that he did not mention these things to remind the passions long since buried, but in justice to the fallen heroes whose deeds adorn the pages of our history.

Mr. Hall's address in the beginning brought forth tears of sympathy. He said that many old soldiers were present, and that they were all veterans of the war. He said that they were all veterans of the war, and that they were all veterans of the war. He said that they were all veterans of the war, and that they were all veterans of the war.

Mr. Hall's address in the beginning brought forth tears of sympathy. He said that many old soldiers were present, and that they were all veterans of the war. He said that they were all veterans of the war, and that they were all veterans of the war. He said that they were all veterans of the war, and that they were all veterans of the war.

Mr. Hall's address in the beginning brought forth tears of sympathy. He said that many old soldiers were present, and that they were all veterans of the war. He said that they were all veterans of the war, and that they were all veterans of the war. He said that they were all veterans of the war, and that they were all veterans of the war.

Mr. Hall's address in the beginning brought forth tears of sympathy. He said that many old soldiers were present, and that they were all veterans of the war. He said that they were all veterans of the war, and that they were all veterans of the war. He said that they were all veterans of the war, and that they were all veterans of the war.

Mr. Hall's address in the beginning brought forth tears of sympathy. He said that many old soldiers were present, and that they were all veterans of the war. He said that they were all veterans of the war, and that they were all veterans of the war. He said that they were all veterans of the war, and that they were all veterans of the war.

Mr. Martin, himself a confederate soldier, was in full sympathy with his subject, and made an address of rare eloquence and entrancing eulogy. The speaker was frequently interrupted with applause and many an eye was dimmed as he touched with a master's hand the fountains of loving sympathy.

After the opera house services the procession as reformed and marched to Oak Grove cemetery, where the graves of twenty-five confederate veterans and two federal soldiers were covered by loving hands with banks of flowers.

To the Ladies' Memorial association is due the credit of having secured the services of the opera house and the cemetery.

Atlanta Real Estate Exchange,

portant Soul." Those who have had the pleasure of listening to Dr. Saul speak of him as an enthusiastic, earnest and pleasing speaker. We will, no doubt, entertain those who may come to hear him. You are cordially invited to attend this meeting, 3 o'clock sharp.

YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION,
Corner Wheat and Pryor streets.—C. A. Lickley, secretary; Roger B. Marx, president.

Treating Patients by Correspondence.
It is rarely necessary to visit our patients. Many patients can be better treated that way than by meeting the physician direct. Patients should always give age, sex, married or single, present and former residences (as near as possible), and occupation. Follow this with history of case in your own language, giving all symptoms, inclosing stamp for reply. Address:

W. TUCKER, M.D.,
Fleetside Medical Institute,
80 Harbortown Road, Boston, Mass.
Send your own card and return address.

Chattanooga Land, Coal, Iron & R. R. Co.
A. FRIERSON, Real Estate Agent and Land Auctioneer, Chattanooga, Tenn.

... A. FRANKSON, now living again in same apartment, Chicago, Ill.

HERE'S REED AGAIN.

NOT COUNTING A QUORUM IN THE HOUSE.
BUT STILL SLANDERING THE SOUTH.

At a Banquet in Pittsburgh in Responding to a Toast He Relieves Himself of Some of His Spleen.

PITTSBURGH, April 26.—The fourth annual dinner of the American Republican club, of Pittsburgh, was given tonight, the anniversary of General Grant's birthday. For its guests the club had all the prominent members of the party in the state and some from more distant points. In the Washington delegation were Speaker Reed, Representative Dalzell, Senator Quay, Marshall Cushing, Postmaster General Wananaker, Private Secretary Colonel H. L. Swords and others. Speaker Reed spoke as follows to the toast, "The Republican Party."

SPEAKER REED'S SPEECH.
Your toast strikes the only possible note of continued victory for the republican party. Continued victory we must have—not as partisans, but as patriots; not on the past, but on the future. If we are not today in the forefront of human progress, to have been the followers of Abraham Lincoln, in years gone by, is not an honor, but a burning disgrace. Progress is the essence of republicanism. To have met emergencies as they arose has been our history. To meet great emergencies as they shall arise must be our daily walk and duty, or we cease to be. Hanging on to old traditions is the business of the democratic party, and it does that business well. We can never rival it.

I have not for years seen one of those who have talked about the south. For the last eight years no man has heard me in the house, or in the campaign, discourse upon either outrages or wrongs, murders or shootings, or hangings. My silence did not arise from any approval of murder, of terrorism, or of fraud at elections. It did not arise from any ignorance of facts, or any doubts of great wrongs, which are perpetrated against the government by the people. It arose from a conviction deep-seated in my mind that the remedy for political wrongs could not come from politicians, but from the people. Until they were aroused, any efforts of ours would be utterly in vain. In fact, politicians are only seventh-hour men. They are workers of their party, but they never bear the burden and heat of the day. If they cry aloud before their hour, they only turn back the shadow on the dial.

It is known to every body that the south denies that cheating is a part and parcel of their election. It is equally known to every body that that denial is not true. The south has passed through many stages. The KKK first deployed its midnight terror to intimidate voters. Then came midnight shooting and hangings. Then came the driving of negro politicians into the woods in the darkness of night. At present, murders have mostly passed away and terrorizing and midnight marauders.

Ballot-box stuffing and cheating in the count have taken their places. Throughout all this variety of wickedness, I call upon you to note one single fact, that while it existed every one of these crimes against the government was most solemnly denied by the southern press and southern people. No man denies them today. Let us come at some principles which are fundamental in this matter. The negro is a citizen of the United States. He has just as much right to vote and have his voice counted as anybody on earth.

That he is poor and ignorant does not under the constitution put upon him the burden of the exercise of intelligence, and manhood, and riches; manhood and not learning, is the basis of our government. We would like all our citizens to be learned, we wish they were all rich; but until they become both we will take the average of all of them as they are. Nothing less than that would be a government "by the people."

While the south denies frauds in elections—cheating, and ballot-box stuffing—singularly enough, they justify them. Why they defend them, if they don't happen, you cannot understand on principle of high, but you can on principles of lying. The defense is, that otherwise the white race would be dominated by colored ignorance. That defense may do for the state of Mississippi, but it will not do for the United States. In Mississippi the blacks are more numerous. In the United States they are but a handful. If in all the congressional districts, where they are in the majority, they should combine and send out their own color they could only muster thirty out of three hundred and thirty. When, therefore, any southern gentleman, however eloquent, seizes on your race feeling, proclaims the danger of ignorant rule, and wakens your sympathy for his misgovernment, do not for an instant forget that all that has nothing to do with federal elections. If Mississippi be in danger of ignorant domination, the United States is not. If cheating in the polls be only a white fraud in South Carolina—excusable because the white man is superior in intellect, though inferior in numbers, there can be no such excuse in the United States election, where the white man, with his superior intellect, is superior in numbers also.

In other words, the excuse, whether it be bad or good, for cheating at state elections, cannot be spread beyond state elections. When a federal election is held, it has nothing to do with the state government, but becomes a part and parcel of the government of the United States at large, where there is no possibility of negro domination, ignorant or otherwise.

The republican vote of the south the republican party is entitled to, under the constitution, whether that vote be ignorant or sensible. If ignorant, we need it to offset the domestic ignorance, which votes in New York and other large cities. Why should they poll their ignorance and we not poll ours?

What is the remedy? When last Thursday the senate committee in charge reported an enlargement of the powers and duties of United States supervisors over state elections, a senator from Alabama took the unusual course of declaring then and there that such supervision of state elections was unconstitutional, and would lead to bloodshed and murder and would be resisted by all possible and impracticable means.

What then is the remedy? I speak only for myself. What I say binds nobody but me, and not even me if the republican party prefers another policy, but, speaking for myself, it seems to me that the only wise course is to take into federal hands federal elections. Let us cut loose from state elections, do our own registration, our own counting, and our own certification. Then the nation will be satisfied. Against this course no constitutional objection can be urged. The Yarbrough case, a decision of the supreme court, covers it all over. No objection can be urged against it on account of sectionalism. It applies to north and south, east and west.

It will put an end to all hickories. The southern states will then, by themselves, grapple with the problem of whether any state of the republic can permanently exclude negroes from rights, of all right of interference, except moral and advisory, from the north, within their own borders and within the limit of their own state rights, they will have what they have longed for, power to work out their own peculiar problems themselves, and I venture the prophecy, that sincerely enter the hope, that relief from the race issue, and the southern people divide, not on the color issue, but on questions which make up sound politics and good government; then, as the constitution of the United States and principles of our American system all will contribute his share to the government of all, and the hopes which were at the foundation of all our great sacrifices, will be finally and completely fulfilled.

Editors' Correction.
In copying for the war statistics of yesterday's paper, page thirteen, an injustice is done our sister state Virginia, which, in the published tables, is without any showing in the exhibit of troops furnished the confederacy. Virginia had six regiments, and the confederacy had six regiments, and the federate armies a total of some eight-six regiments, about twenty of which were cavalry, ten artillery, and the remainder infantry.

Good Templars.
Every Good Templar in the city that desires the success of prohibition should attend the meeting of Georgia Lodge on Monday night.

Don't Forget the West End Lots.
On Park and Lee streets will be sold Tuesday, 2nd, at 3 o'clock. Free ride on 2:30 Whitehall car. G. W. ADAIR. sun mon 1p

Don't Forget the West End Lots.
On Park and Lee streets will be sold Tuesday, 2nd, at 3 o'clock. Free ride on 2:30 Whitehall car. G. W. ADAIR. sun mon 1p

To the Members of the Georgia Bar Association.
The next meeting of this association will be held in August, Ga., on May 15th, 1890.

Hon. John G. Carr, on May 15th, 1890, will deliver the annual address. Papers will be read by several distinguished and learned lawyers, among which will be a history of the code of 1827, by a gentleman well qualified to write such a paper.

Reduced rates will probably be given by all the railroads. Respectfully,
Sec. Ga. Bar Association,
Cartersville, Ga., April 26th, 1890.
April 27—sun wed 1p

Don't Forget the West End Lots.
On Park and Lee streets will be sold Tuesday, 2nd, at 3 o'clock. Free ride on 2:30 Whitehall car. G. W. ADAIR. sun mon 1p

Don't Forget the West End Lots.
On Park and Lee streets will be sold Tuesday, 2nd, at 3 o'clock. Free ride on 2:30 Whitehall car. G. W. ADAIR. sun mon 1p

Don't Forget the West End Lots.
On Park and Lee streets will be sold Tuesday, 2nd, at 3 o'clock. Free ride on 2:30 Whitehall car. G. W. ADAIR. sun mon 1p

Don't Forget the West End Lots.
On Park and Lee streets will be sold Tuesday, 2nd, at 3 o'clock. Free ride on 2:30 Whitehall car. G. W. ADAIR. sun mon 1p

Don't Forget the West End Lots.
On Park and Lee streets will be sold Tuesday, 2nd, at 3 o'clock. Free ride on 2:30 Whitehall car. G. W. ADAIR. sun mon 1p

Don't Forget the West End Lots.
On Park and Lee streets will be sold Tuesday, 2nd, at 3 o'clock. Free ride on 2:30 Whitehall car. G. W. ADAIR. sun mon 1p

Don't Forget the West End Lots.
On Park and Lee streets will be sold Tuesday, 2nd, at 3 o'clock. Free ride on 2:30 Whitehall car. G. W. ADAIR. sun mon 1p

Don't Forget the West End Lots.
On Park and Lee streets will be sold Tuesday, 2nd, at 3 o'clock. Free ride on 2:30 Whitehall car. G. W. ADAIR. sun mon 1p

Don't Forget the West End Lots.
On Park and Lee streets will be sold Tuesday, 2nd, at 3 o'clock. Free ride on 2:30 Whitehall car. G. W. ADAIR. sun mon 1p

Don't Forget the West End Lots.
On Park and Lee streets will be sold Tuesday, 2nd, at 3 o'clock. Free ride on 2:30 Whitehall car. G. W. ADAIR. sun mon 1p

Don't Forget the West End Lots.
On Park and Lee streets will be sold Tuesday, 2nd, at 3 o'clock. Free ride on 2:30 Whitehall car. G. W. ADAIR. sun mon 1p

Don't Forget the West End Lots.
On Park and Lee streets will be sold Tuesday, 2nd, at 3 o'clock. Free ride on 2:30 Whitehall car. G. W. ADAIR. sun mon 1p

Don't Forget the West End Lots.
On Park and Lee streets will be sold Tuesday, 2nd, at 3 o'clock. Free ride on 2:30 Whitehall car. G. W. ADAIR. sun mon 1p

Don't Forget the West End Lots.
On Park and Lee streets will be sold Tuesday, 2nd, at 3 o'clock. Free ride on 2:30 Whitehall car. G. W. ADAIR. sun mon 1p

Don't Forget the West End Lots.
On Park and Lee streets will be sold Tuesday, 2nd, at 3 o'clock. Free ride on 2:30 Whitehall car. G. W. ADAIR. sun mon 1p

Don't Forget the West End Lots.
On Park and Lee streets will be sold Tuesday, 2nd, at 3 o'clock. Free ride on 2:30 Whitehall car. G. W. ADAIR. sun mon 1p

Don't Forget the West End Lots.
On Park and Lee streets will be sold Tuesday, 2nd, at 3 o'clock. Free ride on 2:30 Whitehall car. G. W. ADAIR. sun mon 1p

JOHN ALLEN ONCE MORE

HAS A WORD OF INTEREST TO THE REPUBLICANS.

A SCATHING ATTACK ON QUAY.

The Pennsylvania Boss, Who is Under Charges of a Scandalous Character—The Fight Against Crisp.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—[Special.]—John Allen, of Mississippi, made another decided hit in the house today. He ridiculed Boss Quay in such a manner that members of both parties almost split their sides with laughter, and democrats applauded repeatedly.

Just after the house met, Mr. Allen rose to a question of personal privilege. He read from the Philadelphia Enquirer a dispatch stating that in his speech the other day, he had uttered a vulgar tirade of abuse against Senator Quay, and had called him a thief. He said he had done nothing of the kind. He had simply said, in reply to Mr. Cannon's reference to defaulting southern treasurers, that if there were defaulters among them, the democratic party did not take and make them chairmen of the national democratic committee. He did not say Quay was a defaulter, but it had been charged in the newspapers, and if it was not true he would be glad to prosecute a case against them for Mr. Quay, and if it came to a pinch he would take the case on a contingent fee.

THE RESOLUTIONS READ.
This created great laughter, for it has been noted that Senator Quay has not denied the charges of defalcation. Then John Allen read a set of resolutions, just passed by the republican state committee of Pennsylvania, renewing their confidence in Senator Quay, and denouncing Allen as a fire-eater, conspiring to break down Quay and the republican party. Allen in his most humorous manner denied being a fire-eater, stating that he did not like fire, and he never ate it. He then said in reply to that resolution he wanted to read one from the city council of Tupelo, Mississippi. With this he pulled from his pocket a lot of telegraph paper and explained that it was a set of resolutions just telegraphed from Tupelo. Of course, Allen had fixed them up himself, as a parody on the Pennsylvania committee resolutions. But they were rich and created no end of laughter. They denounced senatorial republican papers as conspiring to destroy the great democratic leaders, and to break down the growing fame and influence of "Private" John Allen, who had served with distinction as an honorable member of the city council of Tupelo. The dispatch was lengthy, but comical in the extreme, and was received with shouts of laughter.

Allen concluded by saying he was no party to any conspiracy to defame or injure the great republican boss. But when Mr. Cannon brought up the southern treasurers, Quay's name was so exposed that he just hit it without thinking.

THE FIGHT AGAINST CRISP.
The fight against Crisp as successor to Randall on the committee on rules, is still going on. The Carlisle-Mills crowd seem more determined than ever to prevent Crisp coming to the front. They are now arguing strongly in favor of a northern man, and although a large majority of the democratic party favors Crisp, it is possible their decided opposition might result in the appointment of a northern man, probably Holman, of Indiana.

THE FEDERAL ELECTION LAW.
The republican leaders have formally decided to impose a federal election upon the south. In their caucus Thursday night, a committee was appointed to prepare a new bill embodying some of the features of both the Lodge and Hoar bills, and to eliminate the kangaroo ballot box feature, and the registration of the Lodge bill, which required a petition from a specified number of voters before congressional elections could be placed under federal supervision. The eliminations are designed to make easier the task of republican judges in calling in the federal marshal to guard the purity of the ballot in the south. The committee met late this afternoon, but no agreement was reached.

GEORGIA POSTMASTERS.
Georgia postmasters appointed today were: I. Manon, Haynie, Floyd county; R. F. Jones, Herndon, Burke county; J. Brown, Rowland, Upson county.

At the request of Mr. Grimes new postoffices were established at Tysonville, Troup county; Baldwinville, Talbot county; Curran, Marion county. E. W. B.

PERSONAL.

M. M. MAUCK, wall paper and paints, paper hanger, house and sign painter, 27 E. Hunt street.
DECORATORS: FRISCO—Pauze, (Shroeter & Co., 6 North Broad street. Relief ornaments, a centre piece, groups, etc. Paper match and cast plaster Paris. sun 1p

"THE DRUMMER HOME," the new Shelman hotel, Cartersville, Ga., P. S. Shelman, proprietor. sun 1p

DR. J. P. HUNTLEY, dentist, 63 Washington street, specialist. Teeth without plates. sun wed

DR. J. P. HUNTLEY, dentist, 63 Washington street, specialist. Gold filling, crown and bridge work. tue sun 1p

C. J. DANFELT, furniture, paper, window shades. 42 Marietta street. Telephone 77. sun 1p

First Methodist Episcopal Church.
Preaching morning and night by the pastor, Rev. H. A. D. Morning subject, "Spiritual Hygiene." (Communicated.)

Notice.
Dear Sir: I saw the advertisement of Akron, Colorado, and determined to visit that city. I met at the depot Charles Brock, of Cissna Park, Illinois. The secretary of the board of trade asked me to come, and was very kind—he got a pair of trousers and drove us over the town and to Rock Springs. There we saw the granite, red sand stone, and the fine building stone, also lime stone, and the application of heat to make it line of the finest kind. They have also fine quality of cement and fire clay, brick clay, mechanical sand, silver and gold mines that have not as yet been worked. They have indications of coal and gas, but we did not inspect them. We were shown the lot that the city are giving away. They are beautifully located on the edge of town, covered with a rich prairie grass, here and there a little flower just coming into bloom. We visited the public schools and found them taught by bright ladies from eastern states with the latest methods, as well furnished with maps, charts and school desks as the best grammar school in Boston. The children sang for us as we listened to their beautiful little songs, home and school day memories came back to us. There are about 1,500 people in Akron, and they number among them some of the most hospitable people we ever met. Everybody was ready to take us by the hand and make us welcome. We do not think the lot, been given away, very valuable, but as they did not cost us anything but the recording, we could not expect them to be very valuable. Akron is going to grow and be a good sized city, the lots there are bound to be taken up soon. Mr. Brock also got a lot for himself, his son-in-law, and for his two neighbors, who he said would all come out and settle here. Why shouldn't they? They have real estate in the west where fortunes are so rapidly made in the increase of values. It commenced to rain that evening, and has rained steadily for twenty-four hours. LEWIS T. P.

COPENHILL.

I now have prices of all those beautiful lots at private sale. Conveyance and salesman ready to show them any time. G. W. ADAIR. apr 26—sat CAUTION. Take no shoes unless W. L. Douglas's name and bottom. If the dealer cannot supply you, direct to factory, enclosing advertised price.

TAKE S.S.S. IN THE SPRING.

Nature should be assisted in the spring to throw off the heaviness of the sluggish winter circulation of the blood. Nothing does it so well, so promptly or so safely as Swift's Specific.

I have used S. S. S. for a number of years, and consider it the best tonic and blood remedy that I ever used. In fact I would not attempt to enter upon a spring or summer in this climate without it. H. W. COLEMAN, Of Coleman, Ferguson & Co., Dade City, Fla.

Our book on Blood and Skin Diseases mailed free. SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., Atlanta, Ga.

Atlanta Trunk Factory!
Is now making finest line of TRUNKS AT EXTREMELY LOW PRICES.

As merchants, now is the time to supply your selves with sample Cases, Valises and Trunks. Special attention given to repairs.

LIEBERMAN & KAUFMANN
92 Whitehall.

Off For Europe.

Our Mr. J. P. STEVENS will leave for Europe on Thursday next, where he will spend the summer buying Diamonds, Watches and particular lines of art goods.

Mr. Stevens will be glad to execute special orders for precious stones or works of art, and those who wish to buy direct will find it to their interest to confer with him before he leaves.

J. P. STEVENS & BRO., JEWELERS.

THE WEST END IMPROVEMENT CO.

Will sell at auction on Tuesday, 29th instant, at 3 o'clock, their West End property on Park and Lee streets. Attend the sale. G. W. ADAIR. sun mon 5p

CAUTION. Take no shoes unless W. L. Douglas's name and bottom. If the dealer cannot supply you, direct to factory, enclosing advertised price.

W. L. DOUGLAS $3 SHOE FOR GENTLEMEN.
Best Calf, Heavy Laced Grain and Crepe. W. L. Douglas, Brockton, Mass. Sold by

Best in the world. Examine his $3.00 and $3.50 HAND-SEWED SHOES. $3.50 POLICE AND PATROL SHOES. $3.50 EXTRA VALUE Calf Shoes. $3.25 & $3 WORKINGMEN'S SHOES. All made in Congress, Boston and Looe.

$3 & $2 SHOES LADIES.
$1.75 SHOE FOR MISSES. Best Material, Best Style, Best Fitting. W. L. Douglas, Brockton, Mass. Sold by

G. H. & A. W. FORCE, 33 Whitehall. PRICE & FOSTER, 24 Marietta St. J. E. WARNOCK, 61 Peachtree St. Jan 1—6pm wed fri sun

FUNERAL NOTICE.

HICKLEY—The friends and acquaintances of Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Hickley are respectfully invited to attend the funeral of the latter from the Church of the Immaculate Conception at 3 o'clock p.m. The following gentlemen will please act as pall-bearers and meet at the office of Hiley & Taylor at 1 o'clock p.m.: Cap Numan, Hugh Flynn, N. L. Irwin, Jas. John M. K. Murphy, M. Riley. Cincinnati and Indianapolis papers please copy.

MAYER.—The friends and acquaintances of the late Hon. David Mayer are invited to pay the last tribute of respect to his memory. This (Sunday) afternoon, 2 o'clock. Funeral from the family residence, 161 Whitehall street. The following of his friends are requested to serve as an escort: From the reliable, so we concluded we would have A. L. Kutz, Colonel L. P. Grant, Major W. F. Slator. From Capital City bank—Major J. H. Ketner, Mr. John C. Hallman, Hon. D. A. Beale, Mr. J. A. Colvin. From Fulton lodge, F. and A. M.—W. L. Hubbard, R. E. Wilson, Isaac Steinheimer, A. Rosenfeld. From the Hebrew congregation—Mr. J. T. Eichberg, Mr. Max Kutz, Mr. L. Lieberman, Sr. A. Kreisel. Additional escort—Mr. W. F. Parkhurst, Mr. E. E. Rawson, Mr. J. C. Kinkaid, Judge L. E. Blackley, Hon. W. L. Calhoun, Hon. N. J. Hammond, Colonel S. Well, Mr. S. M. Inman. Interment at Westview cemetery, with Masonic honors.

DEATH NOTICE.

FURTELL—After a lingering illness Mr. E. C. Furtell, died yesterday evening at the residence of Mr. W. H. Frizzell, 417 East Fair street. Due notice of the funeral will be given.

"A GALA DAY OF BARGAINS."

A WHIRLWIND OF SURPRISES

—IN PRICES OF—FABRICS OF EVERY DESCRIPTION!
—AT—

Tomorrow Morning EVERY ARTICLE in the Immense Stock of this Vast Emporium will be Marked at Figures that will Create a Sensation in the Mercantile of the South, and delight the Enormous Patronage of this Leading Southern Trading Mast.

Behold Our Wonderful Prices for Tomorrow.

- 250 Dress Patterns, fancy Colored Challies at 25c pattern!
- 114 pieces double width English Beiges at 5c yard.
- 1,500 yards fancy Gingham at 2 1/2 c yard.
- 150 pieces double width Alpaca at 10c yard.
- 116 pieces summer weight, all wool flannels, at 29c yard.
- 98 pieces colored Henrietta cloths, at 25c yard.
- 67 pieces fine wool outing cloths, stripes and plaids, at 19c yard.
- 32 pieces fancy India silks at 59c yard, worth $1.25.
- 64 pieces colored Surah Silks at 29c yard, 50c value.
- 37 pieces fine black silks, all makes, at 98c yard, worth $1.25.
- 32 pieces, fine all wool black cashmere, at 50c yard.
- 89 fine French novelty suits at $6 each, worth $12.50.
- All our fine French novelty suits marked down at half price.
- 100 pieces all wool challies at 18c yard.
- 250 pieces challies, elegant patterns, at 5c yard.
- 1 case white India Linen at 5c yard.
- 1 case very sheer checked and striped India Linen at 5c yard.
- 1 case black India Linen at 10c yard.
- 30 pieces black, striped and plaid Organdies at 10c yard.
- 1 case fine France Percales, 36 inches wide, 10c yard.
- No such assortment of Dress Goods can be found in any Dry Goods Store in the southern states, and we simply challenge the whole country to equal our prices.
- 1 bale 16-inch all Linen Crash at 5c yard.
- 1 bale 16-inch red and blue checked Glass Toweling, all linen, at 5c yard.
- 150 dozen large size all linen Towels at 10c each.
- 300 dozen Satin Damask, extra large size, at 33 1/3 c each, worth 75c.
- 98 dozen large size white Counterpanes at 60c each, worth $1.
- 25 pieces 10-4 Bleached Sheeting at 21c yard.
- 15 pieces 46-inch Pillow Casing at 9 1/2 c yard.
- Elegant assortment of Stamped Linen Tidies, Splashes, Pillow Shams, etc.
- 50 pieces Unbleached Table Linen, fancy border, at 20c yard.
- 15,000 yards all linen Torchon Lace at 5c yard.
- 50,000 yards fine Hamburg Embroidery at 5c yard, worth 20c.
- 10,000 yards wide Hamburg Embroidery at 10c yard, worth 25c.
- 240 pieces 45-inch hemstitched Skirting at 75c yard, $2 value.
- 3,000 dozen ladies' fancy bordered, hemstitched Handkerchiefs at 3c each.
- 1,500 dozen men's fancy bordered, hemstitched Handkerchiefs at 10c each, worth 35c.
- Ladies' all pure Silk Vests at 55c each.
- Ladies' Swiss ribbed Vests, nice quality, only 10c each.
- 1,000 Boys' Waists, celebrated Monogram brand, tucked backs, only 25c each, worth 50c.
- 250 dozen men's full regular made superfine British Half Hose at 15c pair, worth 25c.
- 147 dozen men's full regular made Half-Hose, solid colors, at 15c pair, 25c value.
- 350 dozen men's full regular made fancy striped Half Hose at 20c pair, worth 35c.
- 1,500 dozen men's best quality 2,100 thread all linen Collars, latest styles, at 10c each, worth 25c.
- 150 dozen men's best 4-ply all linen Cuffs at 15c pair, worth 35c.
- Boys' Windsor Scarfs only 5c each.
- Men's Scarfs, new styles, from 15c each upwards.
- 1 case men's Balbriggan Shirts and Drawers only 25c each.
- 37 dozen men's fancy striped Balbriggan Shirts and Drawers only 45c each, worth 75c.
- Complete assortment of infants', misses' and ladies' Underwear, in gauze, lisle thread, ribbed, etc.
- 150 Parasols, elegant quality, at $1.50 each, worth $4.
- 110 pieces 48-inch Black Drapery Nets just opened.
- The largest and handsomest assortment of Fancy Buckles to select from in the city:
- 750 rolls China Matting at 7 1/2 c yard.
- 500 rolls English Tapestry Carpets at 43c yard.
- 500 pairs Men's Patent Leather Shoes, very latest styles, at $1.50 pair, worth from $3.50 to $4.50.
- 350 pairs Men's Hand Made Shoes at $2.50 a pair, worth $4.
- 1,500 pairs Boys' Low Quarters Shoes, all sizes, at 50c pair, worth $1.
- OUR PRICES ARE UNAPPROACHABLE.

John Ryan's Sons

Wanted—Boards.

COUNTRY BOARD IN DELIGHTFUL SUB-urban home with private family, for refined married couple of two single gentlemen. Large grounds, Jersey cow, full garden, best of water and pure air; on Georgia railroad, 15 minutes and 10 cents to city; frequent trains. References. Rural, Constitution.

WANTED BOARDERS AT NO 25 NORTH FOR-ryth, some new painted rooms suitable for families, with good board.

BOARDERS WANTED—AT 9 HUNTER ST., two doors from Peachtree, central, nice location; large rooms, nicely furnished, choice table, new management.

BOARDERS—IF YOU WILL TELL YOUR landlord to get pure milk and butter you will be better pleased. Can be found at E. South's milk depot and restaurant, 115 DeCATUR street.

A COUPLE OF GENTLEMEN OR GENTLEMAN and wife can find nice furnished rooms and board in private family; 115 Hunter st.

BOARDERS WANTED—NICE FRONT ROOM (unfurnished) and nice suite of rooms on first floor will be vacated in a few days. These rooms, with first-class board, may be secured at 86 Ivy street.

WANTED BOARDERS AT 85 LOYD STREET (near union depot), where they will find first-class accommodations at very reasonable rates. Their set on.

BOARDERS WANTED—A FEW WHO CAN give best references can get board at 31 North Forsyth.

BOARD AT THE FLORIDA HOUSE, NO. 85 N. Forsyth street. Terms $5 to $10 per week. Transients $1 and $1.50 per day. 4648-47.

PERMANENT AND TRANSIENT BOARD AT 28 and 28 North Forsyth street. The best accommodations.

Wanted—Agents.

AGENTS WANTED—SALEABLE GOODS, ONE agent in Georgia and South. Address: 115 Peachtree, Atlanta.

WANTED—LADY AGENTS FOR MY NEW "Novelty" water-proof, skirt, pants, hose and diaper apron combined. The cutest little garment ever made. Agents make $4.00 daily. Also Melrose water-proof "Rabbits," "French Peasants," Mother Hubbard's—Alpaca outside, rubber inside! Full line ladies' and children's furnishings, goods. Stamp for catalogue. E. H. Campbell, 441 Randolph st., Chicago.

WANTED—LIVE AGENTS IN EVERY TOWN in Georgia to take orders for our famous 33 pants; exclusive territory given. Address: 115 Peachtree, Atlanta.

WANTED—FIRST-CLASS, RESPONSIBLE agent to introduce "The Cashier," the only successful, popular register in the market; liberal discount and exclusive territory to competent man, and a rare opportunity to engage in a lucrative permanent business. American Cash Register company, 99-100 Washington street, Chicago, Ill.

WANTED—CLASSIFYING AGENT IN EVERY city and town to sell Parker's Extension Handic, a new and useful, salable and profitable article of household goods. Agents make $75 per week. Write for agents' terms. A. C. Parker & Co., Memphis, Tenn.

ADV AGENTS COINING MONEY—WONDER-ful full new rule, coiners, makers, and makers. Proof free. Address: 115 Clark street, Chicago, Ill.

AGENTS WANTED ON SALARY, $75 PER month and expenses, to sell our new and improved women to sell our goods by sample and live at home. Salary paid promptly and expenses in advance. Full particulars and sample case free. Write to us just what we say. Address: Standard Silverware Co., Boston, Mass.

Wanted—Miscellaneous.

WANTED—A SMALL LOT AT OAKLAND cemetery, at a reasonable cash price. Address: 115 Clark street, Chicago, Ill.

WANTED—OPEN KITCHEN, about 12-15 square feet, capable, also a letter press and writing machine. Prices must be low. The Commercial Oil Co., 40 East Alabama street.

IF YOU WANT TO RENT STABLES FOR YOUR horses, or have them boarded cheap, call at 56 South Pryor street.

WANTED—A SECOND-HAND SET OF TIN-ners' tools. State number of pieces, kinds, and price. L. A. Adams, Chicago, Ill.

WANTED—30 SHARES ATLANTA AND WEST Point railroad stock. We are prepared to negotiate loans and handle purchase money notes. B. & H. Hall, 31 S. Broad street.

WANTED—HORSES TO PASTURE, CARE and attention given them. Big head pre-matured. Fair prices paid for horses that have it. W. F. Link, city. Telephone 34.

WANTED—TO INFORM MY FRIENDS THAT I am sole agents for the "Buck Lead," the best white lead in the world. I carry a full line of painters' supplies and garden seed. Write for prices. W. F. Gresham, 64 South Broad street.

WANTED—HALF A CENT PER POUND PAID for clean broken glass, each color separate, delivered at the factory. Special arrangements made with parties having large quantities. Atlanta Glass Co., 40 East Alabama street.

VISITORS TO THE CITY ARE INVITED to call at McNeil's wall paper house, 141 Whitehall street, and get his prices.

For Sale—Miscellaneous.

NOR SALE—CHEAP—LARGE SODA WATER fountain, show cases and bakery fixtures. Call or address: 115 Peachtree, Atlanta.

1000—LOADS SHAVINGS FOR SALE. Dobbins Lumber Company, corner Mitchell and Mangum streets.

CALIPHAR, SOMETHING FINE, only $35, worth $85. Elegant sideboard only $100, cost $250. Other furniture just as cheap. Olet's, 50 Marietta st.

NOR SALE—TEN SHARES OF THE STOCK of the First National Bank of Cartersville. Address: C. P. Barker, room 23, Gould building.

NOR SALE—VERY CHEAP, FINE TUTT'S copper soda fountains, in first-class condition. Apply for particulars and prices. Address: A. M. McCulloch, box 32, Rome, Ga.

NOR SALE—THREE THOROUGHbred JER-seys, fresh in milk, one bull eleven months old, three heifers eight to twelve months old, one with drop a calf. A bargain can be had. Lock box 228, Westminster, S. C.

NOR SALE—JUST RECEIVED, ONE CARLOAD of "Buck Lead," the best white lead in the world. Write for prices and circulars. Carries in stock a full line of painters' supplies and garden seed. W. F. Gresham, 64 South Broad street.

Miscellaneous.

NOR SALE—ON EASY TERMS, TWO-ROOM houses; rent at $10 per month. Dobbins Lumber Company, corner Mitchell and Mangum streets.

THE FINEST ASSORTMENT OF WALL PAPER and picture rolls in the city at W. S. McNeil's. Try him. He will please you. Call at 141 Whitehall or telephone 433.

GOOD MATTERS ONLY 10 CENTS, MARKING and pressing. 115 Peachtree, Atlanta.

Instruction.

CLONAN'S ATLANTA SCHOOL OF TELEGRAPHY, fully equipped, instruction of the kind south. Address: D. U. Sloan, manager, 15 E. Mitchell, Atlanta, Ga.

GOLDENBATH & SULLIVAN'S BUSINESS COLLEGE, fitted building. Most practical college south. Life insurance, which includes stock, bonds and dividends. References. Moore, Marsh & Co., C. C. & J. F. Kiser & Co., Atlanta National Bank and Atlanta Constitution—Night school also.

CRICHTON'S SCHOOL OF SHORTHAND.

CRICHTON'S SCHOOL OF SHORTHAND.

CRICHTON'S SCHOOL OF SHORTHAND.

CRICHTON'S SCHOOL OF SHORTHAND.

CRICHTON'S SCHOOL OF SHORTHAND.

CRICHTON'S SCHOOL OF SHORTHAND.

CRICHTON'S SCHOOL OF SHORTHAND.

CRICHTON'S SCHOOL OF SHORTHAND.

CRICHTON'S SCHOOL OF SHORTHAND.

CRICHTON'S SCHOOL OF SHORTHAND.

CRICHTON'S SCHOOL OF SHORTHAND.

CRICHTON'S SCHOOL OF SHORTHAND.

CRICHTON'S SCHOOL OF SHORTHAND.

CRICHTON'S SCHOOL OF SHORTHAND.

CRICHTON'S SCHOOL OF SHORTHAND.

CRICHTON'S SCHOOL OF SHORTHAND.

CRICHTON'S SCHOOL OF SHORTHAND.

CRICHTON'S SCHOOL OF SHORTHAND.

CRICHTON'S SCHOOL OF SHORTHAND.

Huzza Trunk Factory

HAS REMOVED TO 36 SOUTH PRYOR ST. In Surgical Institute building. BRING YOUR OLD SAMPLE CASES TO HUZZA and have them repaired, at 36 South Pryor street, in Surgical Institute building.

HAVE YOUR TRUNKS REPAIRED AND COV-ered at 36 South Pryor street, in Surgical Institute building.

HAVE YOUR SAMPLE CASES AND TRUNKS made to order to suit you at Huzza's, 36 South Pryor street, in Surgical Institute building.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern improvements. In good locality. Apply at 344 Whitehall street.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

FOR RENT—A NICE 7-ROOM FURNISHED house in Edgewood for the summer. Call at 36 South Pryor street, Atlanta, Ga.

FOR RENT—4 WEST PETERS ST.—SEVEN rooms just refurnished; water and gas. Apply 71 Whitehall st.

FOR RENT—A NEW FIVE-ROOM HOUSE, 25 Hill street. Apply 125 W. BAKER.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

FOR RENT—A 7-ROOM HOUSE, WITH ALL modern conveniences, in desirable locality, on electric car line. Apply at 211 Courtland street.

For Sale—Real Estate.

Atlanta Real Estate Exchange, 5 South Pryor Street. CHANCE FOR A CAPITALIST—OSBORN, Shelton & Co. will sell a central property at 12000, 11200 which they guarantee 8 per cent interest on a 5-year lease, taxes and insurance paid by the tenant. What property will be? Besides, 12000 property, the money! Have only this week option on it. "Delays are dangerous."

Street, Atlanta, Ga.

ONE YEAR AGO WE STATED THAT ATLANTA would have a population of 150,000 in five years and 300,000 in ten years. If you don't think so it simply shows that you cannot read the future and have no knowledge of what is required to prosper. Take our advice and buy property, whether you want it for actual use or for speculation.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 93300. High well near dummy line and is the cheapest property in that beautiful suburb at the price we ask, viz., $500.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91215. High well near dummy line, cheap at $350.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91215. High well near dummy line, cheap at $350.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91215. High well near dummy line, cheap at $350.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91215. High well near dummy line, cheap at $350.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91215. High well near dummy line, cheap at $350.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91215. High well near dummy line, cheap at $350.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91215. High well near dummy line, cheap at $350.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91215. High well near dummy line, cheap at $350.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91215. High well near dummy line, cheap at $350.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91215. High well near dummy line, cheap at $350.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91215. High well near dummy line, cheap at $350.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91215. High well near dummy line, cheap at $350.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91215. High well near dummy line, cheap at $350.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91215. High well near dummy line, cheap at $350.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91215. High well near dummy line, cheap at $350.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91215. High well near dummy line, cheap at $350.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91215. High well near dummy line, cheap at $350.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91215. High well near dummy line, cheap at $350.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91215. High well near dummy line, cheap at $350.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91215. High well near dummy line, cheap at $350.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91215. High well near dummy line, cheap at $350.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91215. High well near dummy line, cheap at $350.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91215. High well near dummy line, cheap at $350.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91215. High well near dummy line, cheap at $350.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91215. High well near dummy line, cheap at $350.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91215. High well near dummy line, cheap at $350.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91215. High well near dummy line, cheap at $350.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91215. High well near dummy line, cheap at $350.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91215. High well near dummy line, cheap at $350.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91215. High well near dummy line, cheap at $350.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91215. High well near dummy line, cheap at $350.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91215. High well near dummy line, cheap at $350.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91215. High well near dummy line, cheap at $350.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91215. High well near dummy line, cheap at $350.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91215. High well near dummy line, cheap at $350.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91215. High well near dummy line, cheap at $350.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91215. High well near dummy line, cheap at $350.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91215. High well near dummy line, cheap at $350.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91215. High well near dummy line, cheap at $350.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91215. High well near dummy line, cheap at $350.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91215. High well near dummy line, cheap at $350.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91215. High well near dummy line, cheap at $350.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91215. High well near dummy line, cheap at $350.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91215. High well near dummy line, cheap at $350.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91215. High well near dummy line, cheap at $350.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91215. High well near dummy line, cheap at $350.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91215. High well near dummy line, cheap at $350.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91215. High well near dummy line, cheap at $350.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91215. High well near dummy line, cheap at $350.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91215. High well near dummy line, cheap at $350.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91215. High well near dummy line, cheap at $350.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91215. High well near dummy line, cheap at $350.

HOLDENESS STREET, WEST END, 91

RESIDENCE OF MR. BURGESS SMITH.

WEST END.

ONE OF ATLANTA'S MOST CHARMING SUBURBS.

A Bright Little Spot Where Peace, Prosperity and Contentment Reign—Princely Homes of Prominent Citizens.

When the long summer days come, and you are tired of the dust and smoke and heat of the city, take the street cars, or your horse or your carriage, and drive out Whitehall street. The day is calm, and the atmosphere, dense with dust and smoke, is almost stifling. Those who are so unfortunate as to reside along the crowded thoroughfares are valiantly battling against the day with hammocks and fans and sprinklers, and you wonder that you are so short-sighted as to shut yourself up in the busy city when the fresh fields are so near.

As you reach the limits, you emerge from the dust, and as you ascend the pretty slope toward Park Street church in West End, you breathe a new atmosphere.

On this eminence—the highest point in Atlanta save one—you catch the breeze fresh from the mountains, laden with the fragrance of flowers and the musk of fields.

For does not the wind come from the west, whence came the prevailing summer winds? Not over the city, catching its doubtful odors and its heat and dust, but fresh from the forest, field and farm, fragrant of fruit and flowers and the perfume of green meadows and new-mown hay.

Such is the experience of every visitor to West End on a sultry summer afternoon.

This pleasant suburb is most delightfully situated. Besides catching the prevailing westerly winds before they are contaminated by contact with the crowded city, West End is perched on the highest eminence about the city. Four main streams leaving this pretty table land go east, west, north and south respectively. It is therefore impossible for any of Atlanta's drainage to permeate West End. On the contrary it must go in the opposite direction. None of Atlanta's sewers point toward West End, nor will they, until water commences to run uphill.

SOME PRETTY HOMES.

Conspicuous among the pretty homes in West End is the residence of Captain Evan P. Howell, on Gordon street. This handsome home sits far back from the street, and is approached by circuitous drives that wind about through a broad expanse of lawn and shrubbery. On a summer evening the air about his home is laden with the breath of the honeysuckle and the perfume of flowers that dot here and there the beautiful lawn.

Across the street, set in a beautiful oak grove, is the residence of Colonel B. J. Wilson. Unpretentious in its display of architectural ornamentation, it presents a home-like and cozy appearance, surrounded with grass and fruit and flowers and tempting gardens that are the envy of the passer-by.

On the same street is the handsome modern residence of Mr. Henry H. Potts, completed last year, on the most careful and workmanlike manner; a picture of strength and architectural beauty combined.

One of the largest and costliest homes in West End is that of Mr. Willis E. Venable, on Gordon street, and viewing it from the street it presents a most imposing appearance. Its rooms and halls are large, roomy and airy, and doubtless it affords a charming retreat from the summer's heat.

Probably the most graceful structure and the most picturesque place in West End or about Atlanta is the new modern residence of Mr. George F. Bolles, on Ashby street. Several years ago Mr. Bolles, to the surprise of many, commenced making some improvements on the verge of a precipice on the corner of Ashby and Porter streets. At the time the place was a rocky, barren precipice, uninviting, and the last place ordinarily a person would select for a home. Mr. Bolles, however, thought he saw some latent beauties in the place, and while the world laughed he patiently labored. The first movement of the average builder would have been to grade and level the hill, but Mr.

Bolles thought otherwise. He coaxed the poplars and willows and water oaks in some mysterious way, into a sprightly growth, covering the unsightly precipice with their beautiful foliage and the carnation of honeysuckle and snowflakes of spirea.

Skirting the ravine he planned a circuitous walk that gently ascends the hill amid a labyrinth of evergreens, and at the terminus of the mazy path is perched aloft, overlooking street and cars and lawn, a home so graceful and charming in its contour and proportions, that the passer-by abruptly halts to gaze with wrapt pleasure on the pretty picture.

Level landscapes may have their charms, but this conspicuous success of Mr. Bolles will surely put a premium on precipitous and broken ground for residence lots.

Further out, on the Westview and Atlanta street car line, is the residence of Mr. Burgess Smith, perched high upon a lofty and conspicuous eminence, surrounded by a broad expanse of lawn and garden, and approached by broad and winding carriage ways. A few years ago the site of this imposing structure was a bleak and barren hill, but by careful attention, cultivation and the exercise of a little judgment and taste, it has been rapidly converted into a picture that is pleasing to look upon.

PARK STREET METHODIST CHURCH.

On Ashby street, in full and easy view of Mr. Bolles' and Mr. Smith's, occupying the third of these triple eminences, is the home of Judge John D. Cunningham, where he has resided many years. His residence was most carefully and substantially built a number of years ago, but has been improved almost every year. It is set back from the street in the midst of a large lawn and surrounded by eight or ten acres of ground and garden.

Remote from the noise and "world's maddening strife," is the elegant residence of Mr. W. J. VanDyke. This is located at the extreme southern extremity of Peoples street. Mr. Van Dyke came to Atlanta several years ago from Minneapolis and purchased the Heyward place, which formerly bloomed into beauty under the guiding genius of Judge Dennis F. Hammond. A conspicuous feature of the ground is a beautiful fresh water lake, bordered with a pretty drive and dotted with pleasure boats. Mr. Van Dyke's is an ideal suburban home.

A modern and elegant residence, handsomely furnished and finished in the interior, is that of Captain J. W. Jacobs, on Lee street. Mr. F. R. Bunker, on Gordon street, has a modern and tasty residence.

Major T. H. Blackhall, on corner of Lee and Park streets, has a pretty home and takes pride and exercises good taste in arranging and adorning his grounds.

Mr. W. W. Lambdin, on Lee street, has one of the tastiest homes in West End.

Mr. R. H. Caldwell, on Gordon street, has recently erected a commodious residence.

Mr. Jonathan Norcross's home on Lee street is large, roomy and set back far from the street, overlooking a pleasant slope adorned with hedges of roses.

Mr. G. A. Howell, on Park street, has a delightful home, and directly opposite him is the new two-story residence of Mr. W. I. Zachry, who has recently removed to West End.

Messrs. W. R. Shropshire and J. B. Zachry have pretty homes on Lee street.

Mr. J. D. Frazier has a lovely place on Gordon street, and not far from him is the home of Joel Chandler Harris, who is securely fortified in a comfortable home in the middle of a five acre domain.

Mr. Clark Howell has completed a graceful home on Gordon street; and in a pretty home with grounds as pretty, on Peoples street, resides Mr. Albert Howell.

Dr. E. L. Connally has a large residence and broad grounds at the foot of West End avenue, on Ashby street.

CHURCHES.

There is not another church structure in the country like Park-Street Methodist church. It presents a striking figure nestled in a beautiful grove of oaks and plat of grass at the corner of Park and Lee streets. It belongs to no special style of architecture, yet it is a pretty building. General W. S. Hancock, who viewed it one day several years ago, said it was the prettiest church he had ever seen. Its plan and design is entirely original, furnished by Mr. Humphreys, a former resident of West End, who unhappily met with a tragic death several years ago, and whose character and name is cherished in fond remembrance by the people of West End.

The church is finished in the interior, walls and arched roof, entirely with yellow pine, have erected a comfortable chapel. The lot cost $2,500, and is paid for. In a short while the congregation hope to effect arrangements to erect a commodious church building. The pastor, Rev. N. B. Mathes, is a popular preacher and earnest worker. The church has a membership of 55; has two regular Sunday services, besides Sunday school. The organization of this church and its sure foundation for a substantial building and a growing congregation are due to the efforts of Mrs. Dr. J. M. Alexander, Mr. George J. Dallus, Colonel B. J. Wilson, Mr. E. C. Atkins and Mr. George B. McGaughey.

The Christian church has no building in West End, but they have a successful mission Sunday school, and two societies, "The Circle of Hope," Judge R. L. Rogers, president, and "The West End Lyceum," with Mr. Charles B. as president. They hold their mission Sunday school at 3:30 p. m., in the hall over Caldwell's store.

The Episcopalians have a nucleus for a church also. They have had a donation of a lot worth $2,000 as a beginning, but their former rector, Rev. Mr. Funsten, has recently accepted a call to St. Philip's, and the church, at present has no recognized head. The church, however, has an influential membership in West End, and it is believed that no distant day they will erect a suitable structure.

SCHOOLS.

The remarkable and successful organization of West End academy, a piece of unwritten history, has excited much interest in educational circles throughout the state. A permanent and prosperous school in towns with the population of West End is the exception, rather than the rule. Petty jealousies, religious prejudices and credit system or tuition fees generally wreck nine out of ten, but the wisdom of the operators of West End academy seem to have had the rare foresight to anticipate all dissensions, and to firmly establish a popular school—one that combines the best features of public graded schools with those of select private schools.

Several years ago the citizens raised $3,000 to invest in a school building and ground. This was insufficient. They asked the co-operation of the town government, which heartily sided in the enterprise. The council bought five acres of land on Gordon and Lee streets from Mr. John H. McCaslin, of Atlanta, paying $5,000 for it. In a few weeks the town sold half the lots for $6,500, giving a good surplus to put in a suitable building, and leaving two and a half acres of ground on which to erect a building. A design was quickly obtained, and a building costing about $6,500 was erected and speedily furnished with patent desks, globes, maps and charts. Tuition was fixed at $1 per month for pupils in all grades, payable in advance. The school was put in charge of Professor W. W. Lambdin, whose intelligent, earnest and successful labors in establishing in a few years a graded school that was famous the state over, will be long and gratefully remembered by the people of West End.

Two years ago Professor Lambdin retired from the school to engage in the practice of law, and since that time the school has been controlled by Professor A. J. M. Bizien last year, and Professor J. H. Featherstone this year.

Additions have been made to the school to increase its constant growth, and still more additions will have to be made at an early day.

The graduation of the school covers eleven years, the same as the public schools of Atlanta from the first grade through the curriculum of the Girls' High school. The four assistants, Miss Harden, Miss Nunnally, Miss Davies and Miss Pitts, together with Miss Lillie Smith, the teacher of music, constitute a corps of experienced and industrious workers in the school room. The building now has a capacity for about 240 pupils.

THE VALUE OF PROPERTY. Several years ago the taxable property of West End was only about $400,000. The present assessment is over one million dollars, being about $1,200,000. Many persons have made snug fortunes by investments in the town, for the increase in values has been sure, steady and rapid for seven or eight years, during which time the value of property in many isolated instances has been almost incredible.

One gentleman said: "Property that I paid $1.30 per front foot for seven years ago, I am now selling at from $30 to $37.50 per front foot."

Another said: "A lot I bought eight years ago for $125, I sold six months ago for $2,000, and the purchaser now refuses $3,000 for it."

Whereupon another chimed in: "Ten years ago I bought two and a half acres of land for $300. The same land this year, without improvement, is valued by city and county at $5,000."

Several years ago Dr. Todd bought about fifteen acres on Gordon street, paying about $2,000. Since that time the same property, without improvement, has sold for about $20,000.

Said Mr. Burgess Smith: "One day, several years ago, Mr. George T. Bolles, the well-known bookdealer, came to me and said he was going to Kirkwood that day to purchase a home for himself and family. I asked him, if agreeable, to come to West End before he bought, that I thought he would find a place there that would suit him. The next day I showed him a place containing seven acres. It was a pretty situation, and quickly caught his fancy.

RESIDENCE OF H. M. POTTS.

"What can that be obtained for," said he. "I told him I understood it was for sale at $2,700."

"I'll have it before tomorrow at noon," said he.

"Sure enough he bought it, and, since that time, has sold two of the seven acres for about $10,000, and has the remainder for a home, or for sale, as he may prefer."

Mr. Smith said further: "Five or six years ago I bought three acres on the south side of Park street in the pretty grove where Dr. S. G. Holland resides, for $2,100. In a few weeks I sold it for $3,300, and since that time it has quadrupled in value, and the present owners will not sell at any figures."

About five years ago Mr. G. A. Howell bought four acres of ground on Gordon and Peoples street for about $4,000 or $5,000. He has sold about two-thirds of it at a handsome profit, and the remaining third could not be purchased for what the entire four acres cost him.

Last year West End Improvement company

stead of thirty lamps of uncertain oil lights now on the street, the town will put one hundred lights on the streets as soon as the gas mains are laid.

The residents along Gordon and portions of Lee and Park streets are moving to have those streets paved continuously from the Atlanta limits to the terminus of the Whitehall street car line, and probably several hundred yards beyond. When this is completed it will constitute a beautiful drive through the most interesting portion of West End.

TRANSPORTATION. West End has two street car lines, each running fifteen-minute schedules. On one of these, the Broad street line, running through West End to West View, it is understood there will soon be placed dummies, which will run from Atlanta to West View cemetery. The Whitehall line is believed, will soon be extended a half mile further. Besides, the Central and West Point railroads are arranging for an accommodation schedule on their lines running through West End that will enable a large proportion of West Enders to come to the city in four or five minutes' time.

An electric line of cars is projected, and men of means and business are ready to push it to completion as soon as a satisfactory route and right-of-way are secured.

RESIDENCE COMMUNITY.

West End is emphatically a residence community. There are no manufactories, with soot and dust, no paupers, but a thrifty, well-to-do class of people, who generally own their homes; who have their garden, their flower yards, their horse and cow and fowls, and, who, away from the noise and dust and strife of the great city, live in quiet and comfort.

THE GOVERNMENT.

The town government consists of a mayor and five councilmen, as follows: Mayor—Dr. J. W. Venable. Councilmen—F. R. Bunker, Forrest Adair, Burgess Smith, Albert Howell, J. M. Huncutt.

Clerk and Marshall—J. A. Caldwell. Attorney—L. Z. Ross. Dr. Nelms, the live and energetic mayor, has done West End efficient service since his inauguration in January last, by his vigorous prosecution of offenders against the peace and good order of the town. He has directed his energies directly toward a class of gamblers, thieves and night rioters, who have been trying to make West End a place of refuge from the vigilance of the Atlanta police.

In this way he has collected enough fines to pay the wages of the police force and to keep a considerable street gang at work grading and improving the streets.

PURE SPARKLING WATER.

Do you ever drink water? If so, you should come to West End. The water is pure and cool, delicious, tasting as the water from the "old oaken bucket" tastes, when the traveler, worn with travel, stops on a hot summer day in some sheltered nook in the country to slake his thirst by the pleasant draft from a farm house well. The high table land, with deep wells, uncontaminated by sewage or surface washing, gives up a sparkling and healthful drink, better, even, than the "red wine" of which the poet prates.

THE FUTURE.

West End will grow as fast as Atlanta, proportionately. Property in her borders is owned by men of means, who will improve and dispose of it to the very best advantage for themselves and the people of the community. Several land syndicates own beautiful tracts of forest lands on her borders, and are grading and improving the same, and are arranging for quick transportation to and from the city.

A company of Canadian capitalists have bought a body of 200 acres which they have named West Wood park, right on the border of West End. They have been working and grading this property for more than a year, and will probably open it to the public at an early day.

A DELIGHTFUL VIEW.

West End, being situated on one of the most elevated points about Atlanta, affords a charming view of the mountains, hills and valleys to the north and west. From the loftiest points along Lee and Gordon streets, and from the conspicuous eminence along the West View street car line, a splendid panorama is presented to the view. Twenty miles distant looms up Kennesaw mountain, fifty or sixty miles distant, with their gentle undulations and hazy contour, catch the eye of the beholder, starting pleasing thoughts of verdant valleys, flowering fields, fragrant forests and dashing fairs and rapids speckled with the gamey trout.

Altogether, West End is a most delightful suburb, whose prosperity is assured and whose future is bright and cheerful.

Those of our readers who have not seen Atlanta's most populous suburb, or who have not been there recently, should pay her a visit at once, and enjoy the revelations that she will unfold to those unfamiliar with her recent growth and progress.

nished with patent desks, globes, maps and charts. Tuition was fixed at $1 per month for pupils in all grades, payable in advance.

The school was put in charge of Professor W. W. Lambdin, whose intelligent, earnest and successful labors in establishing in a few years a graded school that was famous the state over, will be long and gratefully remembered by the people of West End.

Two years ago Professor Lambdin retired from the school to engage in the practice of law, and since that time the school has been controlled by Professor A. J. M. Bizien last year, and Professor J. H. Featherstone this year.

Additions have been made to the school to increase its constant growth, and still more additions will have to be made at an early day.

The graduation of the school covers eleven years, the same as the public schools of Atlanta from the first grade through the curriculum of the Girls' High school. The four assistants, Miss Harden, Miss Nunnally, Miss Davies and Miss Pitts, together with Miss Lillie Smith, the teacher of music, constitute a corps of experienced and industrious workers in the school room. The building now has a capacity for about 240 pupils.

THE VALUE OF PROPERTY. Several years ago the taxable property of West End was only about $400,000. The present assessment is over one million dollars, being about $1,200,000. Many persons have made snug fortunes by investments in the town, for the increase in values has been sure, steady and rapid for seven or eight years, during which time the value of property in many isolated instances has been almost incredible.

One gentleman said: "Property that I paid $1.30 per front foot for seven years ago, I am now selling at from $30 to $37.50 per front foot."

Another said: "A lot I bought eight years ago for $125, I sold six months ago for $2,000, and the purchaser now refuses $3,000 for it."

Whereupon another chimed in: "Ten years ago I bought two and a half acres of land for $300. The same land this year, without improvement, is valued by city and county at $5,000."

Several years ago Dr. Todd bought about fifteen acres on Gordon street, paying about $2,000. Since that time the same property, without improvement, has sold for about $20,000.

Said Mr. Burgess Smith: "One day, several years ago, Mr. George T. Bolles, the well-known bookdealer, came to me and said he was going to Kirkwood that day to purchase a home for himself and family. I asked him, if agreeable, to come to West End before he bought, that I thought he would find a place there that would suit him. The next day I nished with patent desks, globes, maps and charts. Tuition was fixed at $1 per month for pupils in all grades, payable in advance.

The school was put in charge of Professor W. W. Lambdin, whose intelligent, earnest and successful labors in establishing in a few years a graded school that was famous the state over, will be long and gratefully remembered by the people of West End.

Two years ago Professor Lambdin retired from the school to engage in the practice of law, and since that time the school has been controlled by Professor A. J. M. Bizien last year, and Professor J. H. Featherstone this year.

purchased a lot of ten or twelve acres on Murphy avenue, far out on the Central railroad, for $6,000. Shortly afterwards it was sold for $8,000, then $12,000, and a few weeks ago was sold for $15,000.

The foregoing are only a few isolated instances of the wonderful enhancement in values of real estate in West End. The demand has been brisk ever since last winter, when West End decided to remain outside of Atlanta.

TAXATION AND IMPROVEMENTS. There were a few persons who were favorable, last fall, to the scheme of annexation of West End to Atlanta, but the great majority of West Enders thought it was better to remain intact with taxation at 20 cents on the $100 than come into the city and be taxed at $1.50 on the $100.

This conviction grew stronger from day to day, as it became apparent that West End, with this rate of taxation, could virtually supply her citizens with all the conveniences and comforts that could be afforded by Atlanta.

She already has a first-class school with a merely nominal tuition. She has, and is now laying good, substantial sidewalks on all the traveled streets in town. She has contracted with the Atlanta Gas Light company to lay gas mains on nearly all the streets; (these pipes are now being laid); the town will, therefore, very soon be well lighted by gas lamps. Invested in the town, for the increase in values has been sure, steady and rapid for seven or eight years, during which time the value of property in many isolated instances has been almost incredible.

One gentleman said: "Property that I paid $1.30 per front foot for seven years ago, I am now selling at from $30 to $37.50 per front foot."

Another said: "A lot I bought eight years ago for $125, I sold six months ago for $2,000, and the purchaser now refuses $3,000 for it."

Whereupon another chimed in: "Ten years ago I bought two and a half acres of land for $300. The same land this year, without improvement, is valued by city and county at $5,000."

Several years ago Dr. Todd bought about fifteen acres on Gordon street, paying about $2,000. Since that time the same property, without improvement, has sold for about $20,000.

Said Mr. Burgess Smith: "One day, several years ago, Mr. George T. Bolles, the well-known bookdealer, came to me and said he was going to Kirkwood that day to purchase a home for himself and family. I asked him, if agreeable, to come to West End before he bought, that I thought he would find a place there that would suit him. The next day I nished with patent desks, globes, maps and charts. Tuition was fixed at $1 per month for pupils in all grades, payable in advance.

The school was put in charge of Professor W. W. Lambdin, whose intelligent, earnest and successful labors in establishing in a few years a graded school that was famous the state over, will be long and gratefully remembered by the people of West End.

Two years ago Professor Lambdin retired from the school to engage in the practice of law, and since that time the school has been controlled by Professor A. J. M. Bizien last year, and Professor J. H. Featherstone this year.

Several years ago Dr. Todd bought about fifteen acres on Gordon street, paying about $2,000. Since that time the same property, without improvement, has sold for about $20,000.

RESIDENCE OF MR. GEORGE F. BOLLES.

nished with patent desks, globes, maps and charts. Tuition was fixed at $1 per month for pupils in all grades, payable in advance.

The school was put in charge of Professor W. W. Lambdin, whose intelligent, earnest and successful labors in establishing in a few years a graded school that was famous the state over, will be long and gratefully remembered by the people of West End.

Two years ago Professor Lambdin retired from the school to engage in the practice of law, and since that time the school has been controlled by Professor A. J. M. Bizien last year, and Professor J. H. Featherstone this year.

nished with patent desks, globes, maps and charts. Tuition was fixed at $1 per month for pupils in all grades, payable in advance.

The school was put in charge of Professor W. W. Lambdin, whose intelligent, earnest and successful labors in establishing in a few years a graded school that was famous the state over, will be long and gratefully remembered by the people of West End.

Two years ago Professor Lambdin retired from the school to engage in the practice of law, and since that time the school has been controlled by Professor A. J. M. Bizien last year, and Professor J. H. Featherstone this year.

NEWMAN.

A City of Industrial Prominence.

With Fifteen Manufacturing Enterprises.

Farming Lands of the Highest Fertility.

A Great Fruit and Grape-Growing Country.

Magnificent Churches and Splendid Schools.

A City Whose Future Is Hopeful and Encouraging.

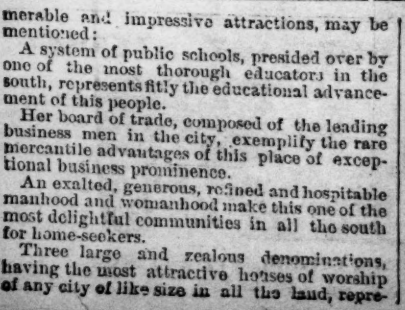

Newman has the lead on manufacturers. Both in the number and magnitude of her industries. She has fifteen important manufacturing enterprises. Operating under a combined capital of four hundred thousand dollars. Showing an aggregate annual output of a half million dollars. A shoe factory of growing dimensions turns out the most substantial work. Harness and collars are manufactured here and sold to the largest cities. Cigars of the best make and most delightful flavor are the product of home labor. The Newman Marble works turn out the most attractive work in monumental designs. Their cotton seed oil mill is a home industry that is in a thriving condition. The fertilizer company, operated by home capital, manufactures the highest grades of fertilizers. The Coveta Wagon company is running on full time, and building work that will show up with the best. The Newman Buggy company manufactures work of the most superior quality, which is known throughout the south. A furniture factory is well sustained, and their work is such as to guarantee new and important additions to their plant. There is a cotton mill about three miles from the city, owned by home capitalists, and working under successful direction. The Newman cotton mills, with five thousand spindles, make thread of all sizes that is not excelled by any manufactured in the south. The Cole Manufacturing company is one of the largest and most successful industries in the south, combining extensive machine shops, a foundry, planing mill and grist mill under one management. All of these industries are in keeping with like institutions in cities of larger population, and form an array that cannot be excelled in any city of five thousand people that I have visited. They give regular employment to three hundred and fifty operatives. These laborers are paid ninety thousand dollars annually for their labor. Newman has a population of four thousand people within a radius of one mile square. Which shows the gratifying increase of two thousand inhabitants since the last census. Property per capita in 1880 was $342.50, and this had increased in 1889 to $291.50. Her taxable values amount to $1,634,748, showing an increase of $120,000 last year and $1,000,000 in nine years. With a splendid system of public schools, she still enjoys an advantage in tax rates over other points, having the low rate of four mills. Her entire bonded indebtedness is only sixteen thousand dollars, a sum unimportant since it is less than one per cent of her taxable property. But this confident and growing city is distinctive in many things and among her innumerable and impressive attractions, may be mentioned:

R. H. HARDAWAY.

A system of public schools, presided over by one of the most thorough educators in the south, represents the educational advancement of this people. Her board of trade, composed of the leading mercantile advantages of the city, exemplify the rational business prominence. An excellent, generous, refined and hospitable manhood and womanhood make this one of the most delightful communities in all the south for home-seekers. Three large and zealous denominations, having the most attractive houses of worship of any city of like size in all the land, represent the Christian growth of a community noted for its religious sentiment. One of the finest clay-bate springs in Georgia is an attraction that this city enjoys over many places that are well-advised as prominent summer resorts. A driving park, owning a half-mile track, that will compare with the best race courses in the country, furnishes pleasure to the public, besides inducing superior stock culture. The Pearl Spring park is one of the most lovely places in the south, containing a spring of discolored water, only five feet above a beautiful body of water, covering twelve acres, is a picture that must be seen to be appreciated. Can any city of like size in all Georgia present more advantages or show more varied attractions? If the record, as given above, can be best. It is yet to visit the fortunate place enjoying the distinction.

R. D. COLE MANUFACTURING CO.

The City Schools. The school advantages of Newman are excellent. No city within the scope of my investigation enjoys more distinction in this particular. The city has a splendid brick school building, capable of accommodating 400 pupils, heated by the Smead hot air system. The rooms are well ventilated, and on this account are comfortable the year round, and in addition the building is thoroughly provided with every modern convenience. It is a handsome structure, and was erected and fitted at a cost of $17,000.

The schools were organized in January, 1888, by Superintendent L. H. Ford, with 200 pupils, and now show an average daily attendance of 325. To no one as much as to the indefatigable labors and splendid talents of this gentleman is due the phenomenal success of this institution. He is a tireless worker, an able educator, and one of the most thorough disciplinarians in the southern states. The building has been used for more than a year, and now looks as new as if it had been erected but a few weeks. As an indication that the school is well disciplined, not a pencil mark can be observed throughout the breadth of the building. It will be remembered that Professor Ford lately sharply criticized the State university management for carelessness in this respect, and the freedom of his own walls from mischievous scribbling shows how well the head of an institution can enforce such discipline.

Professor J. E. Pendergast, a gentleman of large experience and ability, is principal of the high school, ably assisted by Miss Anna Anderson. Mrs. F. B. Robinson teaches the C grade, grammar department; Miss C. Walton, the B grade; Miss Lizzie Hill, the A grade; and Miss Cora Keller, the primary. Mrs. J. J. Simmons, the primary department. All are ladies of decided talent and discretion, and the success of their work is gratifying to their friends and helpful to the community. The schools are conducted on the latest and most improved plans for conducting city graded schools and the most improved methods of teaching are employed. A class graduates yearly in June, and there are now twenty members of the senior class.

The negroes have a building under this system, erected at a cost of $1,200. Hon. W. Y. Atkinson, the father of the bill giving public schools to Newman, has been richly rewarded by the indorsement of a great constituency and the encouraging success of the system.

R. D. Cole Manufacturing Company. There is not a more extensive manufacturing industry in Georgia than the corporation that bears the above name. It is really four distinct enterprises, embracing machine shops, foundry, planing mill and grist mill. It operates under a capital of $125,000, and gives regular employment to 150 men, that are paid annually $45,000 in wages. Their yearly business amounts to $100,000, and their sales cover the southern states.

In their machine shops they build saw mills, steam engines, cotton presses, corn mills, etc., operating every machine that is sold before it leaves their shops. They know the wants of the southern trade better, perhaps, than any other manufacturers, having been engaged in supplying it for years. They build all sizes of engines, portable and stationary, from six to forty horse power, and these with their saw-mills, corn mills and cotton presses, are among the best machines that are manufactured. The buildings that are used for this feature of their business are large and fitted with the best machinery that can be had. In addition to a brick building, 40x80, they have a new room, 40x100, which has been made necessary by the demands of increasing trade. Then, their foundry, where all kinds of casting is done, is 40x80, and their boiler shed, 40x100, will be supplanted with a new shop and outfit, the latter being on the road to the city. They build annually sixty cotton presses, fifty engines and boilers, twenty-five saw mills and fifty corn mills, supplemented with shelling, pulleys, etc., that cannot be estimated. This company built the engine for the oil mill at Milledgeville.

The planing mill is extensive enough to be a separate industry, employing twenty machines and turning out two million feet of lumber a year. They manufacture in this branch of their industry sash, doors and blinds, newels, cornices, etc., besides carrying on a large contracting and building interest. They operate their own saw mills, and in this way are prepared to meet any competition.

Then there is their grist mill, an enterprise that meets public and private wants, the grinding being such as to draw a heavy trade. But every department of their immense interests is under the personal supervision of members of the firm, and these being practical business men, the work done by them is obliged to be the best. Mr. F. B. Cole, de- signed for the machinery, received the best technical education at Cornell University; Mr. E. M. Cole, foreman of the machine shops is an expert mechanic; Mr. R. N. Cole, book-keeper, is an educated business man; Mr. M.

The Newman Cotton Mills. These mills have one of the best plants in the south and operate the finest machinery that is made. The building is a wonderfully substantial and roomy brick structure of 90x225, two-stories, and is supplied with the most modern equipments, conveniences and protections, being altogether a gem. The machinery is the newest and best. In the picker room are three machines—these are on the first floor, and the raw material is first put in these machines, after which it is sent to the second floor by elevator, in rolls, where it goes through in order (first) cavity, (four) railway heads, (four) drawing frames, (three) slubbers, (four) speeders, (five thousand) spindles, after which it is sent below to be received by (twelve) reels, (four) spoolers, (four) twisters, bailing machine, Dean warper and bating cords. It requires about two weeks for the cotton to be manufactured, and there are fifty bales distributed among these different machines all the time, in course of manufacturing. All of this machinery is run by a fine Corliss engine, 300-horse, which also generates electricity for 125 lights. They employ the Edison system of lighting. They use the popular H. L. automatic sprinklers, and are in all respects, so well provided against fire that the company allow the lowest rates of insurance. One noticeable feature about the arrangement of the building is its abundant capacity. It is not in the least crowded.

This company manufactures fine yarns from 14 to 25, making the best ball sewing thread and knitting thread that is made. They make as fine twine as the Eagle and Phoenix mills, and sell their products in the Philadelphia market, competing with New England factories. They use nothing but select grades of cotton, and manufacture thread that will compare with that made by any mill in America. They make twelve thousand pounds of yarn per week, using thirty bales of cotton, all of which is sold before it is manufactured, owing to the great demand for fine goods. The company has a capital of $100,000, employs seventy-five operatives, and has a net cost of $15,000, and does a business of $115,000 a week. The personnel of this company insures great activity in development in the near future. President Hardaway is a leading business man and has great confidence in the future of his city. Secretary Freeman is one of the best young men in the city, and is whole-heartedly enlisted in building up his town. He is a leading attorney of his city, is president of the Newman Publishing company, and is altogether one of the most progressive young men of the place. The board of directors are all men of means and enterprise, all of which is necessary to speak of their merit here. Newman.

PUBLIC SCHOOL BUILDING.

COLLEGE TEMPLE (FOR SALE).

mineral springs, one of the finest in the country, they propose at an early day, either alone or in conjunction with other capitalists, to erect a $15,000 hotel on that part of their property.

MAYOR POWELL.

It is not yet a year old, and has de- clared a dividend, having made a profit of six and a half per cent. Mr. R. D. Cole, Sr., president of the company, is a gentleman of the finest capacity, being one of the most practical and successful men in Georgia. Some reference to the personal history of this man of affairs may not be out of place here, since he is justly looked upon as the leading and developing spirit of Newman. Born in Newton county, seventy-nine years ago, he had an uneventful life, until his eighteenth year, when he sought to add to his store of knowledge by teaching in a district school, a vocation which in three years left him fifty-six dollars in debt. In order to get a self-growing out of this embarrassment, I heard Mr. Cole say, that he plowed at seventy-five cents a day, often-times working until his feet would bleed. He afterwards located in Newman, where he has steadily prospered until by his sturdy honesty and intelligent industry he has developed into one of the leading industrial spirits of the south. He is a devoted member of the Baptist church, having been a deacon for thirty-five years. Added to this, he is an exemplary citizen, possessing the love and confidence of all his people.

Mr. R. H. Hardaway, vice-president, is one of the most successful and extensive mercantile spirits of the city, and a gentleman of the highest character in Georgia. Some reference to the personal history of this man of affairs may not be out of place here, since he is justly looked upon as the leading and developing spirit of Newman. Born in Newton county, seventy-nine years ago, he had an uneventful life, until his eighteenth year, when he sought to add to his store of knowledge by teaching in a district school, a vocation which in three years left him fifty-six dollars in debt. In order to get a self-growing out of this embarrassment, I heard Mr. Cole say, that he plowed at seventy-five cents a day, often-times working until his feet would bleed. He afterwards located in Newman, where he has steadily prospered until by his sturdy honesty and intelligent industry he has developed into one of the leading industrial spirits of the south. He is a devoted member of the Baptist church, having been a deacon for thirty-five years. Added to this, he is an exemplary citizen, possessing the love and confidence of all his people.

Mr. John Florence, superintendent, is one of the best manufacturers in the country, and the success of the mill is a better indorsement of him than anything I could write. Newman Land Company. This company was organized June 15th, 1883, by the election of R. H. Hardaway, as president; J. P. Brewster, Orlando McLendon, H. W. Camp and N. B. Glover, directors, and R. W. Freeman, secretary and treasurer, with an authorized capital of $25,000. The company was formed for the purpose of developing the city of Newman and building up her manufacturing interests.

Twenty-three acres of land in the southwestern portion of the city, known as the Broadnax property, was purchased, and subsequently they bought seventeen acres lying directly on the Savannah, Griffin and North Alabama railroad, with a quarter of a mile frontage on the railroad.

The first tract being admirably located for residence lots, streets were opened and the whole tract laid off in lots 100x200. The other tract, being directly on the railroad, was reserved for manufacturing purposes. On November 13, 1888, about one-third of their residence lots were sold at public sale for more than the original cost of the entire property. Several of the purchasers will erect this spring nice residences on these lots, which will add to the value of the remaining lots. The company has erected a number of nice five and seven room cottages on the lots reserved by them, which they are now renting.

They propose to sell these houses and to build others and sell them on the installment plan, with monthly payments. Any person or corporation who will establish a manufacturing enterprise on this splendid tract, will be generously encouraged by the company, who will furnish suitable sites, besides giving substantial aid in the way of subscriptions to the capital stock. A large tract of land being contiguous to the reason it would be unnecessary for me to emphasize his splendid business capacity, his excellent judgment, as it would be superfluous to state in this connection that he is one of the cleverest men on earth. The fact that he was connected with the First National Bank of his city for seventeen years, and cashier of that institution eleven years, is a fact, is enough to sustain any estimate of him.

MR. J. C. HUNTER.

The Newman Buggy Company. This company was organized and chartered in 1888 with an authorized capital of $100,000, with the following excellent and well-equipped officials: Mr. J. A. Parks, president; Mr. W. G. Arnold, vice-president, and Mr. W. A. Dant, secretary and treasurer. The company of its organization this company turned out 150 jobs, and now that their work is more thoroughly advertised, they have an annual output of from 350 to 500 vehicles, and while constantly increasing their force, they are now two months behind with orders. Their work is of the very best material, every piece of wood and iron that goes into their buggies being thoroughly tested.

They have recently made the manufacture of one and two horse wagons a specialty, and are meeting with such success that they have ordered ahead until September 1st, besides having declined one hundred from Atlanta. Before engaging in the manufacture of buggies, this company handled as dealers from fifteen to twenty thousand dollars worth of goods of eastern make. Now they keep this money at home and sell nothing but their own manufacture. As their annual pay roll amounts to from ten to twelve thousand dollars, the benefit and wisdom of the change is clearly shown. It is strictly a home institution born and raised in Newman, and working faithfully for her advancement. All of the officials are natives of that section of the state, except Mr. John S. Ware, superintendent, who, by the way, is one of the best workmen in America, who came from Pike county, several years ago.

The work of this company is known throughout Georgia, Alabama, Louisiana and Texas, the last named being one of their best territories.

The Coveta Wagon Company. This company manufactures a wagon that has already gained wide prominence for durability. They also make carts and other vehicles, turning out the very best work in all these. They have extensive shops, from which they turn out about 200 vehicles a year. Their wood shop is a two-story building 40x65, well supplied with all necessary tools and appliances for good work. Mr. L. M. Farmer, a talented young lawyer, is president, and Mr. D. J. Folda, a superior workman, is superintendent.

Thompson Bros. Furniture Factory. A furniture factory of important dimensions is one of Newman's most prosperous industries. They manufacture largely in cheap grades of goods, for which they have ready sales. Their factory is running on full time, and this, together with a large retail house containing three floors 30x100, where they keep a full line of all styles of furniture, including burial cases and caskets, as well as organs, are two distinctive interests. Messrs. Thompson Bros. have been phenomenal successes.

Collar and Harness Manufacturing. This is a distinctive industry, and is rapidly growing into wide prominence. They do an annual trade of $15,000, give employment to nine men, and their trade demands are such as to necessitate an early increase. Their collars and harness are made of the best Tennessee leather. They sell Tennessee, Georgia, Alabama and Florida, and are behind with orders. Mr. T. G. Burpee, Jr., the manager of the business, possesses excellent business qualities.

Cigar Manufacturing. Pure Havana cigars are manufactured in Newman, and the industry is proving eminently successful. M. Salbide is the progressive and experienced proprietor, and his goods are known wherever a regular smoker is found in that section. In addition to fine cigars he is now making a run on the "Newman Girl," which is obliged to be the best five cent cigar on the market in order to be in keeping with its attractive name.

Newman's Banking Facilities. The Newman National bank was organized in January, 1886, with a capital of $50,000, and has paid an average annual dividend of seven per cent. Its surplus and undivided profits are $15,000, and loans and discounts $100,000. It is one of the most prosperous institutions in that section, being managed by men who have the confidence of the business community. Mr. Charles C. Parrott, president, is one of the best business men in the state, and, withal, an agreeable gentleman. Judge John S. Bigby, vice-president, now of Atlanta, has always been a financial success, and Mr. Joseph T. Kirby, cashier, who possesses efficiency of manner with decided financial ability, being, in addition, treasurer of the board of trade and driving association.

The First National bank, under the management of Major W. B. Berry, president; Messrs. John D. Berry and P. B. Murphy, vice-presidents, are also well known. The Newman Cotton Mills. This institution, founded by Professor M. F. Kellogg in 1883, enjoyed as much success as any college in Georgia, until the declining health of its president caused him to retire in 1888, since which time his death and the inability of Mrs. Kellogg to force this magnificent property on the market. There are seven acres of land in the lot and three attractive, comfortable and well-fitted buildings, embracing a hall, laboratory and reading house, all of which will be sold at a sacrifice. It is a splendid location for a school and Newman.

Continued on Third Column 23d Page.

will enlarge their capital to $100,000, and will build spacious add chambers. This is a great industry for Newman and Coveta county, and is essentially a home institution, as the stock is largely owned by farmers of the county.

Mr. H. C. Arnall, president, is a member of the firm of Arnall & Farmer, one of the largest houses of the city. He is a man of progressive ideas and exceptional ability, whose name would be a help to any institution.

Mr. J. A. Hunter, vice-president, is the president of the board of trade and member of the large merchandise establishment of Hardman & Hunter. He is a man of splendid progress.

Mr. W. J. Drickell, superintendent, is one of the best posted manufacturers of fertilizers in the south, and his selection to this important place was a very thoughtful one.

Mr. Harry C. Fisher, general manager, the organizer of this company, and the back-bone of much of the enterprise that is just now pervading this beautiful city, has perhaps more individual acquaintance, throughout the south, than any man in his section. For this reason it would be unnecessary for me to emphasize his splendid business capacity, his excellent judgment, as it would be superfluous to state in this connection that he is one of the cleverest men on earth. The fact that he was connected with the First National Bank of his city for seventeen years, and cashier of that institution eleven years, is a fact, is enough to sustain any estimate of him.

Some Representative Business Men. Hardaway & Hunter are extensive dealers in dry goods, groceries, clothing and notions, as well as being agents for the celebrated "Old Hickory" wagon. They occupy two large rooms 25x50, keep a comprehensive line of goods and do an annual trade of $100,000. Mr. R. H. Hardaway, of the firm, is one of the most whole-souled men, and his business success has been such as to prominently identify him with several important institutions of the city. He is vice-president of the cotton mills, and president of the land company. Mr. J. A. Hunter, a gentleman of pronounced business tact, is the president of the board of trade.

P. F. Cuttino & Co. is the style of the leading dry goods firm of that section. Mr. Cuttino is an experienced merchant, having moved from Charleston to Newman in 1887. He is an excellent judge of goods, possesses excellent taste, and his magnificent stock clearly indicates, and his large new store room, 35x50, is the resort of fashionable men, doing an annual trade of $75,000, and deserves it all as he is a gentleman of the highest honor and most generous impulses.

I. N. Orr & Co. do an immense business in dry goods, clothing, groceries, general supplies, buggies and Studebaker wagons. They occupy a room 35x100, and their stock is as complete as money and good judgment can make it. This firm is composed of Messrs. I. N. Orr and Jack Powell, two honorable thorough business men, who deserve the confidence of the public.

One of the most interesting and best reported houses in Newman is the large general merchandise establishment of Leverett & Carpenter, who, though new in business, are doing a driving trade in a well-stocked room. If there are better and more competent business men than Messrs. J. P. Leverett and J. T. Carpenter of this firm, I have not but thoroughly tested.

E. S. Buchanan, dealer in fancy dry goods and dress goods, has one of the neatest establishments in Georgia, and is one of the most gentlemanly and honorable men in business. He occupies two floors, the second being devoted to merchant tailoring, where he turns out the best and most stylish work, selling extensively in Atlanta, West Point, Carrollton and other points.

Fuller & Norris are active dealers in dry goods and general merchandise, and occupy a large room, where they keep a full line of goods. They are thoroughly enterprising, and are doing a business in keeping with their undoubted industry.

W. F. Brown, who occupies a room 25x50, in which he keeps a most complete line of dry goods, clothing, groceries, hardware and farming supplies, is one of the most thrifty of the many successful business spirits of this city, and does a trade which covers the entire territory tributary to Newman, deserving it all, and more.

W. L. Welsh & Co. are just across the street, dealing in general merchandise in a house 40x30, which is well supplied with a stock suited for varied wants. They are among the most active and progressive men of their community, and are meeting with merited success.

C. F. Meyer has a very neat stock of staple and fancy groceries, besides an elegant line of confectioneries, fruits, cigars and tobacco. It is an agreeable gentleman, does a trade that cannot be distributed by competition.

O. S. Olmstead keeps the only cash store in Newman, his stock consisting of family groceries, fruits, confectioneries, cigars, tobacco, etc. Mr. Olmstead is a healthy endorser of the curative powers of his city's great mineral spring.

R. W. Howell & Co., cotton dealer and warehouseman, do a business second to none in this section. They operate in Newman, Le-grange, Loganville, Senoia and Grantville, and pay an average annual dividend of seven per cent. It is a splendid location for a school and Newman.

Continued on Third Column 23d Page.

president and cashier—all thorough business men—has a capital of $50,000 and surplus of $100,000.

Livery, Feed and Sale Stables. Mr. W. H. Gearfield, a gentleman who knows aged horses when he sees it, and who is the proud possessor of some of the proudest that were ever hooked to a buggy, has a large livery, feed and sale stable in Newman, where he keeps the best and most comfortable teams, which are furnished the trade at the most reasonable rates. He is well known among drivers.

Mr. M. G. Keith, who does a live business in livery and is well known as the proprietor of a rattling good feed and sale stable, keeps nothing but the neatest vehicles and most reliable horses. He is a splendid accommodation for drivers, and his stables are first-class in every respect.

Leading Druggists. Dr. J. T. Reese, who has been in the drug business at Newman since 1850, has a large stock of pure drugs, and chemicals, as well as paints and painters' material. He is a well-painted practitioner and has, in the person of Mr. A. C. Pease, one of the best prescriptions in the state. The doctor is also proprietor of a well-fitted opera house, with a capacity of 600, well provided with all necessary scenery.

Mr. C. R. Bradley, a gentleman who has had ten years' experience as a prescriber, one who holds the fullest confidence of the trade and profession, has opened a new drug store, where he keeps a wonderfully neat stock of the purest goods that are to be had in addition to oils, paints, varnishes, brushes and other articles usually found in houses of this character.

Some Representative Business Men. Hardaway & Hunter are extensive dealers in dry goods, groceries, clothing and notions, as well as being agents for the celebrated "Old Hickory" wagon. They occupy two large rooms 25x50, keep a comprehensive line of goods and do an annual trade of $100,000. Mr. R. H. Hardaway, of the firm, is one of the most whole-souled men, and his business success has been such as to prominently identify him with several important institutions of the city. He is vice-president of the cotton mills, and president of the land company. Mr. J. A. Hunter, a gentleman of pronounced business tact, is the president of the board of trade.

P. F. Cuttino & Co. is the style of the leading dry goods firm of that section. Mr. Cuttino is an experienced merchant, having moved from Charleston to Newman in 1887. He is an excellent judge of goods, possesses excellent taste, and his magnificent stock clearly indicates, and his large new store room, 35x50, is the resort of fashionable men, doing an annual trade of $75,000, and deserves it all as he is a gentleman of the highest honor and most generous impulses.

I. N. Orr & Co. do an immense business in dry goods, clothing, groceries, general supplies, buggies and Studebaker wagons. They occupy a room 35x100, and their stock is as complete as money and good judgment can make it. This firm is composed of Messrs. I. N. Orr and Jack Powell, two honorable thorough business men, who deserve the confidence of the public.

One of the most interesting and best reported houses in Newman is the large general merchandise establishment of Leverett & Carpenter, who, though new in business, are doing a driving trade in a well-stocked room. If there are better and more competent business men than Messrs. J. P. Leverett and J. T. Carpenter of this firm, I have not but thoroughly tested.

E. S. Buchanan, dealer in fancy dry goods and dress goods, has one of the neatest establishments in Georgia, and is one of the most gentlemanly and honorable men in business. He occupies two floors, the second being devoted to merchant tailoring, where he turns out the best and most stylish work, selling extensively in Atlanta, West Point, Carrollton and other points.

Fuller & Norris are active dealers in dry goods and general merchandise, and occupy a large room, where they keep a full line of goods. They are thoroughly enterprising, and are doing a business in keeping with their undoubted industry.

W. F. Brown, who occupies a room 25x50, in which he keeps a most complete line of dry goods, clothing, groceries, hardware and farming supplies, is one of the most thrifty of the many successful business spirits of this city, and does a trade which covers the entire territory tributary to Newman, deserving it all, and more.

W. L. Welsh & Co. are just across the street, dealing in general merchandise in a house 40x30, which is well supplied with a stock suited for varied wants. They are among the most active and progressive men of their community, and are meeting with merited success.

C. F. Meyer has a very neat stock of staple and fancy groceries, besides an elegant line of confectioneries, fruits, cigars and tobacco. It is an agreeable gentleman, does a trade that cannot be distributed by competition.

O. S. Olmstead keeps the only cash store in Newman, his stock consisting of family groceries, fruits, confectioneries, cigars, tobacco, etc. Mr. Olmstead is a healthy endorser of the curative powers of his city's great mineral spring.

R. W. Howell & Co., cotton dealer and warehouseman, do a business second to none in this section. They operate in Newman, Le-grange, Loganville, Senoia and Grantville, and pay an average annual dividend of seven per cent. It is a splendid location for a school and Newman.

Continued on Third Column 23d Page.

OATES, O.

HERE WITH THE INVESTIGATION.

To Inquire Into The

Against U. S. C.

States—A

A congressional men visited Atlanta

They are traveling education and the irregularities and lower United States

The original resogation to Alabama

Mr. Oates succee-

the investigation,

and not confined to

Oates, of Alabama

and Henry C. McCo-

sub-committee of the tee.

Mr. Oates is the

THE COURT

An examination of the practices of

was ascertained he has many pious g suspended. The ge closely, and the ge

Clerk H. C. Har-

Following him, the district attorney, W.

Colquitt, and Gale.

CONGRESS

Colonel Oates,

tee, now serving was one of the me about the Kimball

He wears an ec harmony, so far c spirit of the econ

of fine presence;

OATES, OF ALABAMA,

SEEKING TWO REPUBLICANS AS AN INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE.

To Inquire Into Irregular Practices Charged Against U. S. Courts in the Southern States—A Red-Hot Reply.

A congressional committee of three gentlemen visited Atlanta yesterday. They are traveling under authority of a resolution recently passed to inquire into certain irregularities and abuses said to exist in the lower United States courts.

The original resolution confined the investigation to Alabama and northern Mississippi. Mr. Oates succeeded in amending so that the investigation is to be a general one, and not confined to any state or section.

The committee consists of Congressmen Oates, of Alabama; A. C. Thompson, of Ohio; and Henry C. McCormick, of Pennsylvania; a sub-committee of the house judiciary committee.

Mr. Oates is the democrat of the committee.

THE COURTS OF THIS DISTRICT.

An examination was made yesterday into the practices of the courts of this district. It was ascertained how many cases were tried; how many plead guilty or were found guilty; and in how many of these cases sentence was suspended. The court costs were examined closely, and the general conduct of the courts.

Clerk H. C. Hamilton, of the United States district court, was examined.

Following him came Mr. B. H. Hill, executive attorney; Special Revenue Agent W. W. Colquhoun, and Special Examiner Nightingale.

CONGRESSMAN OATES TALKS.

Colonel Oates, the democrat of the committee, now serving his fourth term in congress, was one of the most striking figures to be seen about the Kimball yesterday.

He wears an empty sleeve, and was quite in harmony, so far as appearance went, with the spirit of the occasion yesterday. He is a man of fine presence; with iron-gray hair and close mustache a shade whiter; quick, shrewd eyes; and as pleasant a face as one meets now-a-days.

The missing right arm was lost in front of Richmond. It was his sixth wound, and received in his twenty-seventh battle.

"The courts here," said he, "are in excellent shape—couldn't be better. In some parts of the country the law is almost nullified by the judge's suspending sentence. Under Judge McCoy and Judge Speer that practice amounted to an evil in this court. Judge Newman, we find, has suspended very few sentences and those have all been special cases."

"Minor abuses have been weeded out, and the courts here now might be taken as models."

"The only thing we can complain of now is the practice of bondsmen surrendering their prisoner just as his trial comes up in order to make the government bear the expense of transportation. It isn't against the law, nor is it by any means confined to the district or state. It is done everywhere, and the only way to get at it is to change the law."

"Yes, the courts here are a number one. There are no better in the country."

REPLY TO COLONEL LIVINGSTON.

In reply to the criticisms of President Livingston of the Georgia State Alliance, Colonel Oates said:

"Colonel Livingston's democracy is not in accord with mine. He seems to have drawn his inspirations, judging from his citations of authority to prove his positions, from sources never suspected of giving utterance to democratic teachings or principles. He cites Lincoln, Chase and Garfield."

"According to the report of his speech in the Rome Tribune, he did not seem to know, and if he did, failed to inform his audience, that more than $60,000,000 of treasury notes were ever issued, whereas, there are over $340,000,000 of them now in circulation. He also says in his Rome speech that I did not quote all of section 8, article 1, of the constitution, which was true, because it was unnecessary to an intelligent comprehension of my meaning. He says that, under the last sentence, General welfare of the United States, congress has a settled practice to do whatever it wishes or provided it is not inhibited positively by the constitution, and seems to think that this is good democratic doctrine. Thomas Jefferson, who is considered the father of democracy, says of this clause of the constitution:

"To lay taxes for the purpose of providing for the general welfare, for the laying of taxes is the power, and the general welfare the purpose, for which the power is to be exercised. Congress is not to lay taxes for the purpose of providing for the general welfare of the union. In like manner they are not to do whatever they please for the general welfare, but only to lay taxes for that purpose. To consider the latter phrase, not as describing the power, but as giving it power to do any act they please, which might be for the good of the union, would be to give the preceding and subsequent enumerations of power completely useless. It would reduce the whole instrument to a single clause—that of instituting a government with power to do whatever would be for the good of the United States; and as they would also be a power to do whatever evil, it would be intended to do congress up strictly within the enumerated powers, and those without which, as means, those powers could not be carried into effect."

"That is my construction of the constitution and my democracy. Colonel Livingston's is that of the republican party."

"Know Barrett," he laughed in answer to the question, "I should say I do. He's one of the grittiest and most enterprising newspaper men in Washington, and a general favorite. He's just the man for a wide-awake paper like The Constitution. In my opinion he's the best southern correspondent at the capital."

GOING TO MOBILE.

At 9:30 last evening the committee left over the Atlanta and West Point train for Mobile.

LEMON ELIXIR.

A Pleasant Lemon Drink.

For biliousness and constipation, take Lemon Elixir.

For indigestion and palpitation of heart, take Lemon Elixir.

For sick and nervous headaches, take Lemon Elixir.

For sleeplessness and nervousness, take Lemon Elixir.

For loss of appetite and debility, take Lemon Elixir.

For fevers, chills and malaria, take Lemon Elixir.

Dr. Moyley's Lemon Elixir will not fail you in any of the above named diseases, all of which arise from a torpid or diseased liver, stomach, kidney or bowels.

Prepared only by Dr. H. Moyley, Atlanta, Ga.

50c and $1 per bottle, all druggists.

Lemon Hot Drops.

For coughs and colds, take Lemon Hot Drops.

For sore throat and Bronchitis, take Lemon Hot Drops.

For pneumonia and Laryngitis, take Lemon Hot Drops.

For hemorrhage and all throat and lung diseases, take Lemon Hot Drops.

25 cents, at all druggists. Prepared only by Dr. H. Moyley, Atlanta, Ga.

All its stopped free by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. No fits after first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2 trial bottle free to fit cases. Send to Dr. Kline, 531 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Be Sure and Call for Mrs. Winslow's SOOTHING SYRUP for children teething, having the face-simile of "Cutie & Perkins" on the outside wrapper. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

THE WEATHER REPORT.

Forecast for Georgia. WASHINGTON, April 26.—Indications for tomorrow: Fair; clearing in northern Georgia; cooler in the interior; stationary temperature on coast; westerly winds.

SIGNAL SERVICE, U. S. A. ATLANTA, Ga., April 26.

All observations taken at the same moment of actual time at each place.

Observations taken at 8 p. m., seventy-fifth meridian time, at each place.

STATIONS.	Barom.	Therm.	Wind.	Relat. Hum.	Weather.
Meridian	30.04	64.4	S	6	40 Cloudless
Pensacola	30.08	72.64	SW	Light	40 Cloudy
Mobile	30.04	75	SE	10	40 Cloudy
Montgomery	30.04	66.62	SW	Light	40 Cloudy
New Orleans	30.06	68.61	S	6	40 Cloudy
Galveston	30.02	74.70	SE	10	40 Cloudy
Palestine	30.10	62.52	NW	6	40 Cloudless
Corpus Christi	30.00	78.70	NE	20	40 Cloudy
Brownsville	29.92	70.72	SE	10	40 Cloudy
Rio Grande	29.88	82.64	S	6	40 PCloudy

LOCAL OBSERVATIONS.

(Local Time.)

Time of Observation.

7 a. m. 30.13 67.20 W 2 40 PCloudy

7 p. m. 30.08 64.00 NW 6 10 Raining

Maximum Thermometer 81

Minimum Thermometer 63

Total Rainfall .10

JOHN FITZGERALD, Observer.

A Single Trial of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing SYRUP for children teething, never yet failing to relieve the baby and overcome the prejudicial effects of the mother. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

If you had taken two of Carter's Little Liver Pills before retiring you would not have had that coated tongue or bad taste in the mouth this morning. Keep a vial with you for occasional use.

Cypress shingles $3.25 per 1,000, delivered. Atlanta Lumber Co. ap 16 d m

This is the Latest.

If you desire to be in good form use the real Irish linen note paper, ruled or unruled, sold by the pound at John M. Miller's, 31 Marietta street. dtt Excelsior Steam Laundry.

The Excelsior Steam Laundry have leased the large three-story building at 47 Decatur street, and have what might be said to be the best equipped laundry establishment in the south. They are prepared to do the very best work. Goods called for and delivered in any part of the city. Satisfaction guaranteed. Greatest care taken with goods. Give them a trial. ap 25 dly

Cypress shingles $3.25 per 1,000, delivered. Atlanta Lumber Co. ap 16 d m

"Rate War."

The "Missouri Pacific Railway" are selling first-class tickets to Kansas city for $4.50 and to Denver, Col. for $12.00, on May 5 and 6, will sell round trip tickets to Fort Worth, Texas at one-half the regular rates, with the unusual privilege of going one route and returning another in Texas. For particulars address

A. A. GALLAGHER, S. P. A., 100 Read House, Chattanooga, Tenn.

H. C. TOWNE, Gen'l Pass. Agt., St. Louis, Mo. April 11—dtt

A New Departure.

Real Irish linen note paper, ruled or unruled, with envelopes to match, sold by the pound at John M. Miller's, 31 Marietta street. dtt

New Picnic Grounds.

For Sunday schools, clubs or private parties. Located on line of Atlanta and Florida railroad, seventeen miles from Atlanta, in a beautiful grove where there is a splendid spring, running through the grove, and a fine view of the city. Large size, surrounded by plenty of shade and nice walks. Just the place to have a good time. Rates and all information furnished by

Geo. P. HOWARD, General Passenger Agent, 24 1/2 W. Alabama street, al 20 su tr sat

Telephone 749.

New Style Note Paper.

Real Irish linen note paper put up in pound packages, ruled or unruled, with envelopes to match. It will save you money. Sold by John M. Miller, 31 Marietta street. dtt

John M. Miller

is the first to introduce the pound package note paper, ruled or unruled. dtt

REMARKABLE SUCCESS

Of a Visiting Physician—The Redridden Restored to Health—Scores of Similar Cures Daily.

EDITH'S CONSTITUTION. Please allow me through your columns to express my gratitude to Dr. Evans, the great magnetic physician, who is now practicing at 14 N. Forsyth street. For seven years I had been a complete cripple with paralysis of my right side. I could walk but little, and could not raise my arms. I am now, I say to you, Dr. Evans, when he was practicing here eight years ago, who cured me, and I have remained a well man ever since. I know scores of others whom he cured during his former visit to Atlanta. Very respectfully, JOHN LEACH, 26 Fowler St., N. O. Box 211.

My wife had been as helpless as a babe for one year. Could not even turn herself in bed or sit up. She was assisted to the toilet, and was in a constant state of nervousness, nervous exhaustion, displacement and paralysis. Dr. Evans visited her six weeks ago, and gave her a magnetic treatment which so far restored her that she arose from her bed the next morning and walked around the room, and in a few days she was able to take a carriage and visit him, is now quite a well woman, requiring only a little more time to build up her wasted and exhausted system, and we would be pleased to have anyone who so desires to call on us and learn for themselves the apparent miracle Dr. Evans has wrought on her. S. BORTH, 69 Foundry street, with Winship Machine Co.

Mr. M. C. Fulton, an old and esteemed resident of Decatur, also stated that he had been very ill for the past seven years, until he applied to Dr. Evans a few weeks ago, and now he could hear almost as well as he ever could. J. F. CROWELL, watchman at McDaniel street crossing, paralysis of arm cured by three magnetic treatments.

Miss Kate Callahan, residence 230 Hunter street, neuralgia for four years cured by two weeks' treatment after all other modes of treatment had failed.

The son of J. W. Eberhardt, residing on Humphrey street, West End, near East Tennessee shops, cured of asthma in its worst form over one month ago.

Mr. G. W. Brandt, residing at Nickajack P. O., on Georgia Pacific railroad, was for years a terrible sufferer from piles, also catarrh. Dr. Evans cured his piles in two weeks without pain or other inconvenience. This gentleman will reply to any inquiries addressed to the above post-office.

Rev. A. W. Walker, residing at Westminster, Ga., was cured of total deafness of one ear, and also extreme nervous exhaustion, which had incapacitated him for any mental or physical labor for two years, and he is now able to perform his duties as a minister of the gospel.

Mrs. Lindsey, 28 Formwalt street, stated that when she applied to Dr. Evans she was totally deaf in the right ear and the left in the left for the past eight years, and that by a few magnetic treatments Dr. Evans restored her hearing so that she could now hear almost as well as ever.

Mrs. H. stated that for twelve years she had suffered constantly from extreme nervous exhaustion, accompanied by constant pain in the head and spine, also other weaknesses, all of which disappeared after a magnetic treatment by Dr. Evans. This lady's address can be had at the doctor's office, which she permits through gratitude to the doctor and in the interest of the afflicted. References also made to the following prominent business gentlemen of the city: Captain M. R. Castleberry, residence 164 West Peters street; Mr. J. J. Barnes, commission merchant, place of business 18 South Forsyth street; Mr. Joseph Lender, restaurant, 23 Marietta street; Mr. A. W. McCandless, photographer, 35 Pryor street; and scores of others of the best known citizens of Atlanta, who are all in the best of health.

Dr. Evans is a graduate of two different schools of medicine, as is shown by his diplomas, which are on permanent display in his office. Dr. Evans can be consulted at his parlors, 34 North Forsyth street, from 10 a. m. until 5 p. m. of each day, for a considerable time to come. Consultation free.

Mar 9-25-26-27-28-29-30-31-32-33-34-35-36-37-38-39-40-41-42-43-44-45-46-47-48-49-50-51-52-53-54-55-56-57-58-59-60-61-62-63-64-65-66-67-68-69-70-71-72-73-74-75-76-77-78-79-80-81-82-83-84-85-86-87-88-89-90-91-92-93-94-95-96-97-98-99-100 nan is one of the finest points in the south for a successful female college. Were an institution of this kind re-established here it would meet with the most encouraging support.

NEWMAN.

Continued From Twenty-second Page.

McBride & Co.'s Oil Mill.

This is distinctly a home industry, as are the rest that prosper in Newnan, having a capacity of thirty-five tons of seed per day. In addition they have a ginmill, with a capacity of thirty bales, and fertilizer works turning out forty tons of guano. They employ thirty-five men, and are doing a prosperous business. Messrs. Robert McBride and W. C. McBride, Jr., progressive business men, and active members of the board of trade.

Farm Productiveness.

There is no section of Georgia that offers more advantages to the husbandman than Coweta county. The lands are well located, possess uncommon natural fertility, and are being improved by the best methods of farm culture. Nearly every farm around Newnan is terraced, and in every way the lands are being brought up to a still higher degree of productiveness. Grape and fruit culture are growing to be considerable industries in this section, and it is no uncommon thing to see large and paying vineyards at this locality.

While in Newnan I heard of one small neighbor who intends to plant a hundred thousand grape vines next season, and of an instance where a farmer netted one hundred dollars on an acre of strawberries last season. Such success is obliged to attract home-seekers.

Manufacturing Advantages.

Newnan offers inducements over many points for manufacturers. To start with, a low rate of four mills, then cheap living for operatives, having fine markets for farm products, and houses of three to six rooms for five to eight dollars per month, cheap coal, and wood at $1.50 per cord, exceptional health and a climate where you can work every day in the year.

Railroad Facilities.

Newnan is at the intersection of the Savannah, Griffin and North Atlanta road and Atlanta and West Point, two great trunk lines—the first being a through line from Cincinnati to Savannah, and the other connecting with the Richmond and Danville system, giving direct through line from the east to New Orleans. In addition to these, she has several projected lines that will be built—one to Greenville, connecting with Columbia; one to Salt Springs, connecting with the Georgia Pacific, and one to Franklin, connecting with the Macon and Birmingham.

The Newman Herald and Advertiser.

This is one of the best weekly papers published in the south, and has a circulation that is not excelled by any country paper in the state. It is operated by a stock company composed of leading business men of the city, and is having a gratifying career.

Hon. James E. Brown, the talented editor, is one of the best all round newspaper men in Georgia, and the work that he is doing for his city, in whose future he is staunchly interested cannot be over-estimated. His people love him as a man and esteem him as a journalist. Mr. S. W. Murray is the efficient business manager.

Hotel Accommodations.

There are three excellent hotels in Newnan, one of the best being the Commercial, which is conducted by Mrs. Jones, one of the most thoughtful and elegant ladies that ever catered to the traveling public. It is centrally located, has just been renovated for the season, and possesses all necessary comforts and conveniences. Excellent fare is served, and neat, comfortable beds are furnished. A person visiting Newnan can't make a mistake by stopping at the Commercial.

In this connection, I might say that a good site will be furnished anyone who builds a fifty thousand dollar hotel here. It would pay. Newnan is a great health resort, being admirably located for winter and summer visitors.

The Outlook.

That Newnan will be a considerable city in a few years is guaranteed by her many natural advantages, as well as by the pluck and enterprise of her people. Mayor J. S. Powell, who, by the way, is one of the most progressive municipal officers in the state, well as one of the most intelligent and hospitable of Georgians, is now negotiating for electric lights for his city, is talking about a telephone exchange, is opening new streets, setting out shade trees and making sewerage and other improvements. A live council, composed of Messrs. B. T. Thompson, I. N. Orr, T. G. Farmer, are backing him, and everything is a-stride.

An Attractive Place.

In addition to Newman's beautiful mineral spring and the lovely Olive lake, Rev. J. B. Davis, a leading divine and prominent lawyer, has one of the most attractive places for a summer home or pleasure resort near the city. The place is a beautiful original forest of twenty-five acres, and has a fine natural spring in the center.

For Information.

Mr. Harry C. Fisher, secretary of the board of trade, will answer any letter of inquiry, and will take pains to furnish any information that may be desired concerning his city or section.

Newnan is determined to be self-sustaining. B. M. BLACKBURN.

Avoid experimenting with different medicines advertised for colds, and use Brewer's Lung Restorer that has been proven to be the best medicine for colds and coughs that can be made.

Woman's Diseases.

Are of such a character they cannot be discussed or treated as are complaints common to all mankind. Hence thousands of females become afflicted and remain so, suffering untold miseries from a sense of delicacy they can not overcome, yea, even sink into untimely graves before they will let anyone know they are suffering. For all such Bradford's Female Regulator, by stimulating and arousing healthy action all those organs act as an absolute specific, and soon causes the frame to fill out, the roses of health to bloom on the cheek, and joy to reign throughout the entire frame.

Write The Bradford Regulator Co., Atlanta, Ga. Sold by all druggists.

At the First Baptist.

Rev. J. Howard Carpenter, a distinguished and able preacher, will fill the First Baptist pulpit this morning. Dr. Hawthorne is in Washington, in attendance on the Baptist convention.

Beautiful Picnic Grounds.

The two prettiest places for picnics near Atlanta are the Vinings station and Brown park, in Marietta. The beautiful grove, the large and delicious free-stone spring, and the elegant and spacious covered platform at Vinings, have made it emphatically the favorite during the past two years.

Brown park, opened and improved this year, and a quarter of a mile from the railroad in Marietta, is a magnificent forest with two clear branches running through it. It has one oak-stand and two mineral springs. ap 27 dtt

—GO TO—

ANDREW J. MILLER & SON'S

==FOR== LOWEST PRICES

—ON—

FURNITURE! -- CARPETS! -- MATTINGS!

DRAPERIES! MANTELS!

TILES AND GRATES!

42 and 44 Peachtree, St., Atlanta, Ga.

TO THE WEARERS OF TROUSERS!

We have just received a large assortment of medium and light colored suitings and trouserings, that we will offer to make up at special prices this week. Prominent among these styles are

Some Extremely Nobby Plaids

That make handsome business suits. They make up well also in trousers. Our spring and summer styles are now all in and any one desiring to place an order will find among our immense assortment goods to please.

PRICES MODERATE

WORK FIRST-CLASS.

We also desire to call special attention to our plain worsteds. An elegant quality to order $25.

Remember we at all times guarantee a perfect fit. Call and see us.

KAHN & BROS.,

8 Whitehall St., Atlanta, Ga.

OPEN UNTIL 9 P. M.

AMERICAN PINE FIBRE COMPANY,

WILMINGTON, N. C.

Is now prepared to treat with investors, Alliances, etc., for the erection of Pine Fibre Cotton Bagging factories, under their letters of patent. Correspondence solicited.

THE WEST END IMPROVEMENT CO.

Will sell at auction on Tuesday, 29th instant, at 3 o'clock, their West End property on Park and Lee streets. Attend the sale. G. W. ADAIR.

If you are going to Fort Worth, Texas, take The True Baptist special Tuesday, May 6th, via Birmingham and Shreveport, only one night out.

Administrator's Sale

APRIL 29th.

WILL BE SOLD AT THE LATE RESIDENCE of DeForest Allgood, at Trion factory, Chattooga county, Ga.,

TUESDAY, APRIL 29th, 1890, to the highest bidder, the following property, to-wit:

Household and Kitchen Furniture farming implements of every description, four-horse, two horse, and one-horse wagons and harness, buggies and buggy harness, one thrasher and engine (used one season), three fine blooded mares, one fine saddle mare, two fine

Blooded Carriage Mares

(match) all in foal by fine Kentucky horses' twenty-four Poland China.

Berkshire and Yorkshire Hogs and pigs, a herd of Holstein and Jersey cattle. One very fine Jersey bull, a large flock of

Cotswold and Southdown Sheep and lambs, cultivators, mowers, sulky plows, harrows, hay rakes, fertilizer spreaders, feed cutters, self-binding reapers, corn, hay, shucks, oats, guns, scales, and

Thousands of Other Articles not mentioned. Sale to be continued from day to day until all of the property is sold.

TERMS—Amounts under $5 cash, over $5, notes with approved security, due November 1st, next, with interest at 8 per cent. This March 20th, 1890.

GEO. D. HOLLIS, Administrator.

The above sale has been postponed to 29th of April, 1890.

GEO. D. HOLLIS, Adm'r.

ap 27-11

THE BEAUTIFUL

QUEEN & CRESCENT

ROUTE 94

94 MILES FROM NEW ORLEANS

110 MILES FROM JACKSONVILLE

NORTH.

THE SHORTEST AND MOST DIRECT LINE TO arrowsburg, Shelbyville, Lexington, Frankfort, Ky. Only 11 hours and 35 minutes CHATTANOOGA TO LOUISVILLE. Only 11 hours CHATTANOOGA TO CINCINNATI, making close connections north-bound for St. Louis, Indianapolis, Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland Buffalo and Canadian Points, New York, Boston, the North and East, Columbus, Pittsburg, Philadelphia.

SOUTH.

The only line Atlanta to Meridian, Jackson, Vicksburg and Shreveport, making direct connections without omnibus transfer at Shreveport for Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston, Galveston, Austin, Texas; Mexico and California. Shortest and quickest line to New Orleans, solid trains and through Pullman Boudoir sleepers making direct connections for Texas, Mexico and California.

Passengers ticketed and baggage checked through to destination.

For rates, correct county maps and full information, call at 15 Kimball House.

S. C. Ray, S. E. P. A., Atlanta, Ga.

Steve Johnston, General Agent.

D. J. Mulvaney, Div. Pass. Agt., Chattanooga Tenn.

D. G. Edwards, G. P. & T. A., Cincinnati, O.

C. C. Harvey, Vice-Pres., Feb 11-dly.

FOR SALE!

—THE—

DRUG STORE

Formerly owned by Stoney, Gregory & Co., corner Peachtree and Decatur streets and Edgewood avenue. Any parties desiring to engage in the drug business will find it to their advantage to communicate with us.

Austin & Broylston.

sat sun tue thu

HOTEL ST. STEPHEN.

(EUROPEAN PLAN.)

48 to 52 E. 11th Street, bet. Broadway and University Place.

New York City.

SINGLE ROOMS, --- $1.00 AND UP.

DOUBLE ROOMS, --- $2.00 AND UP.

W. D. RYDER, Prop.

ap 27 d m 42 sun 44 wk

